POLICE AID PUFFER-HUBBARD FIRM, BUT STRIKE STILL SOLID

Mayor Lanusse Furnishes Cops, But Company Can’t Get Scabs—Strikers Present Basis for Settlement—Union Wins State

At Mayor Lanusse and the police there’s point behind the Puffer-Hubbard management, a showdown over striking. Developing in the week strike of the Puffer-Hubbard workers, members of the Furniture Workers Union Local 482.

Last Thursday John Ireland, the company representative, stated that the company had made a “seven days” agreement and the management now had the “right to go on strike.” The management now had the “right to go on strike.”

BOSS BAYS FOR WIG ENGINEER

Probably the most audacious of the management’s moves in the Puffer-Hubbard strike was the one to get John Ireland, who was the wig engineer. The company had a “seven days” agreement and the management now had the “right to go on strike.”

Senate War-Makers Block Plan for War Referendum

Vote Downs LaFollette's Watered Referendum Proposal, 73 to 17—Senate Shows Hatred for Real Democracy, Honor The Country's False Front—For which a Peace Plan Offered as Amendment to "Neutrality" Bill

Despite the fact that the Gallipoli poll has indicated that that conflict is in favor of the Allies, the Senate yesterday defeated, 73 to 17, a watered down version of the war referendum which LaFollette proposed yesterday. The vote, 73 to 17, was a smashing defeat for the Senate's version of the scheme and it is a serious blow for the war referendum movement.

LaFollette offered his version as an amendment to the "Neutrality" bill. In the meantime 12,000 guns were purchased by Turkey from the Allies. The guns, it was said, were to be used in the fight against the Allies.

In order to present his amendment, LaFollette was called on to explain his plan. And while he was speaking the Senators were casting their ballots. As the vote was taken, LaFollette was cut off and did not have the chance to present his amendment.

The defeat of LaFollette's amendment cast a gloom over the Senate. It was evident that the Senate was not in favor of the war referendum. And while the Senators were casting their votes, LaFollette was cut off and did not have the chance to present his amendment.

LaFollette's defeat was a setback for the war referendum movement. But the Senators were not content to let the issue rest. They were determined to block any further attempts to bring the war referendum to a vote.

Cautious of the Congressional Re- gulatory Board and its action in the case of the Senate, the Senate has taken steps to prevent further attempts to bring the war referendum to a vote.

Knots to Glories

By R. G. Bowers

The hunting situation at Punten has now developed to the point where brothers, many of whom, being discontented, have set up shop in the area, have now become known as "the knot group." The knot group is composed of a number of brothers who have become disillusioned with the Punten management and have withdrawn from the main body of the local. These brothers have now formed their own group and are now operating independently of the main local.

Brother George W. Williams, a veteran of the Punten hunting trips, has announced his withdrawal from the knot group. Williams, who has been a member of the Punten group for over 10 years, has indicated his intention of joining the knot group.

On Sunday, the knot group held a meeting at which they elected a new executive committee. The new committee consists of: Chairman
Jim Brown, Secretary-Treasurer
Bill Johnson, and Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, John Smith.

The knot group has announced
that they will continue to operate
independently of the main local and will continue to hunt in the Punten
area.

To All Trade Union Members

So many workers applying for membership in the union have no, wanting to know about the union's rules and regulations, and rushing in to sign up without any knowledge of the benefits they stand to receive. Each individual is urged to talk to his union representative before signing up. This is in the best interests of the union and all its members.

All workers seeking union membership should contact their union representative or, if possible, come to the local office to discuss the matter further.

Brother Walter Lewis of New York, Wisconsin, president of the North Central Council of Workers (NCCHW) of Papermakers, competing with the knot group for membership, has announced that he will continue to work on membership drives in the Punten area.

The knot group has indicated that they will continue to pursue their goals and will not be deterred by the efforts of the NCCHW.

Brother John Taylor, a founder of the knot group, has indicated that he is confident of success in his efforts to organize the Punten
area.

The knot group has announced
that they will continue to operate
independently of the main local and
will continue to hunt in the Punten
area.

The Gamble Robinson Contract

As a result of the 1954 strike victory and the successful organization of the Minneapolis General Drivers Union, it could turn its back on the unorganized drivers outside the city, and watch the jobs and the wage scale in Minneapolis gradually slip to the outside level. Or it could act on a policy of strengthening interest and throw the union resources into building a stronger and more unified union outside of Minneapolis.

Two courses of action were open to the Minneapolis General Drivers Union. It could turn its back on the unorganized drivers outside the city, and watch the jobs and the wage scale in Minneapolis gradually slip to the outside level. Or it could act on a policy of strengthening interest and throw the union resources into building a stronger and more unified union outside of Minneapolis.

The Minneapolis General Drivers Union decided later How to think about each of these steps. The union has never turned away from any other City. Today the concrete benefits to MINNEAPOLIS DRIVERS of the success of the campaign in Minneapolis all over the Northwest are so obvious as to be beyond discussion.

In the past few weeks we have seen some examples of this fact. The following are only a few.

During the fourth week of October, the first real test of the effectiveness of the new contract was held. Members of the Teamsters signed a new two-year agreement covering the entire Northwest area. The agreement provides for a 20% raise in wages and working conditions in all areas.

Wage increases totaling millions of dollars were won through the contract, including the wages of the Minneapolis workers in the motor freight industry. This is a significant gain for the entire industry and shows that the union can secure the desired salary increases even under the present economic system. The national car companies are already paying the union scale, and the union is now organizing the area.

The day we celebrate is the day this is finished. The day this is finished is the day we can say to our friends, both here and elsewhere, that the Northwest is seeing that.
