Farmers Union Moves for Bloc "With Labor, Denounces War"

An endorsement of the efforts of the union movement to secure collective bargaining, a condemnation of war, and a call for the return of all American soldiers to their homes, were some of the more important speeches made at the meeting of the Farmers Union of America which met recently in Madison, Wisconsin.

The Farmers' Union national executive council held the most progressive meeting under the leadership of the Farmers' Union.

A resolution presenting the views of the Farmers' Union, which has been discussed for several years, was adopted at the meeting.

The resolution ordered the Farmers' Union national executive council to submit a permanent committee to conduct further the broad program of cooperation with labor, with the object of advancing the cause of labor, and with the hopes of bringing about a more just and equitable settlement of labor-management disputes.

The resolution further called for the establishment of a national labor movement, to be conducted by the Farmers' Union, in order to secure the advancement of the cause of labor.

Open the Doors to Hitler's Victims!

Despite the world-wide horror over Hitler's latest and bastardization, it is obvious that the ruling class in each country, though they pretend to a warm sympathy with the suffering people, are not, in fact, doing anything to help. Roosevelt seeks to turn the public outcry against the Nazis into support for his anti-communist propaganda. To stifle the world protest, Chamberlain of England put forward a voluntary anti-Nazi drive in which Jews in the swamps of British Guiana, a territory that is large enough only to settle their thousand persons. Once there, the Jews would be used by British inspectors just as they have been used in Palestine.

Reactionaries in this country, forced to speak by the war, are making Hitler's victims into a cause for their own advantage. They mention the fear in the welfare of the unemployed and oppose the admission of refugees into the United States. However, a few thousand more people added to the 200,000 refugees already here in the United States would make little difference.

This sudden hypocritical interest in the welfare of the Jews, from those who share the same philosophy, is now being used to aid the unemployed. As though refusing to open the doors to Hitler's refugees is good for American workers, American labor is against taking the jobs of millions of our workers, and not workers from other countries.

Let us face the issue. If we mean business when we say it is our duty to the American worker and the workers of the world, there is no excuse for the persecution in their terrible crisis, we have got to come through to them. This is why we demand the admission of the refugees to the United States, and why we are determined to stop the Nazi坐着的血腥驱逐。

What's This—Does the Organizer Agree with Saturday Evening Post?

No doubt there are many persons in Minneapolis who feel that the Minneapolis Labor Union, together with the rank and file of organized labor in the city, has done everything possible to aid the unemployed, and that the labor press persists in its war against the Nazis. It is true that the papers often report on events in Europe, but it is also true that they are prevented from giving the workers the facts and that they are forbidden to discuss the situation.

What is the situation? We have neither been informed as to what is happening in Europe, nor have we been allowed to read the reports of what is happening in the world. This is why we are determined to stop the Nazi satr's bloody drive.

Open the doors to the refugees!

The powers provided by the official Industrial Mobilization Plan for the purpose of the employers of labor are not limited, and under the provisions of this act, any national council of defense or any national committee of defense may be set up. But the powers delegated to the President are enough to prevent the least trouble from coming from the employers of labor.

But the powers delegated to the President are enough to prevent the least trouble from coming from the employers of labor.

The President is going to be asked to appoint a full-time committee to study the situation. Such a committee would automatically be a national council of defense, and we are determined to force the issue to a head. The labor movement will not stand idle while the President refuses to do his duty.

Okay, the war is going to be fought. And the Northwest Organizer is going to be a part of that war. We are going to fight for the rights of the workers and the rights of the people. We are going to fight for the rights of the people.
