Published twice a month at 376 West Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill. Subscription price $1.00 per year. The Labor Unity Publishing Association, Publishers.

Entered as second-class matter February 15, 1997, at the postoffice at Chicago, Ill., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Vol. 1, No. 11

CHICAGO, JUNE 1, 1927

PRICE 5 CENTS

The Coal Miners Want a Fighting Strike Policy

By JACK JOHNSTONE

THE recent developments in the Miners Union show very clearly that large sections of the rank and that large sections of the rank and flie are becoming convinced that the road chosen by Lewis means defeat and can lead only to a marked worsening of the living standards and working conditions of the miners. The rank and fle is awakening to the necessity of a fighting strike policy and the need of a leadership that could wage a militant struggle against the conmilitant struggle against the coaloperators.

This militant sentiment among the rank and file should encourage the left wing and the progressive bloc to proceed toward a definite crystallization of their forces in the union. Only by whosticities. union. Only by unhesitating expo-sure of the corrupt Lewis machine and its defeatist policy can the membership be mobilized to save the union through an aggressive strike policy, a militant organizing campaign in the non-union fields and a real fight for a mational agreement.

Illinois Miners Against Lewis Policies

While the convention of the Illinois miners cannot be considered as a victory for the progressives, the struggles that took place there indicate very clearly a strong resentment against Lewis and the Lewis policies. It was apparent from the first day of the convention that for Lewis to appear before it would have meant to invite a demonstration of hostility. Thus, at mostration of hostility. Thus, at this convention of the largest district of the UMWA, meeting in the midst of a strike, the rank and the criticized the Lewis administration

Convicted Furriers Released

THE reactionaries who were instrumental in bringing about the prosecution and trial of the militant fur workers at Mineola, L. I., which resulted in the conviction of nine furriors, all of whom, with one exception, were sentenced to from two and a half to five years' imprisonment, have once more been disappointed. A once more neen disappointen. A certificate of reasonable doubt was granted to the nine furriers by Supreme Justice May of Brookiyn, and as a result of this they were released on ball pending the appeal.

In ruling for the appeal Justice May criticised severely the conduct of the prosecutor and trial-judge, declaring in part:

declaring in part:
""Having in mind that the proof offered by the people was Tar from impressive, the conduct of the District Attorney in his opening, examination, cross-examination are his sumulation are to be capefully
-ritirized. That the District Attorrefligited. That the District Affor-ney went a long way to insure con-viction cannot be gainsaid. The rulings of the chourt give grave doubt as to whether the conviction of the defendants can be sustified on appeal. It is seriously quos-tionable whether the defendants were able the secure a fair and im-partial trial." and its policies, and Lewis considered it the wiser course not to appear in person.

The adoption of the resolution for the reinstatement of Alec Howat is testimeny to the feeling of the membership in this district towards the Lewis machine. No one in the convention dared to vote against this resolution. While Lewis was afraid to appear before this con-vention, Howat was received with open arms.

Howat, in his speech, brought forward many points of the "Save the Union" bloc program. However, with all due respect to this proven fighter and his splendid record, it (Continued on page 5)

Chicago Building Workers Resist Wage-Cut Attack

THEfirst attempt to enforce wage cuts in the Chicago building in-Leuts in the Chicago building industry since the advent of the notorious Landis Award in 1921 has now occurred. 1,285 members of the Millimen's locals have been locked out on a demand by the Mill men. Employers' Association for a wage cut of from $4.20 an hour to$1.30. There are a total of $200.
organized millmen in Chicago. 2,900 of these members are still working in shops where the employers have agreed to retain the old scale, some of them making this decision after the men had left the jobs.

The Millmen Employers' Association threatens the "open shop". Evidently this is a part of a general scheme to attack the Chicago build-ing trades unions. The millmen spot, and hence the attack on them to gain an opening wedge. The fight by this association against the millmen, however, is of long stand-ing. It has now morely been trans-ferred to a direct attack. The per-petual injunction aiming to compel the carpenters to put up non-union the Carpenters' District Council since 1914. The injunction was secured by the open shop mills. With the recent ruling of the United States supreme court in the case of the Bedford Stone Cutting Company compelling union men to handle non-union made material, the "open shop" mill owners consider their case strengthened. District Council Violated Union Rule

District Council Violated Union Rule
Despite the fact that of the rules and regulations governing the Carpenters' District Council Rule No.
30-reads: "No member shall erector place any non-union mill and cabinet work under penalty", the Carpenters' District Council has falled entirely to uphold this rule.
They have failed to recognize that this rule would be a very important part of maintenance of closed shop in the building industry and for years no restriction has been placed on non-union made material. Moreover, the practice pursued by the union officials in themselves helping to break down union conditions. ing to break down union conditions culminated in 1924 when Wm. Hutchinson, General President of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, ap-

(Continued on page 2)

Uncle Sam Pacifies Nicaragua

By MANUEL GOMEZ

ONE of those semi-official O booter wars which the United States government is in the habit of conducting in Latin America has just been brought to a victorious conclusion by the "peace" of Nic-

The "peace", negotiated by President Coolidge's personal represent-alive in the presence of U. S. war-ships and U. S. bayonets, puts an ships and U. S. bayonels, puts an end temporarily to the civil war in Nicaragua which the United States Nicaragua whith the United States government itself has been stimu-lating by insisting that Adolfo Diaz, former employe of a. U. S. mining company, must be President of the "republic" against the opposition of the Nicaraguan people.

The civil war was ostensibly a war, between Nicaraguan Liberals and Conservatives but actually it was nothing of the kind. Disz, who soized the reins of government in the winter of 1926, is the tool of Wall Street, as his entire past record clearly shows. He could not have lasted a month if it had not been for: (1) immediate recognibeen for: (1) immediate recogni-fion by the United States; (2) a. loan of $1,000,000 by U. S. hankers with the approval of the U. S. gover-ernment (as revealed by Secretary Kellogg during the recent Pan American Commercial Conference at Washington); (3) arms and am-munition furnished by American Hig Business on credit; (4) partisan intervention by U. S. military and naval forces. naval forces.

Diaz Beaten in Many Battles

Even, after the landing of the marines, the usurper Diaz was defeated in battle after battle. It was the U. S. forces that finally forced by Juan B. Sacassa, the Constitutional President of Nicaragia, to flee the country, while his army

(Continued on page 2)

New Left Wing Paper in Chicago

The Chicago progressives and left wingers in the needle trades have for a long time felt the need of a local paper devoted to the struggles of the workers in their industry. This need will now be filled with the publication of the Chicago Nee-dle Worker, the first issue of which will appear this month.

According to the announcement of the Chicago Needle Trades Section of the Trade Union Education of the Trade Committee of the TuEL. It will advantage of the TuEL. mittee of the TUEL. It will advo-cate greater unity in the ranks of the organized needle workers and the amalgamation of the needle trades unions into one industrial union with departments for the dif-ferent trades. It will fight the splitting tactics of the reactionary om-cialdom. The paper will appear monthly.

The subscription price is 50 cents per year. The committee in charge calls upon—the Chicago needle workers to send in their subscriptions. It also solicits articles and tions. He also solicits articles and letters from workers in their indus-try on shop conditions and on all problems confronting the needle-workers, All communications should be forwarded to the Chicago, Needle-Worker, 106 N. La Sallo Street, Room 26.

The Open Shop Drive in the Needle Trades

By Joseph Zack

THE government adissolved the leer their services for their dirty two joint Boards of the work. Take away the support of two Joint Boards of the of the furriers, leaders arrested, martial law has been declared in the areas where the needle work-ers work and congregate." "The ers work and congregate. The union has been reorganized by a committee headed by Sigman, Schachtman, Woll, Grady and Frayne, which has the support of the employers, and the workers were ordered to join the reorganized union under pain of dis-charge." Deportation, arrests, etc., many of those who refused were threatened with diffe consequences.

I am sure it would be a surprise to you to see a few headlines like these appearing in the newspapers, depicting the fight of the A. F. L. bureaucracy against the left wing You are accustomed to read, "A. F. L. Dissolves Joint Board", "Lead-L. Dissolves Joint Board", L. Dissolves Joint Board", "Lead-ers Arrested on A. F. L. Charges of Advocating Violence Against Prop-erty and for Wholesale Bribery", "A. F. L. Appoints Reorganization Committee to Take Charge of the Defunct Joint Board", "Employers Recognize the International Affili-ated with the A. F. L.", "Workers are Registering with the Interna-tional", etc., etc.

A-Fight-of-the Bosses Against the Union

If the truth were to be told by the capitalist press, describing the support of the local government, employers associations, Civic Federation, etc., as it is in life, the first set of headlines would be a more correct interpretation of more correct interpretation of events now transpiring in the needle trades. I doubt whether among-the 200.000, needle workers in New York the A. F. L. leaders could get 5,000-to-voluntarily follow them: I am sure the right wing could not get 200 active, unionists to volunwork. Take away the support of the local government, the Police Department, courts, and the bosses associations, and there would be no fight, because the workers are in the overwhelming majority on one side—against Sigman, Schacht-man, Woll, etc.

