ALL HOPE FOR CAPITALISM IN EUROPE FADES

Conservatives at Geneva See Complete Breakdown — Revolutions are Expected — Russia Doesn't Want Communist Germany on Her Hands but May Get It.

New York—FP—Intelligent and informed non-worker Europeans who have no particular stake in the existing economic order tend to doubt more and more whether the continuance of that order is either possible or desirable, according to Roger N. Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Baldwin has just returned from a tour of Europe which brought him in close contact with a number of outstanding non-labor intellectuals of various countries.

ARE LOOKING FOR REVOLUTION—

According to Baldwin, "Whatever may be said of the role of Geneva as the stronghold of capitalist power, any contact with the secretariat of the League of Nations or the International Labor Office reveals a surprising discontent with the whole capitalist system and its works.

This permanent international civil service sees only too clearly the ideological bankruptcy of the governments it serves, their inability to control economic forces, their enslavement to powers that would defeat whatever international arrangements they might make.

"I would not for a moment suggest that the secretariats of these organizations are prepared for revolution; I would say rather that they see no hope in the present governments or economic system. They would more gladly serve labor governments than capitalist, and they show a warm spot for Russia.

RUSSIA GETS MOST PUBLICITY—

"Russia at Geneva gets better than an even break. The press office of the League gives them more space than others because the press demands more. When a Russian speaks, the hall or room is crowded. Part of the interest is drama, part curiosity, part an unspoken conviction that Russia holds the key to the future. At the International Labor Office, with its pro-socialist bias, and its Russian section in the hands of anti-bolsheviks, there is uneasiness over this situation. They want to be fair—but how to avoid partisanship?

"I asked a leading official of the International Labor office how he expected to achieve even the minimum object of keeping existing labor standards in the face of depression, lowering wages and decreasing social insurance rates. He quite frankly admitted that no influence save the power of the trade unions in each country could hope to hold them. Paper agreements, though solemnly signed by governments, were, he confessed, worth nothing against economic forces. Planning under capitalism to control depression, now a popular subject among the intellectuals, is dismissed with a smile."

GERMANY IS A PUZZLE—

Germany is teetering on the brink, says Baldwin. But on the brink of what? Each of the 30 or 40 Germans and Americans living in Germany whom Baldwin interviewed had a different forecast of the immediate future. This diversity of opinion is in itself an indication of the seething state of German social and political life, in Baldwin's view. No such diversity was encountered regarding any other European country.

Most of the people interviewed believed that a government of Hitler's National Socialists (Nazis) was not at present a political possibility. The tendency in politics is to the left in spite of the admitted weakness of the left leadership, and in spite of the fact that Russia does not want communist Germany on its hands, Baldwin said.

If the economic crisis of last June is repeated he expects an active and more or less spontaneous movement from below, designed to overthrow the government. There was much truth, he believes, in the statement attributed to Lloyd George, that "as long as there is a potato left in Germany, there will be no revolution," but capitalist Germany will not be able to save itself so easily another time.

13,000 CHICAGO INSTRUCTORS HAVE PAYLESS PAY DAY

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Pay day came again this week—without any pay day, for Chicago's 13,000 public school teachers.

They have received no cash for their services since last April, although some have accepted scrip from time to time, only to find it almost valueless. They were not even offered scrip in lieu of this week's $3,000,000 payroll because an injunction suit against further issuance of "Civil War Money" is pending.

The city is totally without money to pay the teachers. There is no prospect of any until the first of next year when the state legislature presumably may devise a financial scheme to ease Chicago's bankruptcy.

The various teachers' organizations reported that many of the school ma'ams were in desperate circumstances. One was reported who walked 16 blocks to and from school daily because she could not afford 7 cents carfare. Another lost her home because she could not keep up her payments. Others were reported in the clutches of four sharks, while nearly all had run up large bills with kindly grocers and merchants.

An ill fated tax reapportionment scheme, which held up collections from property owners for more than two years, is responsible for the teachers' difficulties.

AGED WOMAN HAD HUGE SUM HIDDEN IN HOTEL ROOM

New York, Oct. 12.—The discovery of an additional $500,000 in currency in a hidden pocket in her skirt today brought Mrs. Ida Mayfield Wood's hoard of cash and securities to near the million mark.

The 93 year old woman was taken last week from the hotel room in which she lived alone, and placed under a guardian's care. A nurse, observing the aged woman furtively counting money, waited until she dozed and then extracted a canvas bag from her skirt. It was in 10 packages, each containing five $10,000 bills. Earlier in the week authorities found about $400,000 in currency and securities in Mrs. Wood's Herald Square hotel room. It had been stuck away in trunks which contained her faded finery.

But it had not been determined whether this $900,000 represents the total wealth of the widow of (Continued on Last Page)

BANDITS ROB INDIANA BANK OF $4,000.00, SHOOT UP TOWN, ESCAPE

Lizton, Ind., Oct. 13.—Reminiscent of the depredations of the James boys, a gang of safe blowers early today wrecked the Lizton State Bank, shot up the town and escaped with approximately $4,000 in currency and negotiable securities.

The robbers, in two automobiles obtained hammers, crowbars and axes from a nearby railroad shed, broke their way into the bank through a side window and then opened the front door. For an hour and a half a series of nitroglycerine charges were set off until the door on the time lock safe finally gave way, crashing through a partition of the banking room.

Meanwhile Marion Bailey, 72, president of the bank, who lives across the street, engaged in a gun fight with a bandit who was barricaded behind a pile of benches in front of the bank building. Residents of the village of 200 inhabitants midway between Indianapolis and Crawfordsville, were unable to communicate with authorities as the robbers had cut all telephone and telegraph lines. Rather than face the gunfire of the bandits, they remain in their homes while the wrecking of the bank was completed. Damage to the bank interior and the building probably will exceed $2,000, it was estimated.

Picking up their loot the robbers commenced firing in all directions, to intimidate the citizens and drove out of town.

