Socialism Made Plain

Why the Few Earn Much and the Many Poor

By Allan L. Benson

CAPITALISM BUILDS A POORMAN'S SHACK BUT GIVES A RICHMAN'S CHANCE

WHAT THE CAPITALISTS WANT THE WORKERS MIGHT HAVE

CAPITALISM builds a poor man's shack, but gives a rich man's chance. Under the system of competition, the capitalist puts up a shack of his own, but makes no provision for the worker. The capital of the rich man is used to buy land and other means of production, while the worker toils for wages. The capitalist, therefore, makes more things for less wages, and lives luxuriously, while the worker lives in poverty.

The rich man's shack is the result of competition. The capitalist continues to produce until he finds that he cannot make a profit, or that the market is saturated with his product. Then he要么 shuts down his factory or reduces his wages. In either case, the worker is worse off.

Therefore, the solution of the worker's problem is not to rely on competition, but to organize and control the production of goods and services. The worker should own and control the means of production, not the capitalist. Only then can there be a real solution to the worker's problem.

NOTE: In some states the organizations are known as the Socialist Party, in others as the Social Demo- cratic Party. These terms are used here, as they do not differ in any way from the political stands of the members.
CHICAGO MORTUARY EXHIBITION

Editorial: If any Social democrat can really change the life of the working man, he must be able to prove his work in the face of the critics and the world. One of the best proof is in the results. We know that the Chicago mortuary exhibition was a success. The exhibition was a great success. It was a great success. It was a great success. It was a great success.

The Organizers of Employers and the Disorganization of Employees Would Mean.

HALF HOURS IN THE HOLY SACRAMENT

A Union Resolution: Most of us who voted against the trade union resolutions in the national convention voted against it, because we were opposed to a single paragraph. A legislative resolution is in favor of the people, however, which is the same thing as saying that the people.
