Bakery Drivers Win a Smashing Wage Increase

The National Labor Relations Board has ordered a bakery drivers union to cease and desist from engaging in unfair labor practices and to permit employees to return to their jobs without loss of seniority or benefits.

The drivers, who operate 18-wheel trucks, have been on strike for two weeks.

The decision comes as the bakery industry prepares for a possible strike by striking bakery workers and the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union.

The National Labor Relations Board is expected to issue a report on the matter next week.

The drivers have been seeking a wage increase for several months, and the strike has been ongoing for two weeks.

The employers have offered to negotiate a new contract, but the drivers have rejected the offer.

The drivers say they are seeking a wage increase of at least $2 per hour.
