MILITANT WORKERS OF EUROPE SECURE MILLIONS IN WAGES

Militancy of European Workers Seen in Recent Victories in England, France and Belgium.

Washington—The international labor exploiters told us during the final months of the war that revolution and peace would bring no better conditions for the working classes of the world. They were right. While the war lasted, trade unionists, factory workers, and shop workers, striking and demonstrating for higher wages, better hours, and better working conditions, were retreating before the combined forces of capital and militarism. But now that the war is ended, and the defeated nations have become masters of their own destinies, the workers are organizing themselves once more from their capitalist oppressors. In some countries the workers are exacting reparations from the defeated powers for the damage done to the labor movement during the war. In other countries they strike against private employers, in other countries they strike against the government. In every country the workers are fighting the labor exploiters in the color of their flags.

ENGLAND.

Two weeks ago unions in England started the strike which is now raging in the cotton mills and the coal mines. The trade unions are demanding an eight-hour day with a ten-cent an hour increase in the wages of coal miners. The strike is going on in force in the cotton mills. The coal miners have been on strike for several weeks, but the coal-mine owners have refused to give the desired wage increase. The miners are now engaged in a strike which is expected to last for a long time. The trade unions are demanding an eight-hour day with a ten-cent an hour increase in the wages of coal miners. IT'S BUSINESS WE'RE AFTER IT SEEMS

Although a tremendous amount of propaganda is going through, the different ideologies seem to be a little different for those who play the soapbox for the socialist cause. All men, beginners and professionals, have to be careful in the use of words. We are not so much interested in the words themselves as in the ideas they contain. The words may be different, but if the ideas behind them are the same, then the ends are being achieved.

GET RIGHT OR GET OUT.

"The principle that should guide the people in the field of production is that of production for the people. This is our goal, and it is our responsibility to work towards it."

GREAT DAY OUTING AT CLEVELAND.

"We, the socialist party of Ohio, are going to have a great day out in Cleveland on Sunday. The weather is perfect, and there is no better place for a socialist to be."

BIOTHEM.

"The Socialist worked for the eight-hour day for Cleveland police, but that was only a first step. The real battle is for the eight-hour day for all workers."

AVAILABE SPEAKERS.

"Here is a list of speakers from whom the public can choose. They have all been trained in the socialist cause, and are ready to speak on any topic that is of interest to the audience."
