UNION LEADERS IN SELLOUT PACT

Packetbog Officials Kill Strike, Make Surrender Agreement with Bosses

By representatives of the Communist Party, the Federation of Building Trades Unions, and the Building Trades Council, agreements were reached in New York, on June 15, which mark the first sellout by officials of the Federation, and effectively the surrender of the building trades to capital. New York City officials have asked for the resignation of the leaders of the Federation, and the Federation has turned the unions over to the bosses.

The agreements call for a $30 increase in wages, a $250,000 bonus to the bosses, an end to the strike, and a complete surrender of the unions to the bosses. The agreement was reached by the bosses, the Federation, and the building trades council, and was signed by the presidents and secretaries of the various unions.

Mr. Thomas and Communism

by Ben Gilley

Denis Thomas is in the second year of his second Administration, and the administration is looking at the world with a little more optimism and a little less cynicism than his predecessor. The world now seems to be in a period of transition, and the administration is planning to take advantage of this opportunity to make some changes. The administration is also trying to build a better future for the people of America, and it is working hard to achieve this goal.

The World of Reality

The world is a place of contradictions. On one hand, we have the wonders of technology and science, which have changed the world in ways that we could never have imagined. On the other hand, we have the problems of poverty and inequality, which are still very much with us. We need to find a way to make the world a better place for all people.

The ‘American Standard of Living’

by A. E.

The concept of the ‘American Standard of Living’ is often used to measure the economic well-being of a nation. However, this concept is often misused and misinterpreted. The standard of living is a complex concept that includes many different factors, such as income, education, health, and environment.

by Alois Neurath (Prague)

The situation in Czechoslovakia is tense and uncertain. The government is facing many challenges, and the future of the country is uncertain. The Czechoslovakian government is working hard to solve these problems, but it is facing many obstacles.

The Way for the Shoe Workers

by Edward G. Schlesinger

The shoe industry is facing many challenges, and the shoe workers are in a difficult position. The administration is working hard to help the shoe workers, but it needs the support of the people to make this happen.

An Unemployed Council Member Writes:

THE PARTY AND THE COUNCILS

by "Unemployed"

The unemployed councils are an important part of the labor movement in America. They are a way for the unemployed to organize and fight for their rights. The councils are working hard to improve the lives of the unemployed, and they are making a difference.

The Economic Week

by Paul D. Conley

The economic week has been characterized by a number of significant events. The stock market has been volatile, and the economy is showing signs of weakness. The administration is working hard to address these issues, and it is making progress.