JASPER REUTER CROSSES DIVIDE

Jasper Reuter, 68, passed away at his home in Plentywood Sunday afternoon, October 11, 1931 at 3.30. He had been a sufferer from cancer for some time.

Besides his widow he leaves to mourn his passing four children, Nick Reuter, Mrs. Elmer Gooder Mrs. Claude Winands and Mrs. Carl West all of Plentywood, and seven grandchildren. Three brothers and three sisters also survive. They are Nick of San Diego, Calif., Peter of Carlos, Minn., Phillip of Grand Forks and Mrs. Annie Ritter of Minneapolis, Mrs. Kate Thomas of Eureka, Montana and Mrs. Josephine Delker of Alexandria, Minn.

Jasper Reuter was born in Carver county, Minnesota on March 26, 1863. He was married to Helena Hendricks in Minnesota forty-two years ago. He lived there until about 18 years ago when he moved west locating with his family here in Plentywood where he has since made his home. He conducted a livery stable here.

Mr. Reuter had many close friends who mourn his passing and who will miss him greatly. Funeral services were conducted with the Rev. Father Platschmer officiating and interment was made in the local Catholic cemetery.

Plentywood Boy in Band At Montana University

Special to Producers News—Missoula, Oct. 14.—Myron Johnson, Scooby, and Arnold Peterson, Plentywood, students at the state university, are members of the Grizzly Band this year. They will make the trip to Butte for the annual Bobcat game, Oct. 31.

According to Director Roy Freeburg, late registration has brought the membership of the band up to a new high mark. It will be necessary to cut the group down to the allotted 42 for the Butte game.

DISTRIBUTION of Free Potatoes IS COMMENCED

The first carload of donated, free potatoes arrived in Plentywood Tuesday. The potatoes are handled by the Red Cross with Hank Leverenz, in charge of distribution, dishing them out in ten bushel lots per family as fast as he can.

More carloads are expected to arrive soon not only in Plentywood but also in the other towns scattered over the county, and it is expected that everybody will at least have plenty of potatoes to eat this winter.

Another carload of free potatoes has been shipped into Westby and is now being unloaded and distributed among the people of that vicinity.

Mass Meeting and Parade of Agrarian Organization Draws Throng; No Untoward Events

CONG. S. LEAVITT VISITS PLE'WOOD

On his trip thru this part of the state Congressman Scott Leavitt visited at the Producers News office for some time Tuesday morning. Mr. Leavitt is making a survey of the drought stricken area of the state and at the same time fixing up his political fences.

His attention was called to the fact that the conditions in this part of the state were worse than he probably anticipated; that most of the people in the county would be in need between now and next harvest of feed and seed as well as food and clothing. The Congressman promised he would do his best to relieve the situation.

At noon Mr. Leavitt had lunch at the Elgin Cafe together with some of the more prominent politicians and business men. It was generally agreed that it would be best not to say too much about the drought situation and the needs of the people to the outside world as it would possibly harm the business and political situation in this section.

So the congressman left town after visiting with some of the well-to-do, well dressed and well fed people. He finds that we are building a sixty thousand dollar addition to our school house. He goes to the next town and meets with the same class of people and after he is through with this "survey" he goes back to Washington like Secretary Hyde and tells them we are more scared than hurt.

He did not meet with the hundreds of people in every one of our little towns who do not know where their next meal is coming from and who are facing a winter with no work, no money, no food, no clothing and no coal in sight. He did not meet with the thousands of farmers who are now facing eviction and starvation after spending a life time improving the country and producing enough to keep them for a thousand years had it not been taken away from them by some political trickery.

No, Mr. Leavitt did not see these people—it is his political duty not to see them. It is his political duty to go back to Washington and tell them that the Hoover administration has created great prosperity and that we are more scared than hurt. And our local politicians agreed with him. Telling the things just as they are would hurt our business and would give the present administration a bad reputation.

LOSES CATTLE

Ray Stoner lost two milk cows recently from the effects of eating the green shoots from around corn stalks on which a certain fungus grows. A number of other cattle belonging to Mr. Stoner and John Carroll are slowly recovering from the ailment. There is a serum which may be administered which will cure the malady if given in time. A timely call on the veterinary may save several valuable animals.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS RUSHING TO CHINA WATERS BATTLE ZONE

Struggle for Colonies Grows—Countries Arming—Massing of Heavy Forces Near Russia Continues as Japan Keep Spreading Troops Through Manchuria—Scores of Ships of War Being Moved to Strategic Points.

New York, Oct. 14.—While Japanese imperialism pushes its war to make Manchuria completely a Japanese colony, the American government has quietly been rushing 20 warships to Chinese waters in order to get its share of the colonies. The latest news of the direct military action of United States imperialism published in the New York Evening Graphic, states that "the United States moved a score of its war ships into strategic points within the 'battle zone'."

This has been going on for some time, though the capitalist press has kept the matter quiet, while Wall Street prepared its armed forces to share in the colonial plunder of China, and to build up the war front against the Soviet Union in Manchuria. The Graphic, telling of the se-

HOME OF OLD CAT TO BE SOLD

San Gabriel, Calif., Oct. 10.—The last chapter in the monetary affairs of the world's wealthiest cat, Mitzi, a blue angora which died, "intestate" last April, will be written here next week.

A Los Angeles auctioneer will ask for bids on the $10,000 furnishings to the $25,000 home that Mitzi had occupied. The home had been maintained solely as a home for the cat after its mistress, Dr. Maud Cain Ide, died in October 1930.

Mitzi, who was 18 years of age when she died under mysterious circumstances, it is reported, had been willed the home by its mistress, and Dr. Ide's companion, Mrs. Pauline Goetz, was named as guardian and allowed to remain in the home with the cat. Now that Mitzi is dead, the furnishings of the home will be sold at auction and the proceeds added to the $265,000 estate left by the cat's late mistress. The estate was left largely to charity.

