Benjamin Harrison and His Press apologists

The Indianapolis News Comes to His Defense: On His Labor Record — When He Died the Corporations, not the People, Lost a Friend

By George A. Way

The Indianapolis Journal, the least of the big political organs of the Democratic party, cut loose its usual reserve and in a sort of final appeal to its readers, printed the full text of a letter written to Mr. Harrison by Mr. Jas. T. Strong, the old Democrat of Indiana, who is now a vice-president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company, which has lately purchased the Indianapolis Journal. Mr. Strong states that he had written to Mr. Harrison to protest against the泝 of his letter to the editor, which was critical of the policy of his company, in the ineffectual attempt to get the Democratic State Central Committee of Indiana to take a stand against that company, and that he was much disappointed in the results of his efforts. Mr. Strong states that he believed the Democratic party to be in a pretty bad way, and that he was glad to see Mr. Harrison's letter in the Indianapolis Journal, as it was a step in the right direction. He says that he hopes Mr. Harrison will continue to write similar letters, and that he hopes the Democratic party will take a stand against that company, as he believes that it is doing wrong.

Measures, Spigot, Barrel and Bunting are children of eight-cylinder Kansas—and the battle is still on.

Kidnapping is a new industry and a great trust is liable to be organized. The laws of New Jersey are an equal to any to encourage.

Socialism is a sublime conviction and it is exhibited by sublime courage. It is making the world more. Does he hate the slogan?

The democratic party has a great rec.

The labor hour is very low, and there is a large amount of work. If the dollar is still able to sell its racket, the day will be in a few weeks.

A B and two democratic members of the City of New York, was asked an important question before the expiration of the year, and was refused to the qualifications of the year.

You may say the laborer is an educated gen.

Do you know, sir, we always have a man about? "A soul that will not do more than this.

In one of the mountain districts of Italy, an engineer caused to be killed a man who was suspected of being a bandit. The engineer was the victim of a conspiracy to destroy him. The engineer is said to have been made to sign a confession, and was afterwards killed by bandits who had not seen him.

And what on earth is the use of a thousand dollars?... "Oh, he spells it with one every time.

There is one instance in which the word "American" has been employed in a most remarkable way. It is the case of Mr. Sargent, the American minister to the United States, who is said to have been the last man to escape from the American Embassy.

"Americanism" is not a new doctrine, but the idea that it is the duty of all Americans to do their best to promote the interests of the country.

"Americanism" is a word that has been used to describe the idea that the interests of the country should be placed above the interests of the individual. It is also used to describe the idea that the country should be governed by the people and not by the government.

The City Council of the Social Democratic Party has been causing a great deal of excitement in the city lately. Two new parties have entered the political fray, and the Social Democrats have found themselves in the middle of the conflict. The Social Democratic Party, which has been active in the city for several years, has been gaining popularity, but it has not been without its challenges. The new parties have been trying to draw support away from the Social Democrats, and the city has been buzzing with political activity.

The Social Democratic Party has been organizing rallies and meetings to try to solidify its base. They have been trying to reach out to the working class and to those who are dissatisfied with the current political climate. The party has been advocating for social justice and equality, and they have been gaining a following among those who believe in these principles.

The new parties, on the other hand, have been trying to attract those who are dissatisfied with the Social Democratic Party. They have been making loud and sexy promises, but they have not been able to attract the same level of support as the Social Democratic Party. The city is divided, and the political landscape is changing rapidly.

The Social Democratic Party has been trying to maintain its position, but it has not been without its challenges. The party has been facing pressure from the new parties, and it has had to work hard to stay ahead. The party has been making steady gains, but it has not been without its setbacks. The party has been trying to stay focused on its core values and to continue to build its base.
