Bakery Drivers in Omaha Win Pact

In a hard-fought battle involving the national picket line, Omaha drivers of the Bakery, Confectionery, Food, Tobacco and Allied Workers, affiliated with the AFL-CIO, through their National Union, Local 544, won a sweeping victory over their employers.

The drivers, who are employed by the major bakery concerns in the city, have been locked out for a little over a month. The lockout was called by the Chicago-based employers.

But in a surprise move, the employers gave in last week when the drivers agreed to a contract including a closed shop, security, and a $2.50 weekly guarantee.

Wichita, Chippewa Sign Union Pact

Drivers Union Local 1001 signed a pact with the H.K. Koch Co. last week. The agreement, ratified by the members of the Local at a meeting in the company's plant, provides for the establishment of a closed shop, security, and a $2.50 weekly guarantee.

Omaha Bakery Drivers Make Gains in Contract

Following is the complete text of the new working agreement signed last Friday morning between the Omaha General Drivers Union Local 554 and Omaha Bakery Employes. The new pact calls for the closed shop, seniority, and a weekly guarantee of $22.50. The old contract expired July 15 of this year.

The agreement includes a clause which the employers attempted to insert into an independent truck agreement, which was declared void by the Missouri State Labor Commission.

500,000 WPA Workers in Nation Declare Strike Against New Relief Bill

100% Support to the WPA Strike!

That's what the Federal Workers Section announced today when it called for a general strike of all WPA workers throughout the nation. The FSFWA strike committee set up by the Federal Workers Section is now in effect.

The strike is in response to President Roosevelt's proposal for a new relief bill, which includes measures that workers feel will undermine the WPA's effectiveness.

WPA Strikers in Twin Cities Lead Shutdown in State

Strike in State Continues Despite Threats from Glenshaw and Washington—Unskilled Workers Failing to Join Strikers

The strike by Minnesota WPA workers continues to show no signs of weakening. Despite threats from the nation's labor leaders, the workers are determined to hold firm.

The strike is supported by a wide range of labor organizations, including the American Federation of Labor (AFL), the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO), and the United Mine Workers (UMW). The strikers are demanding a wage increase and better working conditions.

WPA Strike is Most Popular Demonstration Ever Seen in American History

The WPA strike has been widely praised as the most popular demonstration ever seen in American history. It has been supported by millions of workers across the country.

The strike has also been endorsed by many labor leaders, including A.J. Muste, the founder of the Free Speech Movement, who has called it "the most important strike in American history."

The strike has been met with resistance from the government, with President Roosevelt calling it a "strike of the unemployed." The strike has been ongoing for several weeks, with no sign of a resolution in sight.

New York AFL President Answers Threat of Arrest

When Col. Somervell, AFL president in New York City, called for the arrest and imprisonment of WPA workers who are striking for greater wages, AFL spokesman answered him:

"They are not being arrested and imprisoned by the WPA workers who are striking for greater wages in New York City. They are being arrested and imprisoned for refusing to work."

Questioned yesterday by the WPA workers as to whether he had given any personal approval to the 100-bed-a-month precedent, Mr. Somervell said:

"I have not given any personal approval to the 100-bed-a-month precedent."
Building Trades Scale Under Administration Attack

The new relief law abolishing the prevailing wage on WPA construction projects is not the only current attack on union wages. Right now the government Monopoly Committee is looking into the whole housing and construction industry, and all sorts of "expert" are telling that what's wrong with the industry is that wages are too high.

In the case of the building trades union is certainly an issue of the administration's labor movement that it is attacking in order to liberate labor from a long-range attack on wages of all sorts. There is no question of the administration's genuine concern for the worker. On the contrary it is the administration that is interested in the profits of the Big Businessers and the subcontractors. The question is not as to whether wages are too high but whether wages are enough for the worker to live on.

The rise in the building trades union activity is partly due to the fact that the administration is following a policy of attacking labor. The trade union leaders are losing their influence with the workers. They are looking for new leaders and new methods of organizing to fight the administration. They are looking for a new form of government which will unite the laborers and keep the workers in the movement.

As many of the international building trades unionists have been saying wages in one city only from $7 to $8 a day are too low. If wages in Seattle are too low, then wages in the rest of the country are too low. If wages in Seattle are too low, then wages in the rest of the country are too low.

A wage of $7 to $8 a day is not enough to live on. The cost of living in Seattle is high enough to require wages of $8 to $9 a day. If wages in Seattle are too low, then wages in the rest of the country are too low.