For all practical purposes this is For all practical purposes this is a fight-between the bosses associations supported by the government, the capitalist press, Woll and company, and on the other side the unions represented by the Joint Boards. But the bosses have a big advantage. They are able to use the property of th union label and union auspices and thus fool many workers in their at-tempt to establish a boss controlled union. To put it pictorially, supexploitation machine. Matthew Woll, as the A. F. L. priest, is in front and sprinkling the holy water of unionism, and with great cere-monies a tiny paper is pasted on that machine. Then come nearer, monies a ting and you find it is the A. F. L. union label. This is the role the A. F. L. leadership is palying in this fight: It is riveting the chains of ex-ploitation on the needle workers.

-Effects on Working Conditions

The workers, after having won thru long struggles the, 40 week, substantial wage increases, are beginning to understand the game. They feel it in the worsened conditions in the shops. Overtime is not being paid, piece prices are fixed downward. There is plenty of smuggling below the fixed wage Sigman and Schachtman's business agents. They therefore seek to adjust shop grievances as best they can, as the boss does not recognize the Joint Board business agents (the lefts). As to where the work.

ers stand, well, the Joint Board calls) ors stand, well, the John Board, can, a Madison Square Garden meeting (20,000) and it will be packed full of cloakmakers or furriers. But if Well and company call one in Bethoven Hall (1,200) they will have hard linds have hard luck.

There is a crisis in the industry, employment is low, the seasons seem to get shorter and shorter every year. Still, under left wing leadership the workers were able leadership the workers were able to increase wages appreciably and shorten hours. The bosses could not lick the union in the strike. Now however, assisted by the A. L. bureaucracy, they see their opportunity and they are taking advantage of it to establish open shop conditions in the industry. Many of the workers in the shops now feel the workers in the shops now feel like after a defeat. They are laying low, exausted by long struggles. But they are, grinding their teeth in resentment against the A. F. L. bureaucracy. The union spirit is there. The workers despite the long struggles and had conditions, have contributed over $200,000 to the fight and more of it is coming. This is rank and file money. It represents a tremendous moral strength. strength.

Woll and company, heading the Civic Federation did not leave un-used a single weapon of this body of open shop employers, no matter how low and despicable, to defeat the workers and force them under the yoke of this treacherous gang. There was a veritable reign of in-The police gangsters known as the Industrial Squad led the gangsters Industrial Squad led the gangsters of the underworld employed by Woll and company in an on-slaught upon the pickets of the Join! Board. The leaders were-framed up and thrown into jall; union information given in confidence to Woll and company, as union officials, was betrayed to the police and lies were added to it in regular provocateur style. This is the unionism of Mathew Woll, Green, Sigman, Schachtman and company; the blackest nightmare that has ever come to reality.

Workers Undefeated

With all this it would be the greatest error to think that the needle workers have been defeated. There never was an army that berighteous struggle, and they learned righteous struggle, and they tearned something. A much more class conscious body of union men and women has come out of this battle. Already there are strong indications of the tide-turning from despairing resentment and—opposition to a counter attack against the employers and their straw men the trade union bureaucracy. Unionism in the needle trades has gotten set backs at the hands of the employers in the needle ers in the past.

This time the employers partially succeeded with the assistance of the A. F. L. bureaueracy to wrest from the workers the fruits of their re-

But this will be a short lived victory. Morally this body of workers is more solid than ever and alcredy there are conspicuous breaks in the employers ranks as shown by the action of the Fur Trimming Employers Association in their signing with the Joint Board. There signing with the Joint Board. There are breaks appearing in the right wing ranks. The left wing is preparing for a new offensive with the fur workers in the vanguard. Out of this ordeal unionism will emerge stronger, than over in the needle trades industry and the first big nails in the coffin of the A. F. L. bureaucracy a la Woll and company are being driven by the workers in the needle trades.

The U.S. in Nicaragua

(Continued from page 1)

was obliged to accept the terms laid down by the U.S. representa-

The terms provide for confirmation of Diaz as President, uncondi-tional surrender of the Liberals, new elections at the expiration of Diaz's term of office (the elections to be supervised by the United States), more or less permanent occupation of Nicaragua by the U.S. marines, who are to become the "Nicaraguan national constab-

Thus a new chapter is written in the history of Monroe Doctrine agpression, under the slogan, first ex-pressed by Roosevelt, of exercise of "an international police power" in the western hemisphere.

What has Amelican labor to say to this imperial game of Wall Street and Washington, which reaches not only into Latin America, but into the Far East and to the four corners of the world?

Not only because international Not only because international labor, solidarity demands it, but also because our own interests re-quire it, we must fight the impe-rialist policy of American Big Business every inch of the way.

In the Nicaraguan outrage, we In the Nicaraguan putrage, we-have a special responsibility be-cause the A. F. of L. is affiliated with the Nicaraguan trade unions, through the so-called Pan American Federation of Labor, of which William Green is president. Yet neither Green, nor the executive council of the A. F. of L., nor the executive committee of the P. A. F. of L. (controlled by Green) has had a word to say about it. had a word to say about it.

Does Mr. Green accept the "Peace of Nicaragua?"

Chicago Building Workers

(Continued from page 1) peared in Chicago and signed a nev

This agreement in its essence was to some degree even worse than the notorious Landis Award. It carone clause reading as follows: "There shall be no restriction of the use of any raw or manufactured material, except prison made naturally, since the signing of this agreement the closed shop practically disappeared and the carpenters were handling non-union made trim. The big non-union mills im-ported non-union made material from other states and established warehouses in Chicago for storage of such material. Generally, it served only to help break down con-ditions and particularly to weaken the position of the organized mill-

Hutchinson Favored Proposed .Wage-Cut

In line with this policy V Wm. Hutchinson and by the Harry Jensen administration of the Chicago District Council, an of the Chicago District Council, an International representative by the name of Orris arrived in Chicago, some time ago. When the employers first proposed the present wage cut-he appeared before Local No. 1922 of the carpenters bewalling the unfair-competition from other states which the local mill owners had to meet and declared himself, therefore, in favor of the wage cut. Since then the determined attitude of the union milliagn has compelled him to cease his eager support of him to cease his eager support of the manufacturers a Fellowing the action of the inter-national Brotherhood disaffiliating from the building trades depart-ment, the Chiego Carpenters' Dis-trict Qouncil has remained outside of the Chicago Building Trades Council, Furthermore, when some attempts were made toward united the building trad in straightening up the jobs in the city, the Harry Jensen administra-tion refused to lend any assistance. However acespite all the opposition developing within the union, this developing within the union, this administration managed to hang on and maintain its rule or ruin policy. Of course, election steals and like methods had to be resorted to. Now the Harry Jensen machine is crack-ing. For the District Council elections this coming June several of old supporters are out for his

Belated efforts are now being made by the Carpenters District Council to the some assistance to the locked out millinen. The Council has decided not to handle material from the locked out mills and a general weekly assessment of $1.00 per member on the 33.000 carpentars in the 181.00 per member on the 33.000 carpentars in the 181.00 per member on the 33.000 carpentars in the 181.00 per member on the 33.000 carpentars in the 181.00 per member of the 33.000 carpentars in the 181.00 per member of the 33.000 carpentars in the 181.00 per member of the 33.000 carpentars in the 181.00 per member of the 181.00 per member 8100 per memor en he 33.000 car-penters in the city is being pro-posed. If such support had been maintained in the past the locked-out millmen would today be in an even stronger position.

Progressive Program for District Council

The progressive carpenters in the last year's council elections put-forward their own slate and advanted measures to secure closed shop conditions. They won the elections and were kept out only by clections and were kept out only by the steals performed by the Jensen administration. This year the pro-pressive racuus again comes for-ward with a slate and a progres-sive platform. Point No. 5 has direct relation to the millmen's sit-nation. It reads as follows: To-work for; the organization of all mills. Only union material to be used on union jobs. No reduction of millmen's wages."

Fred Bobzin, Local Union No. 62.

who was last year's candidate for District Council President on the District Configure President on the progressive slate, this year also heads their ticket. The candidates of the progressive carpenters are pledged to work for the following program:

1. Affiliation—to—the Building Trades Council—(and the Building Trades Department of the A. F. of L.

2, A five-day (40-hour week), for the purpose of reducing unemployment ployment.

3. Against arbitration agreements with speed-up clauses, and for fire establishment of a form of stewardship that will give full profection to the men on the job.

4. To work for the enactment of provisions and working rules that will enable our aged members to work on a job and earn their living.

living.

5. To, work for the organization of all mills. Only union material to be used on union jobs. No re-to be used on union jobs. No reduction of millmen's wages.

6. Salarles of officers not to exceed 10% over the wage scale paid to journeymen carpenters.

The fight now launched by the Millmens Employers' Association partial the union is an indication portond of what is going to come. Without any question of a doubt the Building Trades Employers as a whole, backed by the fluancial and industrial interests, are marking time watching their opportunity to join in in the attack. This should be a serious warning to the building Irades united front of all trades can effectively meet such an attack.

Cap and Millinery Union Takes Step Backward

By M. Ziebel

THE Cloth, Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers International Union has just held its sixtaonin (tenth blennial) convention, Eighty delegates, representing ten thousand organized computers and millions; in the ized capmakers and milliners in the United States and Canada, convened in the City of New York to talk about the problems confronting the organization and decide on plans for future work in the interests of those workers. They met for eleven days, holding two and three sessions a day at times.

