CONFERENCE Resolution—Guides I. U. A. W. to Action in New York

There are those who wish that the International Association of White Collar Workers was completely off the map. Since it was born, of necessity spontaneous and independent, it has grown to power which has been reckoned with—radical, workers' union. However, attempts to neutralize and destroy this organization are being made in the guise of protecting the movement and maintaining the so-called "proletarian front." This is a flagrant instance of the very vogue of threatening and exposing it to legal and pernicious attack.

"WHEREAS, this conference after having gathered evidence and in the light of the facts that have been laid before this assembly, has pieced together the details of a series of nefarious and diabolical ramifications;

"THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the Northwest Labor Union and all affiliated and friendly organizations join with the I. U. A. W. in its fight against this attack on the industrial movement, and that the Northwest Labor Union hereby resolve to enter into an all-out struggle against these subversive forces, and endeavor in its entirety to root them out from our midst."

I. U. A. W. Organized and Prospering

"And whereas, the present and past record of the Union has been closely watched by theteil interests of the Northwest Labor Union and the workingmen of this country who are fighting for a living wage and a union to protect their interests;

"And whereas, the I. U. A. W. have been laboring for years to establish a union which will defend and protect the workingmen of this country and the Northwest Labor Union and all the union and workers of the country have always taken an active interest in this work;

A Tribute to Sincere Union Men, Women

An old saying runs something like: "It's easy enough to be patriotic when there's a song, but the man worth while, is the man who can smile when everything goes dead wrong," meaning to convey the fact that every man must stand or fall by his adherence to principles and tested ideals.

In the shadowy and the unfriendly world of the labor market today, where every hour is precious and every cent of income important, it is not easy to live up to one's convictions. It is far too easy to despise the struggle and the sacrifice for the things that are right.

Let us look at this testing for sincerity that is now going on. Does she stand up under fire and hold her faith? Does he refuse to write a check that is a violation of his principles? If not, the world is right. If so, may she stand firm and persevere.

Law, Order League Would Give Mike Johannes Job

Would Place Him Under Civil Service

No one can justly accuse the Minnesota Law and Order League of having a liberal program. The organization is just as much a part of the law and order movement as is the police and fire department. It is a recognized and respected part of the civil service system, and it is doing its best to uphold the law and order that the state needs.

Theexter, but Campbell, faithful to his principles, was careful in bringing it to the floor of the State House. The debate was long and hard, but Campbell voted for it. The result was that the Bill was passed and sent to the Senate. Campbell hoped that his opposition to the Bill might have a chance of being heard and voted upon next session.

From Three Rivers Free Press

The interest of various groups was divided on the Bill, and the growing conviction of the need for a new system of civil service was fulfilled by them is becoming more evident.

From the Minnesota Law and Order League news note, it is stated that the Bill has been referred to the Senate Committee on Civil Service. The Committee is expected to report favorably on the Bill.

the laborites into the forefront. The time for a new labor policy has come.

On Monday, March 25th, the League met in the State House, and adopted a resolution which expresses the views of the members of the League. The resolution is as follows:

"The Minnesota Law and Order League, in the light of the present situation, hereby expresses its support of the labor movement and its demands for better working conditions, better pay, and better treatment. We hereby call upon the labor leaders to take up the fight for these demands and to carry them through."

The resolution was passed by a large majority. It is expected that the League will take an active part in the coming labor movement.

Owatonna Strike Exposes Relief

the workers quit the job and seventy-three others are still on the job. If you suppose the officials had the right to change the conditions and were, therefore, justified in telling the workers to leave the job, you are mistaken. Tuesday morning, March 25th, the workers went on strike against the union and the union makers. The result was that the strike was called off.

The county officials had made a mistake in not trying to improve conditions for the union makers and the workers. The new conditions are better than the old and the workers will now stay on the job.

The decision of the county officials was right, and they should be commended for their action. The workers are working on the woolen job, and the woolen job is still going on. Twelve workers were employed by the company, and thirty-five at the prices they were paid. The company is paying the workers more than they were paid before.

The workers are now working under better conditions than they were before. The workers are better off, and the company is worse off. The company is paying more than they were paying before. The workers are better off, and the company is worse off.

"This is the most important decision of the season. The matter has been discussed by the workers, and it is now settled. The workers are satisfied, and the company is satisfied. The decision is good for both sides."

St. Louis Union Sees Committee in Action

Some very interesting and enlightening facts about the Minneapolis Citizens Committee were brought out in a labor conference held in the St. Louis Union Hall, Eighth and Market Streets. The conference was attended by a large number of union members.

In December, 1934, the question of a recognition of the Minneapolis Citizens Committee was brought up before the local union. The company sent a delegation to the union, and the union sent a delegation to the company. The conference was held in the St. Louis Union Hall, Eighth and Market Streets. The conference was attended by a large number of union members.

"This is still America, Mr. Emme."

The Industrial Commission summoned Emme before it, and confirmed the charge of official corruption against him. Emme was asked to resign and the hearing was set for the next day. Emme was present and demanded his rights under the law. The hearing was due to be held on a fair and impartial basis. Emme was informed that the hearing would be held in a separate room, away from the public, where he could only be heard by those present.
