ON THE NATIONAL PICKET LINE

During the past few months the union movement has taken a new and clever twist—"Americanism is the theme song, the slogan under which the American workmen are seen to be bust out of the world war. From every corner of the country the union leaders come back and read about the glories and the work of the 'fourth estate of the nation.'"

I realize that to maintain the quality of this country to the best of my ability, to the best of my knowledge, I have to stand in the union line, I have to try to make the conditions of the workers as to decent as possible.

Every school child, from his first third-grade days on, has been told in the United States, that his country was the greatest country in the world. And it's a big job to teach a man to believe in his country when he sees the most monstrous scene of all. The most monstrous scene is that the fighting man has no protection. This is the most monstrous scene of all, and we've got to do what we can to make some kind of a job out of it.

The obduracy of our national policy is shown in the most monstrous scene of all. We've got to make people realize that this is the most monstrous scene of all. We've got to realize that there's something which we're going to have to do something about. And we've got to make people realize that there's something which they've got to do something about. And we've got to make people realize that there's something which we're going to have to do something about.

Drivers Are Appointed to CLU Committees

Announcement by President John P. Hope of the Minneapolis Minnesotans was made in the newspaper that the union will appoint a new committee of the Minnesotans to meet with the union associates in the Twin Cities. The committee will consist of five members, the names of whom were not announced. The meeting will be held at the union headquarters in Minneapolis.

Two 1895 Section Dividends

The All-Union Society of the State of New York has been dissolved, and the former members of the society will be divided into two sections, each section to have its own organization. The sections will be known as the "New York Section" and the "West Coast Section." The new organization will consist of the former members of the society, and the former officers of the society will be invited to join the new organization.

Laundry Drivers Renew Notice of Strike

On March 1st the Minneapolis Laundry Union Local 111 and the St. Paul Laundry Drivers Local 17 will renew their notice of strike to the laundry workers in the Twin Cities. The decision to renew the strike was made after it was evident that the employers had not made any adequate concessions to the union. The union has been negotiating with the employers for the past two years, and has made several offers to the employers, but the employers have refused to accept any of the union's proposals. The union has been forced to take this action in order to protect the interests of its members.

Attention—All Coal Men

All coal dealers, brokers and commission merchants and all coal men doing business in the Twin Cities, be advised that the local coal union has been established. All coal men are hereby advised that they must sign up with the union in order to continue to do business in the Twin Cities. The union has been formed in order to protect the interests of its members and to improve the conditions of work in the coal industry.

Facts on Fire At Grove Street

On February 18th, fire breaks out in the 25th Street area of Minneapolis, resulting in the destruction of several buildings. The fire is now under control, and the buildings affected have been saved. The cause of the fire is not yet known, but it is believed to be caused by an electrical fault.

Trustbusters

Trustbusters have been on the attack in Minneapolis, investigating the activities of several businesses. The trustbusters are trying to break up the monopolies which exist in certain industries, and are making it more difficult for large companies to operate.

A Letter expressing deep thanks to the Central Laborers' Fraternal Union:

Mr. President:

I have been an active member of the Central Laborers' Fraternal Union for several years, and I would like to express my deep gratitude to you and the other members of the union for the excellent work you have done in the past. Your union has been a great help to me, and I am very grateful for your efforts.

St. Paul Labor Assembly Backs Anti-Lynch Bill

Last Friday night the St. Paul Labor and Labor Assembly approved the following resolution in support of the anti-lynching bill now before the Senate. The resolution reads in part:

WHEREAS, organized labor is continuously found with the fight to move industries into the suburbs where wages average the same or more but the town is not available.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that we, the St. Paul Trades and Labor Assembly, do hereby express our support of the anti-lynching bill now before the Senate, in order to protect the workers of the South from further oppression, that all workers who have served in the Negro towns and cities, that have served in the Negro towns and cities, are entitled to all the rights and privileges enjoyed by the white workers in the same locality and that all workers who have served in the Negro towns and cities, are entitled to all the rights and privileges enjoyed by the white workers in the same locality.

8,000 Shipyard Workers Get Preview Of O-M Day—Overtime Pay Faxed Down

Just a mild taste of what the 1964-1965 military dictatorship will mean to the workers of this nation is what workers have been receiving by the labor movement. The workers at the North American shipyard early in the year were still learning the ropes and organizing the workers. But the workers were already organizing the workers, and the organizers were using the organizers to do their work. But the organizers were already organizing the workers, and the organizers were using the organizers to do their work.

Making Minneapolis a Union Town
Union Delegates Take Walk At 3rd Dist. F.L. Convention

IN PROTEST AGAINST THE SEATING OF FOUR COMMUNITY PARTY MEMBERS of the Local Labor ticket in Michigan County, Minnesota, last Sunday, all AFL- CIO locals in the state marched to the State Capitol in protest against the refusal of the Farmer-Labor executive committee and the state party leadership to seat the four Community Party delegates. The marchers carried a letter from state secretary treasurer Paul J. aspect, a report is that 700,000 members of the Community Party sympathetic with the marchers.

When confronted with the request for a walk, the Farmer-Labor executive committee and the state party leadership refused to seat the four community party delegates, saying that the four men are not members of the state party and that the State Capital is not to be used for political purposes.

The marchers, numbering around 2,000, were led by a band and carried signs with the words, "Union Delegates Take Walk Against 4th Dist. F.L. Convention." The march ended at the State Capitol, where the delegates were seated and the state party leadership was confronted with the demand for the seating of the four community party delegates.

The marchers were met by a large crowd of farmers and laborers who showed their support for the community party delegates and their demand for the seating of the four men at the state convention.

The marchers were also met by a group of Farmer-Labor members who tried to stop the march and prevent the seating of the community party delegates. The two groups faced off, with some violence breaking out. The community party delegates were finally seated, but the state party leadership refused to recognize their action.
Behind the 544 Suit

But union men were not the only witnesses in Judge Curley's courtroom. Each of the plaintiffs also testified, and their testimony only reinforced the likelihood of a large public demonstration in May or June. Judge Curley was on trial, and the Northmen had their case in hand.

1. John Asplund, plaintiff, attended six meetings of the Minnesota Teachers Joint Council, office of the Minneapolis Teachers Joint Council, held at 2787 Plymouth Avenue, St. Paul.

2. Robert Fischer was not present at the initial case in May and June in 1947. But he did attend the meeting in April in 1947 and demanded $5,000 from the union. Fischer had been attending the meetings and demanding $5,000 from the union. Fischer had been attending the meetings and demanding $5,000 from the union.

3. George W. Fagerstrom, plaintiff, was present at the first meeting held by the union in April in 1947. Fagerstrom was present at the first meeting held by the union in April in 1947.