One would imagine that One would imagine that a convention of a comparatively small international Union, meeting for so long a time, considered all the problems of the organization, required in a considering discussion, required in a considering discussion in the contraction of the viewed in a constructive discussion its past activities, successes and failures, thoroughly analyzed the present situation, and adopted plans for future work. However, in re-viewing the work of this convention, one is forced to the conclusion that for the work that it accomplished for the work that it accomplished in reality, or even attempted to accomplish, two days would have sufficed. The right wing delegates, the majority of this convention, concerned themselves only with two important, for them, problems: 1) With bringing back Max Zaretzky as president of the International; 2) With condenning the militants, whose numbers and influence have grown, much to the distaste of the right wing.

Problems Before the Convention

The organization of the unorganized should have been the chief problem in the deliberations of the There are tens of thousands—of unorganized millinery workers. The millinery trade is spreading out all over the country. spreading out an over the country. The open shop centers of Chiego, St. Louis, Kansas City, Pacific Const. New England States, and others and in direct competition with New York. It was of prime importance to work out definite plans for the exemperation of those innegatived. organization of those unorganized centers which are a continuously growing menace to the organized workers. But very little consideration was given to this problem.

In connection with organizing the unorganized comes amalgamation. The Cap centers are small, and the locals in such centers could never become self-sustaining. The field of unorganized millinery workers is of unerganized millinery workers is-very large. It is impossible finan-cially for the Cap and Millinery International Union to place or ganizers in all the cap-and millinery centers. Combinations of manufacturers in the needle trades are growing. The number of factories producing all kinds of men's and producing all kinds of men's and women's wear is increasing. To or-ganize the unorganized is the prob-lem of all the needle trades. Under such conditions the Cap and Milli-nery Workers-Union, together with the rest of the needle trades, can become effective in organizing the unorganized and winning better conditions only through amalgamation into one powerful, department-alized Needle Trades Union

Progressive Resolutions Rejected

But the resolution of the mili-tants calling for the amalgamation of the needle trades, was voted down. Instead, a resolution for the old meaningless needle trades alli-ance was accepted, which does not bind us to anything and which has proven already to be a failure in

Jobbers, contractors, the drive on the part of the bosses to force greater productivity, were practically not dealt with.

The convention accepted a reso lution for the establishment of the 40-hour, 5-day week, But it never worked out a plan how and when to demand and get, and how to pre-serve the forty hours in the centers that have already won them through struggle with the bosses.

One of the most important problems for the delegates of the convention and the interests of the cap and millinery workers was the unity of the needle trades. Through the betrayal of the Sigmans, Schachtmans, Wolls, McGradys and their henchmen, who, together with the bosses, police and other enemies of the organized workers, are wag-ing a bitter fight against the fur-riers and cloakmakers, and their duly elected militant leadership, the conditions of those workers have duy elected miniant leadership, the conditions of those workers have been reduced to the sweat shop period of 1910. The cap and millinery workers, a part of the needle trades, cannot very long remain unaffected in this situation. Unity in the needle-trades is in the interests of the workers.

The General Executive Board, which is always talking unity and harmony in the labor movement, failed to make even one plea for unity. The convention voted down the only resolution calling for unity in the needle trades.

The Concern of the Right Wing

All these problems did not bother much the right wing machine. Their main problem was to bring back Max Zaretsky as president of the International, who was opposed not by the progressives alone. Zarelsky has proven in the past that he is not willing to fight for the interests of the workers. Instead of organizing the unorganized, he organized the bosses. He is known as an opponent of week work. His policy is: peace with the bosses at all costs, which resulted in a weaker organization of capmakers in New York and increased exploitation of the workers.

Besides all this, the progressives opposed him for his last act. Seven or eight months after he was reelected as president in 1925, when the convention had mapped out a plan of intensive work, he left the union to sell insurance policies to the bosses. All through the con-vention, the right machine labored hard to have him elected and to discredit by all methods the progressives who opposed him.

Methods Employed Against Progressives

Four distinct methods were used by the right wing machine at the convention against the progressive convention against the progressive delegation. D'Reduction of its voting strength. D. Soren, organizer for the GEB on the Pacific Coast, was not seated under the flimsy-constitutional pretext that he was representing a local of which he was not a member. The constitu-tion being overlooked on two pre-vious occasions, when the scatting of delegates was in the interests of the machine.

2) Attempts to discredit the progressives. The progressive delegates who came from New York Lo-cal 43, Boston, St. Louis, Chicago, and some other centers, have proven to be the most constructive ones. They have led some successibility of the conductive on the conductive of the ones. They have led some success-ful strikes, winning better condi-tions and the forty-hour week; they have made great strides in organiz-ing the millinery workers in New York and throughout the country York and throughout the country; they re-established demoralized locals and raised the morale of the membership. Yet the progressives were condemned as "disturbers" and "breakers" of the union for their opposition to the right wing machine and its politics.

3) The progressive delegation, small but militant, was steamrol-lered by the chairman, shouted down, and deprived of the floor on many important questions. "Toler-ance" and "democracy", you know

4) Last but not least was the fourth method—an attempt to prove fourth method—an attempt to prove that outside of political questions, there was no difference of opinion in the convention. But the machine failed to prove that. Not only in-political questions, such, for in-instance, as the resolution on China, on which they agreed "in principle" but were afraid to act, because it might not please the A. F. of L. leaders. There was the F. of L. leaders. There was, the portant practical trades problems, such as organizing the unorganized, amalgamation, needle trade unity, speed-up system. The machine gave hip service, the progressives proposing what to do and demanding action.

Summing-up, the convention has forsaken the old traditions of the Cap and Millinery International Union, has given up its fighting spirit, is no more "the pioneer of many a movement in the needle trades". It has taken a step back-ward

Struggle of Plumbers Helpers in New York

By WALTER A. JACKSON

THE strike of the plumbers helpers, involving between five and six thousand young workers, of whom nearly three thousand are members of the helpers union, the American Association of Plumbers Helpers, at the end of its second month finds the ranks of the young strikers as solid as on the day the strike was declared.

The strike of the helpers centers around two central issues, both of which are of the most fundamental character. These issues are (1) recognition of the union and (2) the miserably low wages. There are quite a number of minor issues involved, but these two are the most important.

Lockout in Greater New York

On April 1st, the plumbers of Brooklyn struck for a wage rate of $14.00 per day and the five-day week. The helpers struck in support and sympathy of the journey-men plumbers, the helpers of Brooklyn responding in large num-Brooklyn responding in large numbers. The strike continued in Brooklyn atone until April 27, when the employers declared a lockout in Greater New York. This lockout was directed not by the Master Plumbers, but by the Building. Trades. Employers Association, the bosses organization, comprising all of the building trades.

The obvious object of this lock—

The obvious object of this lock-out was to crush the Brooklyn strike of the plumbers and helpers.

and to smash the union and stop all the building trades from getting better wages and working condi-tions. Meeting this attack of the bosses the Plumbers Heipers Union declared a strike in Greater New York, between five and six thousand helpers responding to the strike

Seek Affiliation with Plumbers Union

Until very recently the plumbers helpers were the only unorganized workers in the trade. Taking adworkers in the trade. vantage of this situation the vantage of this student for the pelipers to work for the low wage of $4.00 per day, compelled them to work long hours doing work they were not supposed to do and under the worst bands. working conditions in the trade. The plumbers union paid no attention to this situation until the helpers themselves took the initiative and organized themselves into the American Association of Plumbers Helpers. They are making an effort to have their union become a part to have their union become a part of the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters, the union of the trade. The helpers union is abpresent negotiating with the U. Afreechly having held a conference with the officials of the different locals of plumbers in Greater N. Y., presided over by Mr. Burke, where the problem of the strating helpers was taken ith. was taken up.

"The attitude of the plumbers and especially Mr. Burke was a evry and especially Mr. Burke was a evry invorable one for the helpes," said C. E. Miller, President of the helpers union, "the fact that the plumbers are taking such an attitude on-courages us in our struggle."

Need Support of Organized Labor

In a statement the helpers union In a statement the holpers union states: "We are fighting for the right to be union men. We are flighting against our miserable conditions. We ask you to support us. Let your local pass a resolution supporting our strike and asking the plumbers union to grant us a charter. The light for the recognition of the property of the propert charter. The light for the recogni-tion of our union by the bosses will go on. Our fight against the miser-able working conditions and low wages will go oh."

The strike now enters the third month. The helpers union is pre-paring for a long struggle. The union has opened a relief kitchen at the Churcht of All Nations that will feed all their striking members. The first day it was opened the kitchen fed several lrundred helpkitchen fed several-tundred helpors. Committees from the helpersunion are approaching the different trade unions in the city to comtribute to the relief of their members. The fact—that—the helpersunion, which is but four months old, was forced to enter a strike before it could accumulate a strike fund demands that the workers and their organizations, support the strike. strike.

