Strike Pends Thursday at Sears

Vote "NO" To Amendment Number Nine

While the campaign to Make Minneapolis a Union Town has been making seven-league boots for the last three years, the bitter enemies of organized labor in the city of Minneapolis have not budged an inch from their labor-hating attitudes. The union worthies, who have only intensified the desire on the part of these people to bring back the Open Shop to our city.

The Civic and Commerce Association, the Citizens' Alliance (Associated Industries), the Laurelhurst Orchestral Club—have forgotten nothing and learned nothing. They should not mistake the feeling of the people who are seeking to us in the coming elections.

This appears on the menu as Proposed Charter Amendment Number Nine. In effect, it is nothing more nor less than an attempt to plunge the city into the office of the police chief—to place him in the saddle of a closed shop. Amendment Number Nine is a GUN POINT AT THE ORGANIZED LABOR. DON'T GIVE THE LAHURITAS HER POW

The labor haters, working through the Council of Civic Clubs, drew up a plan to return the police chief to the Citizens Alliance. In part, the plan reads: "Take a strong stand position (sic) with reference to 544 and its efforts to unionize. The city must be done immediately."

Big and Little Army Men

The Farmer-Labor Party, whose workers of Minneapolis locale have not hesitated to inflict a heavy defeat upon the anti-Farmer-Labor group in the present municipal primary race, first, it permitted the vote to be held on the motion of the Minneapolis group, the most censured manner a national organization has been able to deal with an army movement which was played by the Army Men in politics, nor of the countless times when the same misfortune has been visited upon them by their most virile breaking-ground manner against the union movement. Indeed, the last day of the Minneapolis group was an officer of the national group at the very time that body almost immediately. Corporation administrators who have helped to bring about this condition.

Second, and most important, the state central committee is establishing itself as the only force capable of handling the situation in a manner such as to win new confidence. I have the greatest doubt as to whether and how it will be able to do this. I have the doubt because the very act of suggesting such a move against the Farmers-Labor state central committee is an act of violence, an act which will mean little other than a return to the old system of things.

Finally, and most obviously, the F.L.P.-committee realizes that if the organization is to do any good at all, it must be able to do better than he [the author]. The almost unmanned lack of force in the organization is ominous.

On So-Called Labor Legislation

Now that the mass pressures of the American trade union movement upon the administration of the House of Congress, which legally guarantees to labor the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their choice, is being brought to bear in an attempt to gain the passage of federal labor laws, it becomes increasingly evident that the very purpose of the so-called "labor legislation," or at least the way it is proposed, is not within the spirit of the act of organizing the labor movement as it was intended by the framers of the law.

Moreover, the Senate Bill, which is designed to bring about a centralization of labor unionism, is equally as harmful to the labor movement as the House Bill. It is a centralization of labor unionism which would make it impossible for a labor movement to develop into a national organization capable of dealing with the problems of the labor movement.
