At Rockwell Ouster Hearing

Stassen Attack on Schools Rocks the State

On the National Picket Line

A graphic example of the need for trade union control over military training of the newly formed national guard, the case of the fifteen Negroes convicted in the St. Paul office of the District Attorney, and the case of the five white men, are cited as evidence of the need for a national policy of equal rights for all citizens of the United States.

That H. E. Flynn and Theodore Olson of the state department of education have collected $19,000 in royalties over a period of ten years for various copyrighted textbooks used in the schools of Minnesota, and that John G. Badger of St. Paul has collected $2,000 in royalties over a period of six years.

Educators Demand Stassen Fire His 4 Board Members

Board Members With Their Positions

Theodore Stassen, Governor of Minnesota, has come under heavy criticism and several calls for his resignation. The legislature will convene on January 1, and a hearing is expected to be held on the petitions demanding that Stassen fire his four board members.

The petitions, submitted by a group of educators, call for the removal of Board Members John, Alice, and Mary, and ask Governor Stassen to resign. The group also demands the reappointment of the same board members on the grounds that they bear no political affiliations. Additionally, the new appointments would not have been voted upon by the legislature.

The governor is under pressure to fire the board members, as it is their responsibility to attend to the educational needs of the state. The group is concerned that the board members may not be capable of providing adequate leadership in this regard.

Firms That Are Unfair

To Laundries, Linen & Dry Cleaning Distributors Local 131

Dear Sirs: We bring you a complaint from a number of our members who have been subjected to unfair practices by various laundries, dry cleaning establishments, and linen suppliers. These practices include violations of the terms of the collective bargaining agreement. We have found that in many cases, the agreements have not been honored and that the workers are being overworked and underpaid.

Please bring this matter to the attention of the Minnesota State Labor Relations Board and the Minnesota Department of Labor. We will be happy to provide further information and evidence to support our claims.

Yours truly,

Wage Rates

To Management:

We respectfully request that you increase the hourly wage rates of your employees from $5.25 to $6.00 per hour, effective immediately. This increase is necessary to keep pace with rising labor costs and to maintain the competitiveness of your business.

Yours sincerely,

Legislation

The proposed legislation would require all laundries, dry cleaning establishments, and linen suppliers to comply with the terms of the collective bargaining agreement. Failure to do so would result in legal action and could lead to the cessation of operations.

Yours truly,

Well, the old law of recompense is in force. If you don’t want to be disturbed, you must go to sleep. But if you want to be disturbed, you must stay awake. The same is true of politics. If you want to be ignored, you must stay quiet. But if you want to be heard, you must speak up.

In the absence of facts, the best way to go about getting information is to ask questions. You can ask questions about anything you want. You can ask questions about politics, science, history, or anything else. The more questions you ask, the more you will learn.

The Real Stassen Revealed

More than any other incident, the role that Governor Stassen plays in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination has been most vividly illustrated by his recent appearance at the Iowa convention. The liberal of the two liberal leadership figures in the Democratic party has been a dominant factor in the convention. But it is not his actual speech that has drawn attention. It is his presence at the table next to Governor (Vice President) Al Gore that has been the source of the most comment.