Suppress Polish Unions

NEW YORK-(FP)-6,000 Individuals are imprisoned in Peland loday for political reasons and viduals are impresented in cutains and today for political reasons and wholesale brutality and forture are visited upon them by the authorities. Many detailed cases are cited by the International Committee for Political Prisoners. Civil liberties, the committee finds, after prolonged search at first hand and among education and the committee finds. official Polish documents, have been virtually wiped out under the Polish republic. The suppression of minority parties, labor unions, and political clubs is of common-occur-

SUBSCRIPTION	ON BLANK
One Year Subs	eription $1.00
Please send	LABOR UNIT
o the address	below for

	A 2 / 2 / 2	· diam		-0.00
		* * *	1100	100 P
To be the	mat	the	· Er	elo	hop find

Name

State.... Bundle orders: 10 copies or over, at 3 percopy Address all mail and make remittance payable to

LABOR UNITY 376 W. Monroe St., Chicago, III. The Voice of Militant Labor

LABOR UNITY

Published twice a month by the Labor Unity Publishing Association $76-West Monroe St., Chicago, Ill.

Subscription price $1.00 per year

EARL R. BROWDER, Editor

Member of Federated Press

- 80

VOL. 1 No. 11.

June 1, 1927

REDOUBLE THE EFFORTS TO SAVE SACCO AND /ANZETTI!

OVERNOR Fuller's announcement that he will not appoint a commission to review the Sacco-Vanzetti case should cause American labor to intensify its protests and the demand for an unconditional parden to these two workers.

It is reported that the Boston Defense Committee is disappointed with this decision of the Governor. They may well be. They have based their efforts on behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti almost exclusively on legal agencies and support from "respectable" sources, and the Governor's decision is not a favorable indication.

The fate of Sacco and Vanzetti rests primarily with American labor. The militants must redouble their efforts to mobilize the workers for an effective protest that will force the unconditional release of the two victims of capitalist class justice

BRITISH IMPERIALISTS BREAK WITH RUSSIA

HE break of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union executed by the Baldwin government is one more link in the long chain of provocations against the peace of the world in which the British government has engaged consistently for . the last several years. The British capitalist class is persistently driving towards a new world war.

The excuse given for the raid of the Soviet Trading Delegation in London, which served as a prelude for the final break, is flimsy and ridiculous beyond any justification. What the British government was looking and preparing for was merely an occasion for breaking relations with the Soviet Union in order to intensify the situation for the war maneuvres of the British imperialists.

Baldwin's policy in China proved to be complete failure. So much so that the British government felt compelled to execute some kind of a diversion to distract the attention of the masses from the miserable flasco of British imperialism in China. The break of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union is supposed to serve this purpose

Joynson Hicks and the growing fascist clique in the British government have made their determination perfectly clear to square accounts with the British trade unions and the working class generally for the last general strike. Ever since that great struggle of the British workers, in which they were mercilessly betrayed by the reactionaries and the sham left wingers, the Baldwin government was preparing to strike a blow for British capitalism which The trade union bill, now before parliament, is designed to achieve that end. And in order to facilitate the adoption of the bill, which was rightly branded by British. labor as the strikebreaker's charter. Churchil, Chamberlain, Hicks and Baldwin break relations with the Soviet Union to vaise the red scare, thus attempting to frighten the middle classes into joining the attack upon labor.

The British capitalist class is now sailing under the flag of war. War against the Chinese revolution, War against the British trade unions. Preparations for war against the Soviet Union. Driven to desperation by its steadily declining power, maddened by its failures in China, frightened at the inevitability of revolts in India, Africa, etc., terrified by the certain and successful come-back of British labor, agonized by the growing strength and stability of the Soviet Union, British imperialism is staking its fortunes on a new world war, This is the meaning of its attack upon China. This is the meaning of its attacks upon the trade unions. This is also the meaning of its fresh attack upon the Soviet Union.

American labor, and its trade unions must realize their responsibilities in the situation. All efforts must be concentrated on defeating the warlike designs and preparations of British, American and world imperialism.

BILL GREEN ON THE INJUNCTION ISSUE

HE Supreme Court decision in the ... Bedford Stone Case forced the attention of the workers upon the ever extending use of injunction writs against labor. Speaking on this decision at a luncheon of the Civic Federation, Mr. William Green, President of the A. F. of L., declared that the A. F. of L. will seek State and Federal legislation "against the abuse of the writ of injunction"

Green overlooks the many experiences of labor with capitalist legislation of which the Sherman law is a fair example. Ostensibly directed against the trusts, it was used, as in the Bedford Stone case, against labor. Seeking a remedy through the Wall Street parties and the legislatures domi-nated by Wall Street is about as useful as addressing the influential Civic Federation whose influence is directed against the interests of labor.

The injunction curse can be overcome by American labor only through the mobilization of its political strength in a mass labor party and through direct mass defiance of the injunctions,

CAL COOLIDGE'S LATEST

ILENT Cal deserves credit for more brass than any of the imperialist spokesmen. For the amusement of the readers we quote from his Memorial Day address:

We have robbed no people of their independence, we have laid on no country the hand of oppression. When our military forces have taken the field it has been to enlarge the area of self-government, to extend the scope of freedom, and to defend the principles of liberty.'

Ask the Haitians, Filipinos, Mexicans, Nicaraguans, and so forth. And it is to be understood that the American battleships and marines are now in China by special invitation as guests of the Chinese people.

THE DECISION ON THE CRIMINAL SYNDICALISM LAW

HE decision of the Supreme Court in the Anita Whitney case, declaring the Criminal Syndicalism law of California would destroy the trade union movement. constitutional, not only outlaws any organization advocating theoretically a change in the present form of government by other than constitutional means, but makes mere membership in such an organization punishable as a crime. The decision should put an end to the illusion that the constitution guarantees freedom of speech.

American capitalism, encroaching ever more upon the rights of labor at home and upon weaker nations abroad, finds it necessary to have a weapon for singling out the militants in the labor movement and to deprive them of the possibility to rally the workers for resistance to its encroachments. The Criminal Syndicalism laws serve this purpose.

American labor, in its own interests. must fight for the repeal of these laws.

THE SHANGHAI RUMOR CENTER

T used to be "news" of Soviet Russia concocted in Riga, Warsaw or Copenhagen. Now it is "news" of revolutionary China coming from Shanghai.

On Monday Hankow is threatened by the advance of the "moderate" army, on Tuesday Hankow is surrounded, the next day it has been captured and the Hankow government dissolved. But on the day fol-lowing Shanghai itself reports a message from foreign minister Chen of Hankow to the effect that the Hankow government is still in existence and in no danger.

It is always safe to discount any reports in the capitalist press which are unfavorable to the People's Government of China. With the capitalist press and its correspondents the news is very often fathered by the wish of their masters. The Chinese People's Government at Hankow is supported by the millions of the Chinese workers and peasants, and will not be defeated by the armies of the exploiting

THE ATTEMPT TO SUPPRESS THE "DAILY-WORKER"

THE conviction and imprisonment of the editor and business manager of the "Daily Worker" for the publication of a poem which appeared in the paper several months ago is in reality an attempt to suppress this militant paper by the revocation of its mailing privileges.

Proof of this appears in the peculiar features of this case. The prosecution was brought about thru the effort of the American Legion and other similar organizations. The defendants were denied a jury trial, and upon finding them guilty the judge who gave free expression to hostility to the communist paper and the defendants refused to admit them to bail.

The "Daily Worker" incurred the hatred of the professional patriots and the powers that be by its militant defense of the cause of labor. They know that it is facing financial difficulties, and hope by adding this persecution to its burdens to cause its suspension. The militant and progressive workers should rally to the support of this lone militant English daily.

HE ATTACK ON THE PROPOSED-LABOR DELEGATION TO RUSSIA REEN'S new "warning" against the proposed labor delegation to the Soviet Union shows how, much the labor reactionaries are worried by this proposal They are afraid of the investigation that honest American labor representatives might make of the conditions in the workers' and peasants' republic and of what they might report to American labor on the achievements of the Russian revolutions. lution.

The A. F. of L. reactionaries, who echo Wall Street's attitude toward the Soviet republic, know that the labor delegations from the European countries, particularly the British delegation, brought back very favorable reports and were instrumental in establishing closer/contact between the workers of their countries and the Russian workers. And they have reason to fear that an American labor delegation would lead to similar results. , Hence the attempt to discredit the delegation before it has yet started for the Soviet Union,

MINERS STRIKE

The Illinois District Convention

By ROBERT H. COOK.

HE convention of the Illinois THE convention of the innecessary District, the largest and strongest district of the UMWA, met in est district of the UMWA, met in the midst of a struggle which is certain to have a profound effect on the fate of the miners union. The bulk of the 500 delegates, representing a membership of over 75,000, were rank and file miners. What was the reaction of this convention to the leadership which is recognitive. responsible for weakening the union that was once the strongest body of organized labor in America and to the policy of paralysis which this leadership has forced on the miners in the present strike?

Judged by the apparent sentiment among the bulk of the delegates and by what took place at the convention, there can be but one conclusion: the mass of the miners of Illinois-and they are no different than the miners elsewherehave had their fill of the Lewis machine and its policies. The rank and file are true to the traditions of the miners union. They want an aggressive policy and a fighting leadership,

Lewis-Fishwick on Defensive

From the very first the Lewis-Fishwick forces were on the defen-sive. I rey had nothing to offer except evasion and support for the policy of defeat. On the general issues of the American labor movement, not involving directly policies of the miners union, such as the B. and O. plan and the Watson-Parker law, they accepted the progressive resolutions. On questions affecting the miners, as the "yellow dog" contract, they used evasion by moving that the matter be referred to the policy committee. They reserted to "red-baiting" to confuse the issues. On the one issue on the issues. On the one issue on which evasion was impossible and on which the steam-roller was certain to break, on the Howat issue, they withdrew their opposition at the last moment, and the resolution demanding Howat's -reinstatement was adopted unanimously. With these methods, with a well-oiled machine and the steam-roller at their disposal, and knowing how to take advantage of a certain weakness in the progressive leadership, the Lewis-Fishwick machine managed to get by without a formal repudiation by the convention.

