292 Restores Relations With N.S.P.

Meeting with N.S.P. Resumed Tuesday

Council Airs Cab Strike, Licenses

With new regulations taking place in the cab strike during the past two days, and during the first four weeks of the struggle, the Federative Union of Cab Drivers, the largest union of its kind in the country, has agreed to an amicable solution of the strike.

The proposal of the Federative Union of Cab Drivers, according to the Secretary-General of the Council, would have reserved for the strikers the same rate of pay for the month of the agreement. The two sides have agreed to a compromise solution and a strike settlement, to be made by the Council and the strikers.

Leach, Grand Jury, Fight FWS, Unemployed-Why?

Reasons Behind Attack on Relief Standards by Big Business—Truth About the Federal Workers Section—Union Movement Next to Be Attacked

Today in Minneapolis Mayor George E. Leach is making a speech to the Financial and Industrial Clubs here in Minneapolis. Mayor Leach is planning to meet the FWS Section. A lot of the FWS members have been unemployed for several weeks, and if they are not unemployed, they are underemployed. The fight against the relief standards is an attempt to prevent the unemployed from getting adequate relief. It is in the interest of the employers to cut relief to the lowest, so that taxes on the unemployed will be lower. If there is a strike to be made, it will be a strike against the unemployed.

Lumber Contractors Express Resistance

The Lumber Contractors are resisting the efforts of the FWS Section to bring about a better standard of living for the lumber workers. The contractors are opposing the efforts of the FWS to organize the lumber workers and to improve their working conditions. The contractors are under the impression that the FWS is trying to create a labor union which will compete with their own unions.

On the Route with the Milk Man

Our correspondent, Mrs. E. F. Hunting, found his way to the milkman's doorstep and got a firsthand view of the milkman's work. He explained to her how the milk is delivered and the care that is taken to keep it fresh. Mrs. Hunting was impressed with the efficiency of the milk delivery system and the enthusiasm of the milkman.