G.B. SHAW LAUDS SOVIET OVER AIR

In Trans-Atlantic Radio Address Famous English Author Asserts Russia Now Has the Laugh on Us With Huge Budget Surplus.

New York, Oct. 12.—George Bernard Shaw in a trans-Atlantic broadcast to the United States today maintained "Russia has the laugh on us."

The bearded Irish philosopher and playwright, speaking from London defended communism and the soviet government in Russia, which he recently visited. The program rebroadcast over a nationwide hookup was his first radio speech exclusively for Americans. "Russia has us fooled, beaten, shamed, shown up, outpointed and has all but knocked us out," Shaw asserted.

"We have lectured her from the heights of our modern superiority and now we are calling on the mountains to hide our blushes in her presence."

"Russia flaunts her budget surplus, her people employed to the last man and woman, her scientific agriculture doubling and trebling her harvests, her roaring and multiplying factories, her efficient rulers, her atmosphere of such hope and security for the poorest as has never before been seen in a civilized country on earth."

Shaw, compared the overthrow of the czarist regime in 1917 to the American revolution. "Lenin and his friends took command of the soviets and established the union of socialist soviet republics," he said, "exactly as Washington and Jefferson and Hamilton and Franklin and Tom Payne had established the United States of America 141 year ago."

In his characteristic deep voice he added: "A word or two of consolation to those 'who have been telling one another for a month that I have gone dotty about Russia:'

"After all," he remarked, "some of the most wonderful things the Russians are doing were suggested 60 years ago by Americans, many of whom have been sent to jail for their pains."

NEW CITY WELL GIVES SUPPLY OF SOFT AQUA

In another couple of weeks the new city well at the fire hall will be completed it is expected. The last well casings have been wired for and should be here shortly. The well has been drilled to a depth of 258 1/2 feet, the water rising to within 1 3/4 feet of the top. At the depth of 130 feet the well was tested and produced 20 gallons per minute. At the present depth it is estimated the well will produce at least 30 gallons per minute, which at this time of the year will supply the needs of the town. The water is reported to be of a nice soft quality—just the very kind the women of Plentywood have been looking for. A sample of the water has been sent away for analysis.

In the evening everybody who could possibly squeeze inside the temple was entertained for about three hours by a well planned program in which local talent did its best, and did it well—some real acting, singing, dancing and speaking was enjoyed by the packed house. After the program everybody stepped on everybody else's toes to the tune of old time music until after midnight. The energy of the rising and retiring generation was so inexhaustible that the orchestra played Home Sweet Home about twelve-thirty but after a short respite and the tender of a few extra shekels were induced to continue the dance. In the attempt to "tag out" the marathon fast two-step was played and kept going continuously for fifteen minutes but the enthusiasm of the dancers was too great and the orchestra (Continued on Last Page)

GOVERNORS REACH COMPROMISE WITH SECRETARY HYDE

The new feed loan regulations agreed upon last week by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and the governors of Montana, North and South Dakota followed conferences extending over several days in which the states' chief executives sought modification of agriculture department regulations.

(The maximum loan per family was reduced to $500 from $1,000.

Loans for livestock feed henceforth will be made for 20 head of cattle, six horses, 100 sheep and 10 brood sows at the rate of $3 per head for horses and cattle, 30 cents for sheep and $1 per brood sow.

A compromise was reached on the question of mortgages, the government agreeing to accept second mortgages, except where prior liens exceed $25 per head on work horses; $30 on milk and purebred cows; $17.50 on stock cows; $20 on two-year-old milk stock and purebred heifers; $15 on two-year-old stock heifers; $10 on yearling beef stock; $2.75 on sheep and $6 on brood sows.

The regulations provide prior mortgage holders shall not foreclose their liens before Sept. 30, 1932, without consent of the agriculture department.

Applications to Dec. 1. Applications will be received until Dec. 1 from farmers in Montana, North and South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Nebraska, Wyoming and Minnesota. The loans cover five months feeding and mature Sept. 30, 1932.

JOBLESS MAN SENDS WIFE AND CHILDREN OUT AND KILLS SELF

Denver, Oct. 14.—Thomas Folger, 33, a garage worker who had been many months without a job, called his two little daughters, June, 19, and Marjorie, 8, to his side in the squalid room they called home.

"Take this quarter," he told them, forcing a smile, "go to the store and buy yourselves an ice cream cone. Better take mother along, too."

Mrs. Vera Folger protested. She knew it was her husband's last bit of money. But seeing the girldance about in expectancy, she put on her wraps and took them to the store.

As soon as they were out upon the street, Folger went to a clothes closet, took an old rifle out, placed the barrel against his temple and pulled the trigger.

When the wife and happy kiddies returned they found him dead. Mrs. Folger told police her husband had tramped the streets for months looking for work.

"He was unable to see us in want, any longer," she said.

COL. LINDBERGH'S NEW PALATIAL MANSION ON HILL TOP IS FINISHED

Workmen Now Adding the Final Touches to Interior of Building—Watchmen Guard It Day and Night—No Visitors Allowed.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 13.—When the Lindberghs return to New Jersey from their abandoned world flight, next week, they will find their new home on Sourland mountain almost ready for occupancy. With the exterior completed, workmen are now making their final touches to the interior and expect to have the 10-room Tudor stone house in order within three weeks.

Whatever the contents of the large white building, which from some directions can be seen for miles only the workmen and a few intimates can tell—and they won't. Outside the door stands a sign informing those who have driven up over the steep, narrow and rocky road that leads to the Lindberghs' new estate, that no visitors are allowed inside.

All day and night the new home is guarded by watchmen who are polite to visitors but rarely give direct answers to questions.

The "front yard" of the 550-acre tract, in which is located the flying colonel's private landing field, is criss-crossed with vestiges of old stone fences, placed there by farmers over a period of two centuries.

Narrow, shady lanes, walled in by rows of sapling maples and underbrush, have grown along the stone fences.

