A Balance Sheet for the YCL

By Jack Rubenstein

In a very quick way the size of the movement of the YCL has increased. By the end of September 31, 1950, the number of members of the YCL had reached the 15,000 level, a figure which in the mind of the YCL leaders is the first step to the 30,000 member mark. This figure is a significant one because it represents the first step in the organization’s campaign to achieve the goal of having 30,000 members by the end of the year. The YCL leaders believe that this will be a major victory for the movement, and that it will help to build the organization for the future.

VOTE COMMUNIST!

The National Consul of the Communist Party (Majority Group) has decided to endorse the Communist and Social Democratic parties of the United States and to launch a campaign to mobilize the workers for the Communist Party ticket under the slogan of VOTE COMMUNIST!

In making this appeal for the support of the Communist ticket in the elections, we certify that the only ticket which presents the only ticket which can rally all the forces and overthrow the bourgeoisie is the Communists. On the contrary, the so-called "socialist" candidates are nothing but empty phrases and empty promises. They have been bought with dollars, and are nothing but the tools of the capitalist class. They do not represent the workers, but they serve the interests of the employers.

In order to elect the Communist ticket, we must not only vote for it, but we must also work for it. We must work hard to educate the workers, to convince them of the importance of the Communist ticket, and to get them to vote for it. We must also work to build the Communists party, to make it strong and powerful, so that it can win the election.

The Communist ticket is the only ticket which can save the workers from the grinding oppression of the capitalist class. It is the only ticket which can bring about a socialist revolution in the United States and make the working class masters of the world.

The Communist ticket is the ticket of the future, the ticket of the workers, the ticket of the revolution.

A Study of Industrial Accidents

By Albert Linkin

The workers are the basis of the American economy. They are the people who produce the goods and services that sustain the nation. Yet, despite the importance of workers to the economy, the conditions under which they work are often hazardous. The purpose of this study is to examine the causes and consequences of industrial accidents, and to propose solutions to improve workplace safety.

The study begins by reviewing the history of industrial accidents and the development of safety regulations in the United States. It then analyzes the factors that contribute to accidents, including equipment malfunction, worker error, and workplace conditions. The study also examines the economic impact of accidents, including lost productivity, medical costs, and insurance premium increases.

The conclusion of the study is that a comprehensive approach to workplace safety is needed. This includes improving the design of equipment, providing better training for workers, and enforcing safety regulations more effectively. The study also suggests that workers themselves must take an active role in ensuring their own safety.

The study is an important contribution to the field of industrial safety, and provides a valuable resource for policymakers, employers, and workers alike.

Fascism Advances in Germany

The rapid advance of fascism in Germany following the collapse of the Weimar Republic and the establishment of the Nazi regime in 1933 marked the beginning of a new era in European politics. The Nazi Party, led by Adolf Hitler, gained unprecedented strength in the early 1930s, capitalizing on the economic and social discontent that characterized the Weimar era. The Nazi rise to power was facilitated by a combination of factors, including the Treaty of Versailles, the Great Depression, and the weakness of the Weimar Republic's democratic institutions.

These organizations, along with others like the Communist Party USA (CPUSA), fought against what they perceived as the oppressive nature of the capitalist system. The campaign called for the abolition of war, the establishment of a classless society, and the promotion of international cooperation. The shift towards a more radical stance was reflected in the rise of radical journalism and the proliferation of socialist and communist publications across the country.

DEBATE

Capitalism vs. Communism

The debate between capitalism and communism has been a central theme in modern history. This debate has been characterized by a clash of economic systems, political ideologies, and cultural values. The capitalist system, which is based on private property and market exchange, has been seen as a means of promoting individual freedom and economic growth. On the other hand, the communist system, which advocates for state ownership of the means of production and collective ownership of property, has been viewed as a means of reducing inequality and promoting social justice.

ILD Sends Worker Back to Prison

Withdraws Ball From Lewis Lewis as 'Lavender' Candidate

When the International Labor Defense (ILD) officially withdrew its support for the candidacy of Leo Frank in the 1924 election, the ILD faced a decisive moment in its history. The ILD had become an important voice in the labor movement, advocating for workers' rights and challenging the capitalist system. However, the decision to withdraw support for Frank, who was convicted of murder, led to a split within the organization. Some members criticized the decision, arguing that it was a capitulation to the capitalist system. The split within the ILD highlighted the internal struggles within the labor movement and the challenges faced by progressives in the 1920s.
