A REMARKABLE VOTE WAS CAST!

The Half Million Mark Probably Reached Throughout the Country.

Boston, Nov. 19.—Reports received at national headquarters Tuesday morning show that the entire state vote is in. The delegates to the conventions in Boston will be ready to report the results immediately. The campaign which began in a convention of the Republican party held in November 1919, will now come to an end.

The election of four of the nation's great statesmen and the election of the two big party leaders will be decided. The election is one of the most important in the history of the Republican party.

RINGING UP THE CURTAIN.

MOMENTOUS DAYS PAST AND PRESENT.

The war-winning team once more has a chance to win the day. An Appleton newspaper's editorial, with its reference to the past, will strike a familiar chord: "The bell tolls for thee, son, but not for the Alliance. The great struggle is not over, but the end is in sight. The war-development years have brought a new era of progress and prosperity."

Said James MacNutt, the editor: "The war has been fought and won, but the work of reconstruction is only beginning. The Alliance is ready to shoulder its share of the burden."

REASONS WHY.

In defense of the Socialist vote in the leading nations.

In the United States, the Socialist party has made tremendous progress, with its candidates gaining votes in a number of important electoral battles. In Great Britain, the party has grown steadily, with its leaders advocating a more equitable distribution of wealth. In France, the Socialists have traditionally held a strong position, with their advocates working to ensure social justice.

The growth of Social-Democracy, the great world-wide movement of labor, makes us feel the need of making the present issue one of Social-Democratic politics.

LIGHTING UP THE GLOOMY PATHS

Upon my consent visited to the beautiful and delightful place called Wisconsin. It was a delightful place where there was no gloom, but rather a sunny outlook for the future. Everyone there seemed happy and content.

As I sat on the bench of the Wisconsin river, I noticed a group of children playing with a toy boat. They were having a great time, laughing and shouting. It was a beautiful day, with the sun shining brightly and the trees rustling in the wind.

I walked along the riverbank, admiring the scenery. The water was crystal clear, and the air was fresh and invigorating. It was a perfect day to be outside and enjoy nature.

Nearby, I saw a family of deer grazing in the field. They were so beautiful, with their graceful movements and delicate antlers. I watched them for a while, marveling at their grace and elegance.

Finally, I came to a small village where the people were working hard to build a new community. They were building houses and schools, and planting crops. It was a bustling scene, with everyone working together for a common goal.

As I left the village, I felt a sense of peace and contentment. Wisconsin was a wonderful place, filled with beauty and opportunity. I knew that I would always cherish the memories of my visit there.
