The returns from the various states are coming in very slow, and are so uncertain that I have no time to venture with any degree of accuracy to state what the total vote is. Suffice it, however, to say that the prediction that the vote for Delano will largely exceed that for any other candidate in the state elections and for the third party as a whole, is such as the country must be highly gratifying to Social Democrats and all progressive-minded citizens in a single Chicago precedent. Yet, the returns are not all in for the third party in the country and in several states. The final legal counts in the election laws.

As soon as practicable the Herald will tabulate the vote in all the states, the office of the third party for the following returns as soon as they are available:

Adger—Debs, 9; McKinley, 4; New Butler, 126.

Seymour—For Delano; Matley, 8; Hanover, 419.

Estimative vote in the state, 11,000. Social Democratic vote in Illinois, 6,542.

Colorado

Leidbe, 20.

Debs vote at Boston, 29; New Haven, 45; New Haven, 199-212; Horseville, 157; Vernon, 759.

Eleven votes cast for Debs' electors in California.

Vermont, 10.

Chicago—The official count of the votes cast for the third party in the large, afternoon meeting last week was made public, and the results were highly gratifying. The Social Democratic ticket received 2,710 votes, or 10,716.

The Social Democratic ticket, as organized by Comrade Peter Henry, has received 2,500 votes, or 10,126.

A vote from the third party in the nation would have given much larger votes than they like to have the honor and for the political, and the prospect strongly
