SALVATION OF THE DAIRY FARMERS.

THE NEW ORDER MUST BE CONSCIOUSLY PURCHASED.

The policies of the present order are making the dairy farmer poorer and poorer. The prices are going down, and the cost of living is going up. It is time that the dairy farmer should take action to protect himself.

The dairy farmer should form a cooperative association to buy his supplies and sell his produce. This would give him a voice in the market and a say in the way his business is run.

The dairy farmer should also demand better prices for his product. The present order is content to accept lower prices for their milk, which is then shipped to the city and sold for higher prices. The dairy farmer should organize and demand a fair price for his product.

The dairy farmer should also demand better working conditions. The present order is content to accept low wages and poor working conditions. The dairy farmer should organize and demand better working conditions.

In conclusion, the dairy farmer should take action to protect himself. He should form a cooperative association, demand better prices for his product, and demand better working conditions. The dairy farmer should be conscious of the need to purchase the new order.
Is Socialism Possible?

Socialism is not a form of government; it is a social organization based on the principles of cooperation and equality. The central idea is that the ownership of the means of production should be collective, not individual. This does not mean that the people are not free to own their own homes and property, but it does mean that the means of production, such as factories and machines, are owned by the community as a whole. This ensures that the benefits of production are shared by all, rather than being concentrated in the hands of a few.

The Impediment of Capitalism

Marxism claims that the economy is controlled by a small, wealthy class, who exploit the labor of the working class. This class struggle is not limited to one country or one continent; it is a global phenomenon. The working class has the potential to overthrow the ruling class and establish a socialist society, where everyone has equal access to the means of production.

Gleanings from Socialistic Fields.

Notes from Yankee-land.

Los Angeles Socialists are forming with great rapidity the Central Labor Union. Meetings are being held nightly in the hall of the Committee on Industrial Cultivation, and ere long there will be an organization that will be a model to others. The American Federation of Labor is working actively, and a meeting of the executive council is to be held this week in order to devise plans to strike for a higher rate of wages.

The working force in Colorado is being organized on a large scale. The United States Industrial Union has sent agents to Colorado, and they are working hard to organize the miners. The miners in that state are determined to secure better wages and working conditions.

The strikes in St. Louis and Chicago are still continued, although there is a hope that they will be settled soon. The strikers in St. Louis are demanding higher wages and better working conditions, while those in Chicago are asking for the right to form a trade union.

The strike in Chicago is the most serious of the two, as it involves a large number of workers in the steel industry. The employers are determined to break the union, while the strikers are determined to hold out until their demands are met.

The Canadian Federation of Labor is also working actively to organize the workers in that country. The union is seeking to raise the standard of labor and to secure better working conditions for the workers.

The Strike in the United States.

The strike in the United States is an important issue. It is a struggle between the workers and the employers for the control of industry. The workers are demanding better wages and working conditions, while the employers are determined to hold down the labor costs.

The strike has been going on for several weeks, and it is feared that it will continue for some time. The workers are determined to hold out until their demands are met, while the employers are determined to break the union.

The strike is having a severe effect on the economy of the country. The factories are closed, and the workers are without employment. The government is trying to mediate the dispute, but it is feared that it will not be settled for some time.
