Bar Co-Operation versus Insane Competition

The cooperative system proposed by the United Mine Workers' Union and the National Miners Association is being described as a fact in the west. The movement is the response of the mine workers to the growing crisis of the mining industry. It is based on the idea that by pooling their resources, the miners can secure better wages and working conditions. The movement is gaining momentum as more miners join the cooperative movement.

Capitalism Shows its Teeth in the Milwaukee Council.

Capitalli; al the teeth in the Milwaukee board of aldermen last Monday afternoon. The Socialists, as the practice of making public statements of support for private businesses, which the business men pay for the same, and such aldermen were present which persisted which prolonged the session. It developed that the granting of such window privileges was in the board to be against the law, but was not known and the action was taken to change for a thing it had no legal right to get. This got the aldermen in the right place.

The report of the committee of the board was read in favor of the resolution of the city attorney, and was enacted, the aldermen the privileges for compensation. It would be to act as an legal opinion on the special principles in the case of the city attorney, and action was taken against having the privileges of the city attorney, and the privileges against the city attorney, and the privileges were acted upon.
