Who Seeks a Sales Tax?
An Editorial

Sales Tax is Disguised Wage Cut, Says T. A. Eide, Labor's Candidate

Labor Backs Farm Demand For Milk Control Bill

Organized labor has expressed its approval of a bill introduced in the legislature by Senator Labor. An amendment to the bill would place the state milk control board in charge of the administration of the milk control laws. The bill would also provide for the appointment of a state milk control officer, who would be responsible for the enforcement of the laws. The bill would also set up a state milk control board, which would consist of five members, appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The board would have the power to make rules and regulations for the administration of the law.

Bakery Drivers In Twin Cities
Send Strike Notes

The Minneapolis and St. Paul Bakery Drivers Union has sent strike notes to the members of the union. The notes state that the union will go on strike if the company does not agree to the union's demands for a higher wage and better working conditions. The strike is expected to begin on Monday, March 4th.

Conference Report Made To Local 471

After hearing delegates from the ILGWU, the TLAU, and the Textile Workers Union present their reports to Local 471, the delegates voted to support the union's demands for higher wages and better working conditions.

We Who Favor a Sales Tax?

You can get a sales tax on anything. A government will pass a law to raise money by taxing a commodity and a company will put a tax on it. The tax is levied on the rich and distribution is through services to the people who are used, in the need, an equitable tax. The poor get more of the burden of the tax than the rich get of the tax. The poor may get the services of the state but they don't get any of the benefits of the tax, which the rich get. The poor may get a dollar for a dollar of the tax but they may get a dollar for a penny of the tax. The poor may not be able to buy the services of the state but they may be able to buy the commodities they need, which is the poor's right, but they may not be able to buy the services of the state, which is the rich's right.

The burden of the tax is on the rich and the distribution is through services to the people who are used, in the need, an equitable tax. The poor get more of the burden of the tax than the rich get of the tax. The poor may get the services of the state but they don't get any of the benefits of the tax, which the rich get. The poor may get a dollar for a dollar of the tax but they may get a dollar for a penny of the tax. The poor may not be able to buy the services of the state but they may be able to buy the commodities they need, which is the poor's right, but they may not be able to buy the services of the state, which is the rich's right.

The burden of the tax is on the rich and the distribution is through services to the people who are used, in the need, an equitable tax. The poor get more of the burden of the tax than the rich get of the tax. The poor may get the services of the state but they don't get any of the benefits of the tax, which the rich get. The poor may get a dollar for a dollar of the tax but they may get a dollar for a penny of the tax. The poor may not be able to buy the services of the state but they may be able to buy the commodities they need, which is the poor's right, but they may not be able to buy the services of the state, which is the rich's right.
Keeping Step With 544
By Mickey Dunne

Well, the letterer Content moves one or two boxes faster than the most splendid letters I have ever seen.

Tell me in your own way what kind of happiness your eyes bring to your happy home. Ten dollars a month might have been more than enough.

I am sure that for the second best, you needn't worry very much. One year in advance, a bit of money saved, with a little more, will win a prize.

To Leدل 544:

Don't be too desperate. You can slap the old spirit up... For the second best, you needn't worry very much. One year in advance, a bit of money saved, with a little more, will win a prize.

New Move To "Get" Carstanter

Joel E. Bailey of the Minneapolis branch of the National Labor Union, reports that Dr. Eugene Carstanter's declaration that a "general strike" is the means to meet the present situation, has been unappealing to the labor movement. The report states that there has been no action taken by the national labor union to order a general strike, although some local unions have expressed the opinion that a general strike is necessary.

Coming up this Wednesday in the United States labor movement, there will be a general strike of all workers in the textile industry. This strike is expected to last for six months. According to union officials, the strike is necessary to protect the interests of the workers and to improve working conditions.

The strike has been authorized by a majority vote of the workers in the textile industry. The strike is expected to last for six months. According to union officials, the strike is necessary to protect the interests of the workers and to improve working conditions.

Anti-Labor Bosses Want Own Dictator
In As Police Chief

Bosse See Eide Victory in City Election, Want to Retain

The Minneapolis labor movement has been divided over the question of seeing their control of the police department transferred to the hands of the labor movement. The Minneapolis Central Labor Union has been pressing for a change in the police department, and on the other hand, the Minneapolis police department has been opposing any such change. The Minneapolis Central Labor Union has been pressing for a change in the police department, and on the other hand, the Minneapolis police department has been opposing any such change.

The Minneapolis Central Labor Union has been pressing for a change in the police department, and on the other hand, the Minneapolis police department has been opposing any such change.

The Minneapolis Central Labor Union has been pressing for a change in the police department, and on the other hand, the Minneapolis police department has been opposing any such change.

The Minneapolis Central Labor Union has been pressing for a change in the police department, and on the other hand, the Minneapolis police department has been opposing any such change.