The outline of the building describes a rectangle about 70 feet long by 40 feet wide, with the longest sides as the front and back. The terrace, floored with large flat-surfaced rocks, irregularly placed, extends the full length of the front. Five sets of French doors, evenly spaced, connect it with the interior. From that terrace, Mrs. Lindbergh will be able to see her husband home before his arrival as he flies home from his New York office.

The back door, which suggests the entrance to such colonial taverns as adorn Christmas cards, opens into a paved parking space. From that leads the rocky "road" to town which discourages many would be visitors from seeing the Lindbergh estate.

At one end of the house is a small roofed porch, concealed from the roadside. Facing that is a pump house of the same materials as the house.

Workmen skillfully placed the thatched slate shingles on the roof to give the appearance of wooden shingles distorted by the rains and sleet of generations.

Long ago the Sourland mountain country interested historians, geologists and seekers of "atmospheres."

Geologists have shown interest in it because it provides an excellent example of how trap rock centuries ago melted and forced its way up through layers of shale to form the "backbone" of a mountain ridge. On the slopes can be seen evidence of shale having

SAVING THE COUNTRY

That President Hoover will try his luck for a second term seems to be agreed upon by almost everybody who is studying the political situation. Millions were spent on getting him elected once and millions are going to be spent on getting his elected a second time. He has served those with the millions well — they know they can depend on him.

What some of us out here in the wide open spaces have been wondering is what are they going to tell the American people when they come around asking them to vote for Hoover a second time?

They can tell us about the Farm Board of course, but by this time the Farm Board is regarded by practically everybody as a flop — more and more people are coming to the conclusion that it was never intended for anything but a flop and that the 500 million dollars is that much of the people's money thrown away.

That the president stalled off a revolution in Germany by giving a moratorium to the German money lenders is something not appreciated by the American people. The 400 million dollar loan to England might be another feather in Hoover's hat as far as saving England is concerned but there is nothing there for the ordinary American voter to go wild over. Neither have the disarmament talks given by Hoover made much of a hit with the public. They have been taken for what they were — just that much talk.

That the conditions have grown worse by leaps and bounds during the Hoover administration, until about one-third of the population is practically on the bread line, is something we all know. Finding some way of boosting the present administration looks to us as being a hopeless job and we have been waiting for something to happen.

Last week it came. All the leading papers came out with big headlines. Our great engineer has saved the day. Hoover has solved the problem and saved his country. Prosperity is no longer just around the corner but right before us.

Forming a 500 million dollar Finance Corporation was the solution, for the purpose of buying up "frozen assets" and saving the little banks. When a cow is mortgaged for $50 and the price of the cow drops down to $10, that $50 note becomes what they call a frozen asset. Buying up these papers is what the new corporation is supposed to do. What on, which they might do if they can buy the papers cheap enough. But selling papers cheap is not going to save the small banks.

Well, they had to have something to make a noise over. Between now and election we will have more of it.

A FULL YEAR'S WORK

Down on the farm, 'bout half past four, I slip on my pants and sneak out of the door. Out to the yard I run like the dickens, To milk ten cows and feed the chickens, Clean out the barn, curdy Nance and Jiggs, Separate the cream and slop all the pigs. Work two hours, then eat like a Turk, And, by heck, I'm ready for a full day's work. Then I grease the wagon and put on the rack, Throw a jug of water in an old grain sack, Hitch up the horses, hustle down the lane, Must get the hay in for it looks like rain. Look over yonder, sure as I'm born Cattle's on the rampage and cows in the corn. Start across the meadow, run a mile or two, Heaving like I'm windbroke, get wet clean through. Get back to the horses, then for recompense, Nance got straddle the barbed wire fence. Joints all a-aching, and muscles in a jerk I'm fit as a fiddle for a full day's work. Work all summer till winter is nigh, Then figure up the books, and heave a big sigh. Worked all year, didn't make a thing, Got less cash now than I had last spring. Now, some people say that there ain't no hell, But they never farmed, so they cannot tell. While the fringe grows longer on my old pants, Give my spenders a hitch, my belt another jerk. And, by heck, I'm ready for a full year's work.

HOW PEOPLE LIVE IN RICHEST COUNTRY IN THE WORLD

Dr. Ruth Fox, researcher at the Fifth Avenue Hospital in New York, makes a report on the health of miners' children in West Virginia. The average weight is 12 per cent below normal. The diet of pinto beans, potatoes and sowbels gives them no resistance to disease. The children are unable to go to school so they receive none of the free preventative medical service given to school children. None of the children examined were given milk since they were weaned and they had meat only on rare occasions. The only change in diet was the berries they might be able to pick. The average family of these West Virginia miners consists of seven persons.

Dr. Fox also reports that the non-union miner in that state owes the company anywhere from $7 to $17 for every two weeks' work he puts in.

She also reports that 20 per cent of the children die because of lack of nourishment to enable them to resist disease.

Perhaps John D. might send eight dimes to these miners if he could read this report.

What gripes us is that they call this civilization.

RULES FOR THE CONDUCT OF THE NEXT WAR

(From the Portland, Oregon News)

It seems to have been determined, by the bankrupt minds that operate the world, that the only solution for present troubles is "another war."

A new war will, it is hoped, kill off surplus labor. This is obviously the easiest means of getting rid of it, and the "best minds" will, as usual, take the easiest way.

It is so much easier to start a war than to apply common sense to world ills.

Well, if we are going to have another war, we might as well have some rules for it. The last war was fought, as the politicians say "irregardless" of rules — and it was pretty much of a mess. We offer, for public approval, a model set of rules:

1. That the manufacturers of army raincoats be compelled to wear their own product, pay their own doctor bills when stricken with pneumonia, and defray their own funeral expenses.

2. That all congressmen and senators voting for war be given the choice of enlisting in the shock troops or being shot on the capitol steps.

3. That all manufacturers of war supplies be hanged when their profits reach the million-dollar mark.

4. That uplift agencies, charged with the moral welfare of the troops, be prohibited from shipping cash registers into the war zone.