The Lewis machine is calculating on wearing the miners out and then talking conditions that would be acceptable to the mine barons. If Peoria convention can be taken ns a test, as the strike proceeds Lewis and his chapte will find it harder and harder to face the rank and file.

Left-Progressive Block

The left wing, weakened by expulsions, was not strongly represented and had no leadership of its own on the floor of the convention.
The left wingers therefore all The left wingers therefore all through the convention fought together with the progressive elements under progressive leader-

The progressives on the whole fought well and made themselves felt from first to last. They put up a good fight on a number of issues, on the question of a labor party, on the Howat issue, and, at first, on the issue of a national strike and a national settlement as against the Lewis policy of district and indi-

Lewis policy of district and indi-vidual settlements.

But they suffered from lack of organization preliminary to the organization preliminary to the convention and from a lack of clear sightedness and henness much sightedness and figuress on the part of the leadership. This was responsible for the complete de-moralization of the progressives under the "red" herring" attack oh, the communists by the Lewis-Fishwick machine at the end of the discussion on the strike policy.

Howat at the Convention

An appraisal of the Peoria convention would not be complete without a word on Howat's speech before the convention. Howat's record as a fighter for militant policies is too well known and needs no commendation. But in his speech in Peoria he commtted an progressives. On the assumption that the internal differences should be laid aside while the miners are engaged in a struggle with the op-erators, he abstained from exposing erators, he abstained from exposing the policies of the Lewis administration, and spoke of his expulsion stration, and spoke of his expulsion from the union and the fight for his reinstatement as "a private fight". This view, though generally correct, is wrong in the present situation. The policy of the Lewis administration is a policy of surrender and has paralyzed the strike. It must be exposed and defeated if it is to be replaced by a militant policy that would save the union from defeat. And the fight for Howat's reinstatement is not a primatter between Lewis Howat.

Alex Howat, through his courageous fight against the Kansas In-dustrial Court and the subsequent fight-against the Lewis machine and its policies, has become a symbol of class struggle policies as against the policy of co-operation with, that is, surrender to, the employ-ers. The fight for his reinstatement is a fight for a militant union

"Check-Off" Issue in the Anthracite

By AN ANTHRACITE MINER

THE six months' strike of the an thracite mine workers in the fall of 1925 and the winter of 1926 ter-minated with the "understanding" that the operators had agreed to the demands of the union to establish demands of the union to establish in the anthracite industry the "check-off" system. Nearly a year and a half has passed since then and there is no check-off system in the anthracite yet. This situation warrants some examination.

The long and bitter struggle of the miners in the beginning centered principality around the bulk of the demands formulated by the miners in Tri-District Convention miners in Tri-District Convention shortly prior to the strike: The tonnage system, five-day-week, 10% increase for contract miners and $1.00 per day increase for all day labor, higher prices for rock work, etc., etc.

Lewis Dropped Vital Demands.

From the first day the strike was called, however, the Lewis administration waved to the background the real issues in the strike and made the question of the check-off and in the interest of the whole membership of the UMWA. It should be treated as such, and not as a "private fight".

In conclusion, the Illinois District convention emphasizes the need of a courageous progressive leader-ship that could serve as a rallying point for the mass of the rank and the and would help mobilize the membership of the UMWA for a militant struggle against the mine operators and the Lewis machine. and the intolerable working condi-tions of the men were forgotten while the strike was for the establishment of the check-off.

The declaration of the union leaders that the contracts granted leaders that the contracts granted the check-off was based upon the clause in the contract stating that "the union and operators will work out a reciprocal program of co-operation and efficiency". This was to be the check-off Lewis made public declarations to this offect before the contract was ratified and the operators did not deny it.

Anthracite Miners Deceived

But many months have passed since the strike and no check-off yet. The rank and file are becomyet. The rank and file are becoming impatient. A general feeling of the men for the past many months is that they have been fooled good and proper. Scores of anthracite locals deluged the International convention a few months ago with resolutions demanding that the union compel the operators to establish the check-off. To date this has not been done, and to all practical purposes the long bitter struggle of the miners gained naught. gle of the miners gained naught.

The gag of the union and the operators "working out a reciprocal program of co-operation and emclency" in reality has meant the establishment of the B. & O, system in the anthracite industry; that and nothing more.

Reciprocity" and "Outlaw". Strikes Through the medium of this sec-tion, the operators throughout the

(Continued on page, 7)

Miners Want a Fighting Policy

(Continued from page 4)

must be said that he shares the mistake of many other left wingers and progressives, namely, that during the strike sharp criticism of the Lewis machine must be dropped. This is a wrong view. It is not so much Lewis as an individual that must be criticized, but the policies which he has imposed on the union and which, if not exposed and abandoned, will cripple the union. The very fact that during a strike Lewis dares not appear before the convention and that the convention demands. Howat's reinstatement is in itself a very severe critisim of Lewis.

On the question of honest elections Lewis was bitterly criticised by delegate after delegate. The rishwick-Lewis machine had to bring in every available delegate to carry the Resolution Committee's substitute on a roll call by a very small majority.

smail majority.
While it is frue that the Fishwick machine was able to defeat most of the progressive resolutions proposed, on the whole a real militant spirit was manifest in the convention which, if properly crystalvention which it properly crystal-lized into an organized expression, could transform the strike into a real struggle that would advance the interests of the miners, and build and strengthen the union.

District Two Convention

At the convention in District Two we find for the first time in many years the appearance of a definite progressive opposition to the administration. The convention was controlled by Lewis henchmen. Despite this, the support given to Brophy in his fight for a seat in the convention shows that the rank and file is with him. The vote on the motion to seat him was given as 53 for and 58 against, and there is no doubt that if a roll call had been taken he would have been seated.

The endorsement of the Labor Party by this convention indicates The progressive path that the delegates representing the rank and file were ready to travel. And here again the administration policies were severely criticized, and we see Lewis failing to put in an appear-

Discontent in the Anthracite

There are many other indications showing that the rank and file of the miners are disconlented and are beginning to awaken to the need of a more militant policy in the present strike. This is also the case in the anthracite district, where the miners have many grievanees.

When the anthracite strike was settled, the miners were led to be-lieve that the operators have granted the check-off. They are now realizing that they were fooled, and that the Lewis-Cappellini out-ilt is helping the operators to evade a definite decision on this issue while the bituininous miners are on demand for the should be linked up with the other grievances of the anthracite miners and with the demands of the bitu-minous miners, and a national pol-icy developed for a settlement cov-ering the chirc mining industry.

The Election Steal

The expulsion policy of Lewis administration has naturally weakened the union, and especially the left wing in the union. In spile of this reign of terrorism the membership of the UMWA has time and again rullied to the support of the left wing and progressive candi-dates in elections.

The fahutated returns of the last election prove that the defeat of the Lewis machine was-covered up by an election steal which sur-passes everything that has ever oc-curried in the labor movement, and that John Brophy, the head of the

"Save the Union" ticket, is trightful president of the UMWA.

The Task of the "Save the Union" Bloe

This imposes on the left-progres sive "Save the Union" bloc the re sive "Save the Union" bloc the re-sponsibility of saving the union from the attack of the mine barons and the defeatist policy of the Lewis machine. A militant struggle against the coal operators is impossible unless the Lewis machine is defeated in the union.

The left wing must win over the progressive elements to the task of mobilizing the miners for the struggle against the operators and the Lewis machine on the basis of the "Save the Union" program. The two months and not a single statement has been issued in the name of the "Save the Union" block, This should be remedied. The rank and file cannot be expected to wage a struggle unless it sees a center-around which it can rully and it which it can look for leadership.

At the present moment the needs of the strike demand:..

. A vigorous campaign to organize the unorganized miners

2. The creation of relici com-mittees and a campaign to enlist the entire labor movement in support of the striking mildes.

3. A struggle against individual agreements and for a policy of a national settlement.

4. The linking up of the de-mands of the authracile miners with the demands of the bitumi-nous mines, and the culfing lot a national strike 16 win these de-reants

To mobilize the rank and file of the UMWA for this militant, policy of struggle which will defeat, the miring barons and save and strengthen the union, is the task of the left wing, and the "Save the Union" lying.

Rationalization—Its Limits and Contradictions

By Henry Gregory

THE growth of productivity and exploitation of labor created by the rationalization of industry loads, in the present position of world capitalism, only to a revival on a wider basis of those selfsame contradictions from which capitalism in every country desires to extricate itself.

The lowering of the workers share in the national income and of their standard of living caused by rationalization brings down the purchasing power of the majority of the population, thus making home trade difficult and sharpening the crisis of over-production.

