The issues of unity

Eugene V. Debs Clearly States His Position: Exhaustive Enunciation of His Views

OPINIONS OF MEMBERS AND OTHERS

Contreras—A crisis is upon us. The very life of our party is threatened. Are we men or are we poodles in the position? Our aims are noble, our principles true, and the issue is great. The S. D. P. and the S. L. P. are not to be divided. The labor question, the class question, is won by the movement. Shall the S. D. P. and the S. L. P. create a schism in the ranks of the workers? This question is decided in the negative by the majority of the workers. We have read the report of the convention of the S. L. P. and are against the partition of the ranks of the workers.

I have read the report of the convention of the S. D. P. in the New York Tribune. It appears that the S. D. P. is going to devote its energies to the agitation of the question of the principle of the party. It is up to us to meet the requirements of the historical and practical necessities of the present time. The question is whether we shall make the S. D. P. a political party, or whether we shall divide the workers into two parties, the S. D. P. and the S. L. P. I am convinced that the latter course is the only correct one. We must fight for the unity of the working class. I am convinced that the S. D. P. is going to divide the workers into two parties, the S. D. P. and the S. L. P. I am convinced that the latter course is the only correct one. We must fight for the unity of the working class. I am convinced that the S. D. The National Executive Committee of the S. D. P. has decided to devote its energies to the agitation of the question of the principle of the party. I am convinced that the S. D. NOTICE

We wish the membership at large to be informed that the Convention was defeated in the Herald on the subject before the meeting was completed. The paper will be held in suspense for the issue of May next. The present condition will be continued until the next meeting is held at a date to be announced in the next issue. The change of the name of the paper to the “Social Democratic News” is also announced.

THE SITUATION CLEARED UP

It is now admitted by S. L. D. that it is incorrect to publish and support the name Social Democratic in the paper. We are happy to announce that the name in which the paper is published for a long time has been the name of our own newspaper, and we are further happy to announce that the name will be changed to the Social Democratic News, and that the same will be continued from this issue. The name Social Democratic is in no way connected with the Social Democratic party, and it is admitted that the name has been used for the purpose of misleading the people.

JESSE COX RESIGNS

To the National Board of the Social Democratic party,

I have this day submitted my resignation as a member of your board.

I am sure that I have held no office as a member of the board, and I am happy to know that I have no record of any kind of affiliation with any political party, and that I am not now a member of any political party.

I am sincerely yours,

Jesse Cox

The Union Label

The following is a list of comments made on the National Union of the United Kingdom. One option is to specify the amount of time you want to look at this in the future. Older options are also available. This feature is in English. The feature is also a part of the text field.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY

The Conservative Party was created in 1833 as a reaction against the radicalism of the Whig Party. It was traditionally associated with the interests of the landed gentry and the wealthy classes, and it was the dominant political party in the United Kingdom until the 1990s. The party's policies were typically conservative, and it emphasized the importance of maintaining law and order, preserving traditional values, and protecting the economy from outside interference.

LABOUR PARTY

The Labour Party was founded in 1900 as a breakaway group from the Liberal Party. It was traditionally associated with the interests of the working class and sought to improve the living standards of the working class through reforms such as the nationalization of key industries, the introduction of full employment, and the establishment of a welfare state.

LIBERAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY

The Liberal Democratic Party was formed in 1988 as a result of a merger between the Liberal Party and the Democratic Group. It was traditionally associated with the interests of the middle class and sought to promote a more progressive and inclusive form of liberalism, advocating for social and economic equality, environmental protection, and increased civil liberties.

GREEN PARTY OF ENGLAND AND WALES

The Green Party was founded in 1973 as a result of a merger between smaller environmental groups. It was traditionally associated with the interests of the environmental movement and sought to promote a sustainable and equitable society, advocating for the protection of the natural environment, the promotion of renewable energy, and the reduction of social and economic inequalities.

SNP

The Scottish National Party was founded in 1934 as a breakaway group from the Labour Party. It was traditionally associated with the interests of Scottish nationalism and sought to promote Scottish self-determination, advocating for an independent Scotland, increased political autonomy, and the protection of Scottish culture and identity.

PLA

The People's Liberation Army is the national military force of the People's Republic of China. It was traditionally associated with the interests of the Chinese People's Liberation Army and sought to promote a strong and independent China, advocating for the protection of national sovereignty, the defense of territorial integrity, and the promotion of international peace and cooperation.

NATIONAL UNION OF THE UNITED KINGDOM

The National Union of the United Kingdom, also known as the Trade Union Congress, is a trade union organization in the United Kingdom that represents workers in a variety of industries. It was traditionally associated with the interests of the working class and sought to promote the rights and interests of its members through collective bargaining, the promotion of workplace safety and health, and the protection of workers' rights and freedoms.