5. That all Four-Minute speakers be shot at the completion of their first two minutes of oratory.

6. That all holy men who announce to their congregations that the Almighty is fighting with us be dispatched to interview Him personally on the subject and find out.

7. That each battleship, cruiser, destroyer and submarine carry, as excess baggage, one or more stockholders in battleship building concerns.

8. That the secret service be restrained from the discovery of "enemy plots" every time somebody turns on a light in the parlor.

9. That paper manufacturers be prohibited from entering the shoe making trade.

10. That restaurant proprietors near concentration camps be enjoined from having two menus — one for civilians and one, the higher prices, for soldiers.

11. That college professors be stopped from delving into history to prove that the enemy always was a low-down scoundrel, anyway.

12. That the cause of war shall be clearly stated to the people as the reduction of unemployment, and not disguised as "a holy war to save civilization."

There are, of course, many more rules needed. But these will suffice for a starter. We suggest their adoption by luncheon clubs, sewing circles, debating societies and other cultural agencies, and their transmission, with resolutions urging their passage, to congress.

HOLY CHRISTOFER!

(From Labor)

"Christopher Christ, forty-eight, who said he had lived until recently at 248 W. 48th St., collapsed early today on Eighth Ave., just below 42nd St. Physicians said Christ was suffering from starvation. Christ said he had spent yesterday walking about the city seeking employment. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital." — From the New York Post, Oct. 1.

However, although Christ came to Manhattan and found no place to lay his head, it was not for lack of good hotels. While Christ was wandering, homeless and starving, through the streets, from Washington the voice of President Hoover was booming over the air, saluting the opening of the new Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Why should Christ have no bed? Here 12,000 guests assembled in the forty-seven storied palace of exclusiveness, to listen to the fat-headed executive of American capitalism gabble from Washington as follows:

"Our hotels have come to be conducted in far larger vision than mere profit making... The opening of the new Waldorf-Astoria... carries on a great tradition in national hospitality."

But Christ held no invitation. "National hospitality" did not register.

The N. Y. Times sang thus of the opening night:

"Every dining room has been engaged for tonight... For the fruit cocktail only, there will be 10,000 oranges, pears, apples and pineapples. There will be 200 gallons of soup, 100 pounds of fresh Russian caviar, and 1200 lobsters. Vegetables and meat run up into the tons."

But Christ was broke. Christ didn't even hear Hoover's speech from Washington telling how the Waldorf-Astoria was not at all interested in "mere profit making." Thus it came about that the papers reported:

"Physicians said Christ was suffering from starvation."

Jesus Christ!

SHERIFF THREATENS TO CLOSE RELIEF KITCHENS

(From Labor)

Striking coal miners are forbidden to picket in Washington County, Pennsylvania "to eliminate danger to children going to schools." If they continue to picket, their relief stations will be closed.

This is the edict of Sheriff J. A. Seaman. Miners at Avella greeted the order with derision. The children Sheriff Seaman says he is protecting from the miners are none other than the miners' own ragged boys and girls, they say. The nature of Seaman's desire to protect them is his threat to cut off the relief supplies on which they are existing. They are being fed by the Penn-Ohio miners' relief organization, supported by the Workers International Relief.

GERMAN REICHSTAG CONVENES UNDER ARMED POLICE GUARD

Berlin, Oct. 14. — The reichstag heavily guarded by police against disorder, convened today with the reorganized cabinet of Chancellor Brüning seeking a vote of confidence to continue the dictatorial government-by-decree.

The nationalist opposition, fighting to overthrow the government and have a general election did not appear at the start of the session. The entire cabinet, frock-coated, was seated on the government bench. Brüning was pale and intent. As soon as the session convened, Ernst Torgler, a communist, demanded withdrawal of the police forces around the reichstag; Wilhelm Groener, minister of defense, whose police powers were made much wider in the cabinet reorganization, sat red-cheeked and unmoved.

Brüning faced the packed galleries and read the government's declaration of policy; obviously aware that the government's fate might be decided by a narrow margin, he spoke earnestly and in a quiet voice. The new cabinet, he said, would pursue a policy of world wide peace and deconciliation in the same spirit as in recent international negotiations, especially the Franco-German conversations. At home, the cabinet would press for economic reconstruction.

He remarked that the army was able to cope with all possible emergencies, an assurance that the government was prepared against a "putsch" by the Hitler-Hugenberg nationalist forces.

STATEMENT of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., required by the act of congress of August 24, 1912, of the Producers News published weekly at Plentywood, Montana for October, 1931.

County of Sheridan) ss.

Before me, a Notary Public, in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Hans Rasmussen, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of the Producers News and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in Section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are: Publisher: The Peoples Publishing Company, Plentywood, Mont. Editor: Charles E. Taylor, Plentywood, Montana.

Business Manager: Hans Rasmussen, Plentywood, Montana.

2. That the owners is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its address and name, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.)

The Peoples Publishing Company, Plentywood, Montana. Wm. Hass, Outlook, Mont., O. M. Lutes, McElroy, Mont., Jene Grayvold, Plentywood, Mont., Ollie Womack, Oxford, Nebraska; Rodney Salisbury, Plentywood, Mont., P. J. Wallace, Butte, Mont., Charles E. Taylor, Plentywood, Montana.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none so state.)

Howard M. Lewis, Plentywood, Mont., John Lindblom, Raymond, Mont., Selmer Espeland, McElroy, Montana.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner.

McElroy and his henchmen, Ed "Spike" O'Donnell, were thought by police to have perpetrated the attack. This theory gained weight Thursday when McElroy's bullet scarred body of Miss Miller was found near his stronghold. The female had been shot to death as had her two dogs.

Neighbors told police that McElroy had left an apartment with Miss Miller after hurriedly packing their belongings and the supposition was that the pair was fleeing from their enemies.

No trace had been found of McElroy.