No Reduction of Prices

In the overwhelming majority of cases, rationalization and the cutting of production costs by no means wer price ed capital enjoys a monoply within the home country and separate in-ternational agreements for the purpose of increasing the difference between costs of production and selling prices, "organizational rationalization", leads to the closing of certain sections of an enterprise or industry in order to keep prices at a high level. This, as regards the workers, of course disemploys world economy, even though capital through rationalization attains successes in any one industry or coun-try, the crisis in that country is relieved at the expense of intensifying the crisis in other countries.

All these contradictions, so characteristic of countries where capitalism is most distinctly in decline, are transferred in their "latest form" into the sphere of rising capitalism as well. In particular the contradiction between increased productivity due to rationalization and the contraction of the home markets—added to sharper compe-lition on the foreign markets, is to be observed most clearly in the U. S. Japan and Australia.

Sharpens Conflicts

Thus, all consequences of ration-alization lead to: 1) An intensified conflict between-individual capitalist nations (in spite of the concentration of capital on an interna-tional scale); 2) To a greater shar-pening of class conflicts in each country.

It is true that mass unemployment dulls the edge of working class militancy for a time, but its chronic nature, its hopelessness, and the precarious position of the bulk of those empolyed, renders it imperative to overcome the depres-sion in the working class produced son in the working class produced by the Jirst wave of unemployment.

As rationalization simultaneously increases productivity and reduces the masses purchasing power, and, moreover, is rapidly transferred the masses purchasing power, and, moreover, is rapidly transferred from one-country to another in its most perfected forms, the first countries to introduce it on a wide scale enjoy its advantages only for a brief, span of time, after which they again face greater competition than before than before.

Also, as rationalization is based primarily on increased exploitation of labor, it meets fairly soon with fresh limits of a purely psychological nature, not to mention labor re-sistance to an abrupt worsening of its living standards which labor has fought long to build up.

As these limits are approached, and there is no longer a possibility of more cutting of costs, there arises the inevitability of military collisions in the struggle for mar-kets, the destruction of accumulation of goods and the killing off of the so-called "surplus population". Thus arise the dangers of new wars.

Changes Composition of Working

Rationalization brings about pro-found changes in the type and character of the working class, factory relations and class psychology and finally reduces the mass-basis for reactionary and reformist leadcrebip. True, for a time rationali-crebip. True, for a time rationali-zation extends the role in industry of the skilled journeymen and the narrow stratum of highly qualified workers, assemblers, fitters, instru-ment makers, etc., and increases ment makers, etc., and increases the relative number of office em-playees. But the main mass of office workers are more and more proletarianized, due to the mechanization of their labor also, the shorter training required for their labor, and the fact that the supply of office labor is far greater than the demand the demand.

Moreover, the narrow upper stratum and the highly qualified working force, under the influence of rationalization, will become more of rationalization, will pecome more levelled out, more homogeneous. The number of skilled craftsmen, as well as the number of unskilled manual workers, is decreased in comparison to the number of so-called semi-skilled. This element is marked off by the extreme divisional to the contract of the contr sion of labor, specialization not requiring lengthy fraining hence the unprecedent fluctuation and "replaceability" among the workers, and the wiping out of old craft

Broad Base for Class Movement

The mass of workers are largely of organized in the old trade not organized in the old trade unions and are at the same time a potential base for a broad general class movement. While the ease with which the workers employed can be replaced and the absence of any need for lengthy eraft training tend to weaken labor militancy, this is compensated for by the entire, system of production becoming more complicated, interdependent, and sensitive, a situation in which any holding up of its functioning at any point brings the whole of production to a stop. duction to a stop.

At the same time, the worker, changed by rationalization into a mere cog in the complex machinery of production, feels an increased interest and bond with others of the group. Despite the effort by capital to "atomize" and isolate the workers, the new type of labor will ultimately make mass action on a broad scale easier to undertake.

These possibilities are, of course, only potential. Their accomplish-ment depends very largely if not entirely on the thorough under-standing and activities of the milltant trade union and working class political organizations confronting the developments of the rationali-zation of industry by capitalism.

They must be able to establish and-to keep close contact with the masses of workers in rationalized masses of industry, who demand a whelly new approach to class relations, new methods of organization and agita-tion, they must link up the emprogram for every problem and fighting for the workers loyally and persistently, eliminate reactionary and reformist lendership and re-place it by a new and militant lend-ership of the working class resolved upon class emancipation.

The New Situation in China—By Max Shachtman

THE split in the ranks of the na-tional revolutionary movement of China caused by the treacherous defection of General Chiang Kai-defection of General Chiang Kai-Shek and some of his forces has created a new situation in Chiang, not so much because of the act of Chiang himself but because his action was the expression of a very significant phase of the revolution. The elements of the split of Chiang were contained in the very composition and character of the nationalist revolution, and cannot therefore be looked upon as a simple "phase revolution," a coup d'etat of a "strong" individual. Chiang is, and was, the expression of the young, relatively small of the young, relatively small bourgeoisie of China which felt itself more and more closely pinched between the pressure from the working class and possanty (chief ty the first) of China, and the pressure of the foreign importants.

The former coming complaints

The former, coming constantly more to the fore in-the-revolutionary movement, pressed forward for recognition as the driving force and dominant element in the revolu-tion, the element which would give, the movement solidity, determina-tion and a stable basis. The workers demanded recognition of the laors definition of the the hor unions, the right to strike (not only against the foreign capitalists but also, when necessary, against the native bourgeoisie), and social legishtion. The peasantry, who were being drawn in ever greater numbers into the general revolutionary struggle, pushed to the foreground the problem-of the agrarian revolution. revolution.

Bourgeoisie Descris to Imperialists

On the other side, one section of the foreign imperialists were press-

another section inclined toward the recognition of one phase of the revolution, the formation of a democratic republic" and co-operation with the native bourgeoisie against the workers and peasants for a sys-tematic exploitation of the re-sources and working class of the sources and working class of the vast country with the initiative and control of the tremendous financial strength of nations like the United

Fearful of the growing strength of the working class in the Chinese revolution, a section of the Chinese bourgeoisie plunged from the main stream of the movement and, with and his attempts to set up an in-dependent government at Nanking laid the basis for co-operation with the foreign imperialists for the stemming of the revolutionary It was an act of desperation. The fullure development of the Chimese revolution was reflected for the Chimese, hourseoiste in the growth of the militancy and furnisment of the workers, who were arming themselves, largely under this influence of the trade unions, and who had already done more for the direct capture of Shanghai than the armies of Chiang Kaithan the armies of Chiang Kai-Shek, The workers were disarmed, the trade unions driven under-ground, the revolutionary leaders executed or imprisoned. If Chiang did not need to learn military strategy from the reactionary bandit generals like thang Tso Lin, he did learn from them a virulent hatred and distrust of the masses and hendish crucity to their lead-

Revolution Dominated by Toilers

The situation in China has being forward for intervention and come more clarified to a certain extent. Hankow remains the center of the historical revolutionary movement in China, basing itself more and more upon the masses, particularly upon the workers, who are drawn in increasing numbers into the revolution. Nauking is trying to become the center of the country well at the coun young, vacillating bourgeoisie who yesterday thought to use the workers in the struggle against foundal-ism and for independence from the imperialists, and who today are consumed with fear at the grow-ing independence and strength of the young giant the young giant of labor who not only marches forward with the peasants, but who is able still to maintain a united front with large maintain a united from with inter-sections of the petty-bourgeoisie who must acknowledge that only the firm hand of the working masses; can suide the victorious and consistent, war against the foreign imperialists.

tionalist forces is not yet complete by any means. Many of the elements under the control of Chinag, especially in the army of the battalions of which Chiang has been forced to disarm hecause of their condemnation of the road he was traveling), will soon be won back to Hankows. For addition, the revolutionary Louenmitang, centered in Hankow, will not artificially lop off the bourcois elements that still support it because of its uncomproming fight against the impericities. It will even win back some of the petty bourgeois elements that have gone with Chiang when these elements find that Chiang is marging on the road forwards co-operation with the imperialists of is becoming one of the many cheap militarists with which china is abundantly assertion. clements under the control of Chinag, especially in the army (many of the battalions of which the many cheap militarists with which China is abundantly cursed.

But the split in the nationalist forces has done this:

It has definitely changed the rela tion of forces so that the workers and in ever increasing numbers the peasants, instead of, as previously, the bourgedisie; are now at the head of the revolutionary move-

It has settled finally the question of whose interests will have the dominating position in the revolutionary movement, of who will coordinate its forces, who will drive it foreyard retentlestly beyond the stage of a bourgeois revolution and toward socialism.

Present Situation and Prospects

The betrayal by Chinng Kai Shelt as been far from fatal. The forces The boltayal by Chining Kai Sier-has been far from falal; The forces of fankow have guickly recovered from the confusion oreated; and their armies are in full march on Peking. The Asimes of the Kuo Min Tang general, Feng Yu-hsiang, have already, taken Chengehow in their march from the West, white the main Harkow army, marching une main Harkow denly, marching up from the South have already (as this is written), taken Siping, with every prospect of taking Kalfeng, and joining at a right angle with the armies under Fong at Chengéhow for a joint march on Peking, the stronghold of Chang Tso Lin.

Tso Line services the great offensive against Hankow of which of hank has boasted so much since his renegacy, has not materialized. The international bourgeois press must content itself with daily despatches about the fall of Hankow which are just as true as the daily despatches about the fall of Hankow which are just as greatly despatches about the fall of Hankow which are just as greatly despatches years ago which told of the fall of Moscow (Contrained on game 7).

