Corcoran Continues Attacks on Members of Local No. 574

Demands That Member of Dual Union Haul Goods to Milk Drives East

The role played by Pat Corcoran, business agent of the Milk Drivers and Helpers, and his分会, with the revocation of 574's charter is one that should reflect on every member of the labor movement. As further proof, the news this week that Corcoran is carrying on a campaign tended to a destruction of Local 574, the forces for freedom submitted. On Monday, June 24 at 12:30 p.m. in the local's hall, Spelman, Geary and John Wong met with a group of Minneapolians and it was arranged that a meeting was to be so reorganized the driving industry as to eliminate Local 574 as a factor. This meeting did not produce the desired results. Following another meeting was held by Geary, Corcoran and Hall with the Daily Star, the Economic and Kelly transfer companies. In this conference they attempted to induce the employees to withdraw the men who were all members of Local 574 to drop that organization and become members of the new union they are attempting to organize. From our information, Pat Corcoran in Corcoran's activities but he was not yet through that he would be ready to support the unions. A short time later Hall and Corcoran met with a committee of the chamber of commerce to attempt to secure the cooperation of Minneapolis employers, who are members of the chamber of commerce, to put a boycott on Local 574, pointing out to them that the General Drivers Union had engaged in violent strikes and were conducting an illegal activities, etc., etc. They painted a picture of employers, attempting to show the leadership of Local 574 as being dangerous and a menace to the labor movement. While no minutes of the meeting are available, there is no doubt that the Chamber of Commerce was given the employers a "safe and non-drivers' union" if the employers would assist the union in its disruptive and abortive attempt. Fortunately for the Chamber of Commerce was not interested in erecting another drivers' union in Minneapolis. The conference was also productive of no results. Corcoran, however, was not easily discouraged. He recently attempted to induce a member of the union (Continued on page 3).
