New Typesetting Machine Threatens Jobs of Workers

The news-hating B. E. Daily printing company of Chicago, printer of LIFE and TIME magazines, has taken a further step in its strategy of eliminating the typesetter by replacing the typesetter with a 250-worker typesetting machine. The machine, which can produce 100 pages per hour, is designed to replace the typesetter in the production of the Los Angeles Times, the Chicago Sun-Times, and the Chicago Tribune. The move has caused widespread concern among the typesetting community, with many unions and industry leaders expressing concern about the impact on jobs and the potential loss of skilled craftsmanship.
