NEW ARMY SYSTEM NEEDED--The Military System of Switzerland--Why This Country Should Adopt It

Some of our esteemed contributors, in keeping with their avowed belief that "the government cannot do anything worth doing without paying for it," have been of the opinion that we are all too much for soldiers, and that the money we pay for armies is wasted. They have even gone so far as to say that we should have an armed force, but that it should be composed of volunteer soldiers, and that the government should not have to pay for them.

This is a very narrow view of the question. It is true that the money we pay for armies is wasted, but it is also true that the money we do not pay for armies is wasted. The government cannot do anything worth doing without paying for it, and it cannot do anything worth doing without soldiers.

The Military System of Switzerland is a good model for this country to follow. It is a system of conscription, which means that every able-bodied man is required to serve in the army for a certain period of time. This system has been in operation in Switzerland for many years, and it has been very successful.

The Swiss army is composed of about 200,000 men, and it is well trained and well equipped. It is also very mobile, and it can be moved from one part of the country to another very quickly. It is also very efficient, and it has been able to defend Switzerland from all its enemies.

The Swiss army is also very popular with the people. The Swiss people are proud of their army, and they are proud of the fact that they are able to defend their country. The Swiss army is also very democratic, and it is elected by the people.

The Swiss army is also very economical. The Swiss government is able to keep the army in good order without spending a great deal of money. The Swiss army is also very efficient, and it is able to do its work very well.

We believe that this country should adopt the Swiss army system. It is a system that is both economical and efficient, and it is also very democratic.

AN APPRECIATION, BY EUGENE V. DEBS.

EUGENE V. DEBS has been a non-commissioned officer in the Social Democratic army of America. When the Social Democratic General Staff was organized in Boston for the defense of America, Debs was the first to receive a commission as a major general. He was thus placed in command of the Social Democratic army of America. From this date he has devoted all his energies to the defense of America, and has been the most prominent and able leader of the Social Democratic army of America. The Social Democratic army has been the most successful army in the world, and Debs has been its ablest and most efficient officer.

Gleatns from Busy Socialistis Fields,

From a letter received from an enthusiast in Wisconsin:

"Socialism is making headway in Wisconsin. The Socialist Party is gaining strength and influence in the state. The Socialist newspaper in Milwaukee has a circulation of 10,000. Socialists are being elected to public office in increasing numbers. The Socialist candidate for Governor of Wisconsin is running a strong campaign."
