POPULAR EDUCATION AS INFLUENCED BY CAPITALISM

The celebrated German leader of the Social-Democratic party, Comrade Karl Kautsky, has devoted a number of articles to the solution of all social problems during the present day, and particularly to the question of trade unionism, of which he has written that it is the most powerful tool and weapon of the working class. He believes that the process of perfecting this tool for the social revolution is of the greatest importance, and that the weapon—the intellect—may be used for the purposes of the movement of the working class only when it is given the purpose of furthering the cause of the working class. In this belief he is right, and the interests of the working class are not served when the intellect is misused for the benefit of others.

The revolution is a thousand times more dangerous than the social revolution. The latter is a mere extension of the former, and the former is a mere extension of the latter. It is therefore always an abstinence from the social revolution. This is not the case with the social revolution, which is not monopolised by a few, but is a movement of the masses. And the stronger numerical forces of all the organised and unorganised classes, and all the social strata of the masses, and all the classes of society, will bring about a complete change of the whole social system. What is thus to be brought about will be a complete change of the whole social system. It will be a complete change of the whole social system. THEY NEVER WANTED UNION

A careful review of all the incidents, actions and reactions since the original fighting, which amounted to nothing more than a false issue by the Social Democratic Democrats, will show that the union was never wanted by the workingmen of the S. D. P. L. in our district, if indeed it was ever wanted by any of them. The union has been nothing but a farce, a deception, a means of gaining political power, and a means of destroying the workingmen of the S. D. P. L.

The Social Democratic Democrats in this district have never wanted union. They have always fought against it. They have always favored splitting the party into two or more parties, and they have always fought against any attempt to unite the workingmen of the S. D. P. L. in this district.

The Social Democratic Democrats have always been against union, and they have always been for splitting the party. They have always been for the destruction of the workingmen, and they have always been for the destruction of the workingmen's political power.

The Social Democratic Democrats have always been against union, and they have always been for splitting the party. They have always been for the destruction of the workingmen, and they have always been for the destruction of the workingmen's political power.

Fusionists Defy the Will of the Majority

When Comrade Stevens proposed the organization of the New York unit, Hartmann asked the question: "Who are we to assume that the members and officers of the Social Democratic League, organized in New York, do not want this organization?" Now whatever, comrade Stevens said, "he did not mean that. He only meant that he could not get any other organized group here in New York." He added that the organization proposed was "organized" while the New York Social Democratic League was "amalgamated". If the New York unit was to be "organized", then it would have to be amalgamated. The question was then referred to the committee, which is organized, as the committee did not think this was the case. Comrade Stevens then agreed that the New York unit might be organized. But he warned the committee that such an organization would be dangerous to the interests of the Social Democratic Party. While he was making this statement he was interrupted by the Comrade Steiner, who said: "I think you are wrong in saying that the New York unit is amalgamated. I think it is an organization in every sense of the word."

The decision of the majority, the Social Democratic Party, necessarily determines all other organizations, and all other organizations are connected with the Social Democratic Party in the same way that the state is connected with the nation. The Social Democratic Party is the political party of the working class.

The question of the organization of the New York unit was then referred to the committee for a report. The time was not sufficiently long to discuss this question in detail. It was decided that the question would be referred to the committee, and that the committee should make a report on the subject.