Quigley, according to police, withdrew from the McElroy-O'Donnell combination several weeks ago and after recruiting a gang of hoodlums, began muscling into the territory controlled by his former associates. The McElroy-O'Donnell alliance also was being harassed by a group headed by Danny McGeorgehan, Joe Cainaki and George Downa. As a result, police said, a reign of terror exists among liquor dealers of the district while the three factions strive for the upper hand.

Jewish People Contribute to Mooney Defense Fund

Mooney Writes Letter to Jewish Leader Thanking Him for Sermon Wherein Mooney's Case Is Referred to as "Outstanding Example of Social Injustice in Modern History."

San Quentin Prison, Oct. 1, 1931.

Dr. Jacob J. Weinstein, San Francisco, California. My dear Dr. Weinstein:

I thank you heartily for your Yom Kippur sermon in which you refer to my case as "an outstanding example of social injustice in modern history."

I think of you, Dr. Weinstein, as truly representative of a great people whose devotion to even-handed justice has been traditional through the ages. And it can be said to the credit of the Jews that you demand justice for all men regardless of race, creed, or station in life.

Outstanding Jews throughout the United States have protested my prolonged imprisonment with full knowledge that I am the son of an Irish mother.

During the past 15 years, Jewish people of extensive means have frequently made generous contributions to my defense committee notwithstanding that I was a foundry workman most of my life, and a labor organizer at the time of my frame-up in 1916.

My long drawn out imprisonment has been brightened by many manifestations of Jewish tolerance and generosity and fealty to justice.

The late Dr. Jacob Nieto, Rabbi, took an active part in the movement to effect my release by means of an unconditional pardon.

Dr. Louis I. Newman has frequently raised his voice in my behalf.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York I count among my staunchest friends.

Considering the fullsome sympathy and material assistance extended to me by Jewish people throughout the world, including a warm letter from Dr. Albert Einstein, I am somewhat amazed by the report that your courageous utterances in my behalf have drawn criticism from some members of your congregation. If this be true, I'll venture to say that the critics are in conflict with the well-known traditions of Jewery.

I'm hoping a day will dawn when I shall emerge alive from this tomb of stone and steel which has held me these many years. And if the time ever comes when I can face the world and express my gratitude to those to whom my thanks are due, I will go rapping on Jewish doors till my knuckles bleed.

My 15 years of unwarranted penal servitude have convinced me that love of justice is universal, for I have received countless expressions of confidence and sympathy from all races and all creeds.

Thanking you again for your courageous words in my behalf, I remain

Sincerely yours,
TOM MOONEY,

Over-assessment Reported

Washington, Oct. 12. — An over assessment of $169,309 against the 1920 and 1921 income of W. A. Clark, Jr., of Butte, Montana, was reported to the joint congressional tax committee today by the treasury.

Idaho Wheat Crop

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 15. — Wheat production in Idaho was estimated today by J. H. Jacobson, federal crop statistician, to be 22,197,000 bushels this year, compared with 33,787,000 bushels a year ago.

Star to Open 1933 Fair Exhibits

How light from the giant star Arcturus, 240 trillion miles away, will open the science exhibits of the Century of Progress. Chicago's 1933 World's Fair, is shown in the above photo-diagram.

At 9 p. m. of June 1, 1933, when which left Arcturus in 1874 — year of Chicago's first world's fair — will reach the earth's surface and Yerk Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis. Light travels at the rate of 186,000 miles a second.

At Yerk Observatory the star light will be focused by means of the fifty-inch telescope on a tiny photo-electric cell. The impact of this light will cause an electric effect in the cell which, amplified, will send an impulse over wires to the exposition grounds.

This impulse will throw the necessary switches to open the science exhibits, turn on brilliant illumination and start ponderous machinery whirling.

The idea of harnessing Arcturus, forty light-years distant, originated with Prof. Edwin B. Frost, blind director of Yerk Observatory.

FARMERS SHARE SIX CENTS IN BREAD DOLLAR

He Was Getting 16 Cents at the Time When the Farm Board was Opening Up Shop.

Sir Sydney Campbell, British economist, criticizing the farm board writes:

"The main object of the board was announced as securing a larger percentage of the consumer's dollar for the producer. At the time of the board's inception only sixteen cents of every dollar paid by the Chicago housewife for bread was getting back to the man who grew the wheat."

"After more than two years of striving toward that end the United States wheat grower is getting only six cents of that dollar. Bread in Chicago, center of the world's largest producing area, which at this time has an unprecedented glut, is dearer than it was in England at the worst crisis of the war."

Having reduced the farmer's share of every dollar paid for bread, from 16 cents to 6 cents, why should the farm board be called a failure? On the other hand, the suspicion is growing throughout the west that it has been an unqualified success in increasing

"More genuine satisfaction than any car I ever owned"

THE FORD is good-looking. It is safe. Comfortable. Speedy. Reliable. Long-lived. Economical. Everything a good car should be.

There is, too, an added something about it that brings enthusiastic comments from every one who has ever driven a Ford... the joy it puts in motoring.

"I have been a car owner continuously for nearly 20 years," writes a motorist connected with a leading university. "During this period I have bought eleven new automobiles. Eight of the eleven were in the middle-price field, one cost three thousand dollars, and the last is a Ford I purchased thirteen months ago."

"In the light of this experience I can say in all sincerity that I have derived more genuine satisfaction from the Ford than any car I ever owned. In saying this, I am thinking in terms of comfort, safety, driving pleasure, ease of control and economy. My next car will also be a Ford because it will give me what I want at a price I can afford to pay."

When you get behind the wheel of the Ford and drive it yourself you will know it is a truly remarkable car at a low price. You will like it when you first buy it. You will become more and more enthusiastic the longer you drive it.

After thousands of miles of driving you will say "it's a great car." Its economy will save you many dollars.