. (Continued on page 7)

International Labor News 🔊

British Reformists Attempt Suppression of Left Wing

THE left wing in the British trade unions, known as the Minority Movement, in the three years since it has come into existforce has ence as an organized force has taken an active and prominent part taken an active and prominent part in all working class struggles. During the General Strike and the miners lockout its agitation and slogans exerted great influence over the masses and its supporters were in the very forefront of the struggle and were entrusted with tendership in many local tradain many local trade union centres.

union centres.

The Minority Movement has done a great deal to expose the treachery of the reformist leaders, and has carried on successful campaigns to combat their policy of class collaboration, and "industrial peace" which determined their actions here and duning the Connerl strike. fore and during the General strike and their attitude dowards the miners, and which many of them began to preach openly following the General Strike

Left Wing Has Mass, Power

It is not surprising therefore that the Minority Movement has grown tremendously in influence and or-ganized strength. At its last na-lional conference over a million workers were represented. While workers were represented. While most of its affiliations are definitely organized but unofficial minorities in the tende unions, many local priors and Trades Councils are officially emissions. nons and tranes conners are ob-ically affiliated. Its Influence in the Miners Union is well known, thile the Miners Union as a whole put affiliated with the Minerity Movement: it generally supports its polities.

The reformist leaders naturally did not remain indifferent to the growing strength of the left wing.
They have fought it with all the "reaceful" means at their disposal. which are by no means negligible, by with unsatisfactory results. They are conscious that the Min-They are conscious that the mire ority Movement has already undermined their prestige and influence, and threadening to destroy it completely. They have therefore decided to resort to the method of suppression

The Expulsion Policy

Gredit, for initiating the policy of suppression is due to the leaders of the General and Municinal Workers Union: Already in November, 1925, they sent out instructions prohibiting the election of members amiliated with the Minerity movement as efficient of the nority movement as officials of the Situation in China

(Continued from page 6) and Petrograd and the defeat of the Botsheviks.

What is far more likely to hannen after the capture of Pettine by the Hankow forces, is a southward mend by them on Nanking and Shanghai, which Chiane Rai Shek will not be able to withstand as easily—as he does the march of Chang Tso Lin. Such a series of Chang Tso Lin. Such a series of victories, which would virtually establish the hegemony of the revolutionary forces over the greatest part of China, are not fantastio henes they are mutto there to forces of Hankow march with the forces of Hankow march with the hanner of the revolutionary regular Shek marches with the year, for the remerade and counterrevolutionary, streaked with the blood of the renegade and counterrevolutionary, streaked with the blood of the workers he has murdered. What is far more likely to handered.

union or to its conferences and conventions. But the membership of the union simply ignored this order and continued to elect the militants of the Minority Movement to responsible posts in many local unions.

Last January the Executive of this union sent out a new circular letter, to all local unions; declaring that adherence to the Minority Movement is incompatible with loyalty to the Union and, secondly, that the local unions must have no connection with the Minority Movement or with Trades Councils in ment or with Trades Councils in any way associated with the Minority Movement.

Left Wing Accepts Challenge

The Minority Movement answered this with a call for a conference of representatives from the London locals of the General and-Municipal Workers Union to force the reformist leaders to withdraw the instructions. The London District Council the Council State Without the State Council State of the Union threatened to reor-ganize the locals sending delegates to the conference and to expel the delegates from the union. Despite these threats, the conference was attended by 57 delegates representing 21-locals with a membership of over 20,000.

Following the conference, the London District Council Look dis-ciplinary action against five of the ciplinary action against 1100 of the largest locals, depriving them of the right to participate in the organizational and administrative work of the thion until its next convention. In addition to this, they expelled 18 members from the union, including one who is a member-of-the General Executive of the Union. the General Executive of the Union and also a member of the Execu-tive of the Minority Moyement

General Council Approves Policy

This disruptive policy was approved by the General Council of the Trade Union Congress. On March 25th the General Council sent out to all Trades Councils "Instructions No. 28" stating, among others:

"That those Trade Councils which are affiliated to the Minority Move-ment, or receive affiliations from branches of that organization (that

Canadian Rail Shopmen Taste Fruit of B. & O. Plan

Winnipeg, Canada.—The 60-operation, or B. & G., system has been in operation on the Canadian rail-ways for two years, and now at last the railway workers of Western Canada see the results of this system_of_co-operation.—All shops in the western regions of the Canadian National Railways.system_are athler. National Railways system are eithe National Railways system are either working on part time or have laid off a part of their forces. This despite the fact that the net income of the C. N. R. for 1926 exceeded by more than 14 million dollars the net income of the previous year. The railway workers are now learning that Bi&O. co-operation means more profit for the company, and more speed up but less pay for the workers.

workers:

It is expected that within a short time the shopmen will withdraw their delegates from the so-called Co-operation Committees. This is their delegates from the so-called co-operation Committees. This is already taking place in Winnipes. In the Fort Rouge shop of the G. N. R. in Winnipeg the men decided, instead of having ten per cent of the force laid off, to go on short time five days a week and in addition to take ten-holidays in succession instead of at intervals. This will prevent about 250 men from being thrown on the streets. At the being thrown on the streets. At the time these shopmen have shown that they have already learned the value of co-operation is local unions affiliated to the Minority Movement, or, are associated, with that body, shall not be accorded recognition by the General Council, nor allowed to parlicipate in any work carried on under the auspices of the General Council.

This at a time when it was already known that the Baldwin government was preparing to attack the trade unions.

The attempt to suppress the left wing cannot succeed. The Minority Movement is too deeply imbedded among the masses, and there is too much definite opposition to the reformists and too much general discomment associated and the comment of the control of the reformists and too much general discomment associated as a suppression to the reformists and too much general discomments. local unions 'affiliated to the nucle delinite opposition to the re-formists and too much general dis-content with their leadership and policies. The attempt will only further discredit the reformists, and is doomed to deteat.

with the company. At this writing the pipe filters have withdrawn their delegates from the Co-operation Committee, while the ear men have given notice of a motion to withdraw their delegates next meeting and the machinists are ex-pected soon to follow this exam-

Building Trades Unions of Britain Amalgamate

LONDON—(FP)—The amalgamation of the building trades is an important trade union development, in Britain. important in Britain. The present leaves of building trades decided to proceed, loward amalgamation. The accounties of the amalgamate accounties of the amalgamatic feet amalgament of the composed of feet executive of the amalgamated union will be composed of representatives of the organizations at present affiliated. Craft interests will be safeguarded by the 8 groups established within the new organization. To the usual building trades will be added quarryinen, pavers, brickmakers and common pavers, brickmakers and common pavers, brickmakers and common workers. Each of the 8 groups will have equal representation. Uniform strike pay will be maintained. tion. Uniformaintained.

maintained.

Organizations al present affliated will have autonomy in their internal affairs but all movements affecting wages and conditions will be under complete control of the amalgamation. If any union desires to withdraw it, will have to submit to the decision of a court of exhibitation.

Italian Trades Unions Form New Center

THE decision of the reformist leaders of the General Con-federation of Labor of Italy, adopted last January, to transfer the headquarters of the Confederation into a foreign country practically meant nothing else than an attempt. meant nothing else than an acquire to liquidate the free (non-fassist) trde unions, driving the workers into the fascist trade unions and thus delivering them to the mercy of the employers.

of the employers.

The decision encountered delemined opposition among the class-conscious rank and file, and his found organized expression at a conference held in Milan about the end of February which reject d the virtual dissolution of the confederation by the reformist leaders and organized a new centre for the Hallan trade unions with headquarters in Italy.

Over thirty decirates, represents headquasters in Italy.

Over thirty delegates, represents to most important unions affilinted. To the Confederation of I. a b or most important unions affilinted. To the Confederation of I. a b or most important to the Confederation of I. a b or most important to the Confederation of I. a b or most important to the Confederation of I. a definition of the Confederation of the Confedera

Isls.

The confence unanimously-resolved-hal the Italian Confederalion of Labor shall continue, to exist, yith a central, in Italy, that the trade unions be transformed into industrial unions and be organized on the basis of factory units.
A provisional executive was elected to carry out the decisions of the conference.

"Check-Off" Issue in the Anthracite

entire industry have removed we ers from the job and compelled others to do the work of those removed, . Where before three men worked on specific tasks, now one is compelled to do it. This prac-fice is quite widespread. Wages are rut, and the working conditions, worsened. The "outlaw" strikes of the miners are increasing as a result of the application of this "re-result of the application of this "reciprocal" program.

Not only do the workers strike
"outlaw" strikes, the burecraey says) in one colliery here and there, but general strikes are taking place, as was recoulty shown when the but general strikes are laking placens was recently shown when the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. employees. 13,000 of them, declared a general strike against the action of the company cutting the ware values on rock contracting from the specified rate of $4.70 to $2.38. For many months the Hudson Coal Co. miners have 1960 striking in different seculous because of the many and repeated violations of the contract by the companies, and this resontment, and condition is accontacting so at the present time that, a general strike of the Hudson miners is imminent.

ninent.
All these violations of the wase scale, all the "reducing of the labor force", all the discrimination and inequalities heaped upon the min-ers by the operators are done behind the screen of the "reciprocal program". program". The "program" is re-ciprocal in the sense that the bosses hog the whole works.

