A SHAMEFUL "UNITED FRONT" MEETING

A Letter of Protest to the I.W.W.

Dear Comrades,

I want to protest against the resolutions of the convention of the I.W.W. which took place in New York City last week. I believe that the resolutions are not in the best interests of the working class. The resolutions call for a "united front" with the bourgeoisie, which will only benefit the interests of the capitalists. We must stand firm and fight for the rights of the working class.

CIVIC FEDERATION TO TRY "PLANNING"

The Civic Federation is planning to try a "planning" system in New York City. The federation hopes to improve working conditions for its members. However, I believe that "planning" will only benefit the interests of the capitalists. We must stand firm and fight for the rights of the working class.

An Unemployed Council Member Writes: THE PARTY AND THE COUNCILS

by "Unemployed"

I am an unemployed council member. I write to you to express my view on the situation of the unemployed. The unemployed are suffering greatly from the depression. The councils are doing very little to help the unemployed. I believe that the councils should do more to help the unemployed. They should provide food, clothing, and shelter for the unemployed. They should also provide work for the unemployed. I urge you to support the unemployed and to demand better treatment from the councils.

Marxism and the Crisis of Capitalism

The Marxist Theory of Crises

by Eugene Varga

The struggle between the forces of production and the forces of consumption is the basic contradiction in the capitalist mode of production. The contradiction arises from the fact that the productive forces of society, which are represented by the means of production, are geared to the production of commodities, while the productive forces of society, which are represented by the labor force, are geared to the consumption of commodities. The contradiction is expressed in the crisis of capital, which is characterized by the periodic downturns in the economy.

The Law of Unequal Development

The Law of Unequal Development is a law that explains the cyclical nature of capitalism. It states that the economy is not evenly developed, but rather that some regions and industries develop faster than others. This uneven development leads to crises, as the overproduction of certain goods leads to a decrease in the overall demand for goods.

The Law of the Tendency of the Rate of Profit to Fall

The Law of the Tendency of the Rate of Profit to Fall is a law that explains why the rate of profit tends to fall over time. This is because the increase in the capital intensity of production leads to a decrease in the labor productivity, which in turn leads to a decrease in the rate of profit.

Militant Workers Ask Unity

The struggle for unity among working-class organizations is essential for the success of the working-class movement. The struggle is often characterized by conflicts and divisions, but it is necessary to overcome these to achieve the common goal of社会主义.