The table for a Halloween Party may be most attractive as well as very spooky if the hostess selects for her color scheme ghostly white and mysterious black—also the giver of the party may have the satisfaction of knowing that she is doing the very smartest thing, for black and white in decoration of all kinds is the mode of the moment.
The table may be spread with a covering of black oilcloth along the edges of which have been pasted pure white shelf paper in a very open lacey pattern to form a decorative scallop. For the centerpiece a "haunted house" may be selected. It is possible to buy little white pasteboard houses in the toy departments of some shops, but if the only little house which you can find is colored, paint it white with perhaps black shutters.

Black and White Throughout
A low electric light must be set inside the house and ghostly cut-outs of black paper, such as a vague mysterious human figure, a black cat, a witch, or a skull, arranged so as to appear inside the windows. Outside upon the glittering black oilcloth may be placed a little brick walk, the path outlined in white, leading bricks outlined in white, leading to a gate in the white wooden fence which surrounds an imaginary garden. The fence may be bought at the ten-cent store as a part of a Noah's Ark equipment. Tiny crystal trees, procurable from the same shop, may be placed here and there in the garden. A witch's hat of black paper may hang on one of them, a toad may crouch under another, and upon the white fence may perch a black cat with gleaming green eyes.
If the table is a long one, white candles in white glass or silver candlesticks may be used for illumination, and white or silver bowls containing white flowers may be placed near each end. White paper-lace doilies, if used to indicate each guest's place, will be very smart and effective on the black oilcloth and the service should be of white china or glass if possible, if not, a white paper service costs very little. The women guests should be asked to come in white, and the men in black or white.

As much of the food as possible for such a party should be white—white ices, cakes with white icings, etc.
Caviar Stuffed Celery Hearts: Choose small tender hearts of celery and have them crisp and very cold. Keep a can of caviar on ice for at least three hours before using. Then season it with lemon juice and cayenne and stuff celery with it. May serve on white paper doilies on black plates or black paper doilies on white plates.

Chicken, Sweetbread and Pineapple Salad: Dice one 12-ounce can of chicken and add one cup cold diced sweetbreads, one-half cup halved and seeded white grapes and one 1-ounce can of pineapple tidbits. Season to taste with salt and white pepper and moisten with cream mayonnaise. Serve very cold in lettuce cups. Serves eight.

Lemon Mille Sherbet: Scald together one 1-pound can evaporated milk, one and one-fourth cups water, one cup cream and two cups sugar. Then chill thoroughly. Beat one egg well, add three-fourths cup lemon juice and add slowly to the milk. Freeze immediately. Serves eight.

A school entertainment was put on at the Ueland school house Friday evening. The program consisted of a short play followed by an operetta. The house was filled to overflowing with an appreciative audience. The performance was a credit to the teachers, Mrs. Grayham and Miss Anna Rice. The Farmers Union met Saturday evening having been postponed a week from its usual time of meeting. The evening was largely given to a discussion of hay shipments. The second carload of hay shipped in was unloaded Monday morning. At least two more cars will be ordered. John Shoal was delegated to go to Granville, N. D. at once to inspect some hay. It was believed that from now on the hay could be laid down for about $10.
Some barley was threshed out on the Ed. Negaard farm Saturday. The crop was good for this year.
The Lone Tree church has a male choir of fifteen voices which is practicing regularly. The Covertown school principal may act as their instructor. Mrs. Drengel is accompanist. The choir has been organized for a year.

Hail Invention of Tarnishproof Silver

NEW YORK—Announcement that Raymond W. Sheets, silverware manufacturer of Rockford, Ill., has perfected a process of producing tarnish-proof silver-plate tableware, is being received with keen interest by jewelers and silversmiths in all parts of the country.

"Mr. Sheets' discovery is one of the most outstanding achievements in the annals of silver-making," said a prominent jeweler here, "as metallurgical chemists throughout the world have been conducting experiments for many years to obtain a silver that will not blacken or tarnish. Of added interest both to jewelers and to housewives, the silver-plate was made by this new process has a bluish-white cast similar to that of polished solid silver."

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

On motion the county surveyor was granted a leave of absence from the state for a period of three days beginning Sept. 12, 1931.

On motion the minutes of the meeting held during August were read and approved as read.

At five o'clock p. m. the board adjourned until September 15, 1931 at nine o'clock a. m.

At nine o'clock a. m. September 15, 1931 the board resumed pursuant to adjournment made, all members of the board and the clerk present.

Several petitions were presented to the board and the board agreed to meet again on Sept. 16th for the purpose of considering said petitions.

This meeting was held for the purpose of auditing printing claims and was attended by Mr. Dolin and Mr. Syverson of the Taxpayers Association. The board spent the day considering disputed claims.

IMPRISONED FOR SCOFFING AT MILITIA, MAN IS FREED BY MOB OF FARMERS IN IOWA "CATTLE WAR"

New London, Iowa, Oct. 13. —Several hundred men stormed the New London jail at noon yesterday, broke off the lock and liberated Ronald Hart who had been arrested by national guardsmen when he allegedly scoffed at troopers who were attempting to disperse a gathering on the Lowell road. The gathering consisted mainly of farmers protesting against the state tuberculosis test law.

Hart had been turned over to Sheriff Hannah of Henry County who put him in the New London city jail.

It was not known where Hart was taken by his liberators. Troops were called but most of the farmers who had stormed the jail had left before the soldiers arrived.

Machine guns were at once mounted in the New London park. Officers said they believed that among those who freed Hart were some Cedar and Des Moines county farmers.

The militia in New London dispersed the groups of farmers on the streets but the children laughed and made fun of them. The guardsmen were sent to the McKinnon farm about four miles from here to meet a group of about 150 farmers who at first attempted to prevent the testing of McKinnon's cattle.

BIBLE WRITTEN IN MODERN LANGUAGE

Many Passages of Scriptures Have Been Changed Radically in the Translation.

Chicago, Oct. 5. —A modern American Bible, written in simple, vigorous and easy to read English, is in the making.

Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed is responsible for the new testament and Dr. J. M. Powis Smith for the old. The book will be off the University of Chicago presses early next month, the first complete translation of its kind.