Lewis Evades Issue

The bosses will not voluntarily accode to the demand for the check off. They have repentedly stated that the "reciprocal" section did not mean the check-off. And the officialdem of the union have evaded the insistent demands of the evaded the insistent demands of the rank and file for something definite on the check-off and have helped the operators to delay a definite decision on this issue. At the last international convention Trewis insisted that the issue shall not be raised on the floor of the convention

The anthracite miners should force definite action without further force definite action without turning delay. They must pinke remmonstrates with the bituminous miners, for a settlement of all their grievances and for a stronger union that the operators throughout the nation will have to reckon with as they used to before the Lewis administration brought it to its present

Review

NEGRO LABOR IN THE ENITED STATES, By Charles H. Wesley, Vanguard Press, Inc., Price 50 Cents

Wanhuard Frees, inc., race of view W. and class outlook of Mr. Charles H. Wesley, Professor of History in Howard University, he has done the American labor movement a great service with the publication of his book on Negro Labor in the United States, It is Dublication of his book on Negro Labor in the United States, It is just the kind of a book that is badly needed now when Negro la-bor is coming to play such an im-portant role in the American labor, movement.

It is a bit funny perhaps to seconnest people, like the author of this book, take so much trouble to prove that the Negro worker can develop as much skill and become develop as much skill and peculiars competent in industry as the white worker, provided he were given a chance. To us such a proposition, which is absolutely correct, should peed no special proof.

should need no special proof.

Haven't we already reached the point when such truths are accepted as self-evident? May be not. If so, we will have to admit that the efforts of Mr. Wesley to prove that the negro worker is possessed of the same abilities as the white worker have been worth while.

Increasing Importance of Negro

But the really important feature of Professor Wesley's study is the demonstrated proposition that nedemonstrated proposition and a ground a ground a ground an ever more important factor in the industrial, political and social life of the United States. The industrialization of the negro race. Industrialization of the negro race, its trend to the cities and into industry, has been truly remarkable. Just glance at these figures. In 1890 the percentage of urban negro population was 19.4, while in 1920 the figure stood at 34.0; and the drift-of the negroes to the cities and industries is steadily continuing. Between 1910 and 1920 the number of negroes in industry had risen of negroes in industry had risen from 406,582 to 566,680. In textiles alone the number of negro workers increased from 2,949 in 1900 to 24,-734 in 1920.

The road of the negro from slavery on the southern plantations to the condition of industrial worker was spread with thorns and diffi-culties of all kinds. And still is, for that matter. Not least among these difficulties was the opposi-tion of white workingmen who, moved by craft egotism, resisted the entrance of negroes into trades and industry.

A relevant and very timely angle A relevant and very limely angle in Professor Wesley's study is the relation of the negro worker to trade unionism and to the organized labor movement generally. If proof is still needed, the facts brought forward-by this book will show the negro worker possessed of a strong desire to join the general trade union movement and to fight loyally-the-employers', side by side with the workers of other races. And if the number of negro, worker in the trade unions is not now. And if the number of negro works ers in the trade unions is not now much larger than it actually is, the reasons for this should be looked after in the east prejudices of the white labor aristocracy, in the quiet opposition and sabotage of the trade union reactionaries, in the manipulations of capitalist politicians, negro and white, and in the general discrimination against negroes all along the line.

Neuro Unions Dato Far Back

Neuro Unions Date Far Back
Suffice it, to refer to the trade union pioneering efforts of Isaac, Myers in 1870 to see the maturity of the negro workers to organize and struggle against the embloyers. Nearly sixty years ago it was possible to assemble in Washing-

THE HOLE

Even as death is alone, Alone with bitter memories.

He sits in the vulturous silence Of four walls . . . thinking . . . thinking. Only the rancid odors of dampness Penetrate the gloom.

Night crawls huskily Over the parapets of the prison; Day slinks westward, Beating the ashen walls with livid wings; But in the dungeon interminable gloom,

Oh, the walls of the dungeon are hard, The floor of the dungeon is hard, The silence of the dungeon is hard Even as the throes of death are hard, The hollow gloom of the dungeon is hard.

Once a day The muffled step of the Warder is heard; A door screeches open Flooding the dungeon with blinding light;
Then gloom . . . and bread . . . and water.

Once a day Once a any
The murderer paces the asphalt ring,
Breathes deeply of sun and air;
But in the dungeon's impenetrable gloom The class-war prisoner sits with bitter memories.

Fifteen years is a long time . . . thinking . . . thinking.

JIM WATERS.

To a Massachusetts Judge

What shall the future's children speak of you, You bought and paid for tool of tyranny, You bloody Jeffreys of New England's greed? You cringing, servile lackey, they shall spew The thought of you forth from their memory As something loathsome, vile in history No words could pen the depths of, infamy Too black to fill the minds of people freed.

Crawl on your belly while you live, and lick The pudgy hand of wealth that fills your purse; Employ every artifice and trick To doom the brave. . . . We name you with a curse. Corrupt, debased, swine of a tinselled sty, Our hate shall haunt your sleep until you die ton, D. C., a national conference of 203 delegales representing negrounjons in 23 states. It was then that the National Labor Union was formed, the first national trade union federation of negree-labor. This organization was formed not because the negro trade unionists wanted to be organized separately from the white workers, but because the craft exolism and prejudices of the latter would not admit willingly the negro workers into their unions.

-HENRY GEORGE WEISS.

Developments since then have remendously increased the need for trade union organization among the hegro workers, but little has changed in the attitude of the trade union reactionaries. These latter have become even more opposed to organizing the need more opposed to organizing the need more opposed to organizing the need more opposed to organizing the new feet all deton, D. C., a national conference of Three latter have become even more opposed to organizing the negroes since they have lost all desire to organize the unorganized generally. The left and progressive elements in the trade unions must now pay much more attention than herefore to bringing the negrous respective that the trade is the comment of the comment gro workers into the unions as this constitutes an essential part of the general problem of organizing the unorganized.

unorganized.

We must note one more angle of the subject omitted by Professor Wesley which is of Tremendous political importance. It is the relation between the growth of negro lation between the growth of negro-labor-and the struggles of the negro race for its emancipation. Nelgro-labor is coming to be not only the backbone of the liberation movements of the race but will in time also become its leader. Perhaps this constitutes a subject for special study. However, it must be kept in mind that the negro working-class of kept in mind that the negro working-class, like the working class of all oppressed races, has a double historic mission to perform. It has got to liberate itself from the yoke of capitalist exploitation and in doing so must build and lead the movement for the emancipation of its race. And it is from these two angles that negro labor in the United States must be approached and studied. and studied.

ALEX. BITTELMAN.

 Sport Sidelights

By ALBERT STUART

JACK SHARKEY, the Boston Bay, heavy, fooms as the outstanding challenger to the crown now held by Gone Tunney, the marine who isn't fighting. Sharkey jumped into the light by virtue of his knockout victory of his home town rival Jim Maloney. In this fight he showed speed and punch in both hands and led all the way to the fifth round when the mlow came over.

THE point arises as to whom Sharkey will fight now. Officially he is now to fight Dempsey and if he is able to defeat the forand if he is able to defeat the former champ then he will have carned his fight for the world title in September. We don't know where Jack comes in new. He's out somewhere supposedly training and trying to make up for lost time. However, the writer's opinion is that Jack should go out and earn his right to face Sharkey instead of being right in jump for a title match.

* * * *

B ASEBALL is rounding out n All the stiffness and kinks are working out according to the two games played recently between the Cubs and the Braves. On Saturday, May 14, the Cubs took an 18-inning game. The following Tuesday the Cubs took a 22-inning game. The outstanding features of these games were the pitching of Bush, who twirled 18 innings for the Cubs, and Rob Smith former shortston, who twirled 18 innings for the Cubs, and Bob Smith, former shortstop, who pitched Boston through 22 innings. The two New York teams and the two Chicago teams leading in both leagues. A couple of favorites seem to be in tough running. Cincinnatti sout in last place, with Washington and Cleveland 6th and 7th in the American League.

344 * * *

HITTING has taken a few strides forward. Bing-Miller, Brown outfielder, hus jumped out toward the front, batting over 400. Old Ty cobb is keeping up in the front with the rest, already batting in succession in over a score of games. In the veterans' pastime Andy High of the Braves is out there batting way over 400, with Farrell batting in great fashion. Farrel is taking the place of Jackson, who was stricken with appendicitis, but it looks as if he will stick if he continues sticking as he is now. Cy Williams is out hanging out homers again, with Gehrig and Ruth fighting it out for the lead in the American League.

*** ***

* * *

R ROM Russia we here that there has been a change in the char-acters of the chess board. We find that the characters have been changed to one of working class; changed to one of working class figures. The scheme of the new change takes on the following form change takes on the following form.
On one side the characters are of the Workers and on the other side the forces of the aspitalist state.
We find the worker and red army soldiers on one side and on the other side king, queen and white quard soldiers. This is propagandizing and always seeing that the class angle is presented before the workers oven in sports.

THE capitalists make use of sports continually to corrupt the minds of the workers. Such characters as kings and queens and soldiers train the minds of those playing class to think in terms of kings, queens, and soldiers. This new change in Aussia trains the workers to think in the terms of the working class.