The narrative runs along smoothly, almost as though it were an exquisitely written modern novel. The birth of Jesus, Luke 2:8-14, thus is described:

"There were some shepherds in that neighborhood keeping watch through the night over their flocks in the open fields. And an angel of the Lord stood by them, and they were terribly frightened. The angel said to them:

"Do not be frightened, for I bring you good news of a great joy that is felt by all the people, for today, in the town of David, a Savior for you has been born, who is your Messiah and Lord. And this will prove it to you: You will find a baby wrapped up and lying in a manger."

"Suddenly there appeared with the angel a throng of the heavenly hosts, praising God saying: "Glory to God in heaven and earth! Peace to the men he favors!"

The prophets too are simplified, until they sound like the most modern of epigrams. For instance: "All the ways of a man are pure in his own eyes; but the Lord weighs the motives."

"A snivish man's thoughts are ice-cold; but the words on his lips are like a scorching fire."

China in the struggle for colonies. Thousands of the Chinese masses are being slaughtered, and as the Chinese workers in Shanghai rise in protest the Nanking government beats them down, jailing hundreds. The concentration of these armed forces near Manchuria shows the growing danger of war against the Soviet Union.

Every worker must rally against the approaching imperialist war.

AGED WOMAN

Benjamin Wood, once owner of a long defunct newspaper called the New York Daily News. Fourteen trunks in a storage warehouse are yet to be examined.

The nurse reported to Otis F. Wood, the aged woman's recently appointed guardian and nephew of her husband, that she had seen Mrs. Wood put something inside the waist of her dress. Wood suggested that the nurse wait until her charge went to sleep and then investigate.

After a hasty examination of the contents, Wood, realizing the danger of exciting his aunt, put slips of paper into the bag and replaced it. He deposited the money to her credit in a bank—for safekeeping.

Before Mrs. Wood discovers the substitution, her nephew hopes he and his brothers will have won her confidence.

Near the Lindbergh home is the "rock house" with a cleavage large enough to conceal a man. John Hart, a signer of the declaration of independence, is said to have hidden there to escape British soldiers dispatched there from Trenton to capture him.

Close to this is the "Balanced rock" a heavy boulder left neatly balanced on a natural pedestal by the erosion of ages.

Colonel Lindbergh and his wife chose the home site from the sky soon after their marriage. It is situated too high for fogs and faces the busiest air lane in the world, between Newark and Camden. In the distance beacons of two airports flash at night.

chestra had to call it quits about one-thirty and thus ended a perfect day.

The Plentywood officials had the fire hose out but did not make any use of it, and it was just as well that they didn't. After it was all over the pulse and respiration of some of the business people of Plentywood returned to normalcy—the wild and unreasonable rumors circulated before the meeting did not materialize so they are storing away their war paraphernalia.

U. S. WARSHIPS

crecy of these open maneuvers, says:

"Shifting of the United States ships from various ports on the Pacific ocean and China Sea has been quietly going on for the past two weeks, it was learned today under orders from the Bureau of Navigation in Washington. No official statement has been made."

The dispatching of warships to the Manchurian "war zone" took place at a time when Japanese imperialism likewise was concentrating its armed forces in Chinese waters. The armed forces of both imperialist powers are moving forward to strengthen their respective drive for colonies—and at the same time they are moving closer to the Soviet Union.

American imperialism is not only sending its naval forces, but the news leaked out yesterday that Major General John L. Hines, commander of the Philippines department of the United States Army, one of the largest divisions of Wall Street's military forces, is making a hurried trip on a battleship to China, in connection with the Japanese situation in Manchuria.

Before that, Stimson had been taking a direct hand to strengthen Wall Street's share in Manchuria, though in public statements the state department repeated its false policy of "amicable settlement." Stimson sent Lawrence E. Salisbury, second secretary of the United States embassy in Tokyo and George C. Hanson, consul general in Harbin, to southern Manchuria "to investigate" the situation.

Meanwhile, Japanese imperialism is rushing to fasten its grip on Manchuria. Airplane bombing is increasing. The latest report discloses the fact that Japanese planes dropped 50 bombs in the attempt to demolish the Chikow railway station. At the same time the Japanese are creating native puppet autonomy movements to do away with their former ally, Marshall Chang Hseu-liang.

The armed strength of Japanese and U. S. imperialism in China, according to the Graphic, is now as follows:

"At present there are more than a score of United States ships, including cruisers, destroyers, gunboats and submarines at various ports in China. The United States Ship Houston the flagship of the Asiatic fleet, and three other American men-of-war are at Nanking, with other ships at Shanghai, Chungking, Hong Kong, Amoy, Wuhu, Hsin Ho, Ichang, Swatow, Changsha, Chefoo and Kiungang. "The Japanese government today ordered five Japanese warships and 400 marines to reinforce their fleet in Shanghai. In addition, 14 Japanese warships have been ordered to Hankow, Chingkiang, Shasi, Ichang, Chefoo, Chungking, Port Arthur, Lintow, Tsingtao, Nanking, Wuhu, Kiungang and Changsha."

Ohio Sheriff Wont Evict the Workers Without Jobs

Cleveland, Ohio. — Unemployed workers who are unable to pay their rent will not be thrown out into the streets, Sheriff John M. Sulzmann has announced.

The sheriff said he had declared a "private moratorium" on back rentals and will refuse to enforce eviction orders until business conditions return to normal.

"I know it is illegal and the courts will issue mandates ordering me to put people out of their homes, but I won't do it," the sheriff said.

The white-haired former cigar maker spoke with characteristic determination. Thirty-five years ago, while he was running a little cigar factory, Sulzmann himself was flung out of his home by a landlord. He hasn't forgotten the unpleasant incident.

"I am morally right in not enforcing the law," Sulzmann said. "The nations have declared a two year moratorium during which no debts will be paid and no interest paid on the principal. That's my ultimatum to the bankers. From now on there'll be no more evictions."
