Two Great Lessons from the Russian Uprising.

by VICTOR L. BERGER.

The Russian revolution, according to the latest reports, has been quelled in blood and the rebellion is at an end. But the workers of the world will not forget the two splendid lessons which it taught, and which were thoroughly learned by the working class of Russia itself.

The first lesson was that of the success of the worker-revolution. The second was that of the failure of the Russian army to suppress the revolution. These two lessons are of the greatest importance to the working class of the world, and they must be borne in mind with the greatest care.

The lesson of the success of the worker-revolution is of especial importance to the working class of the world. The workers of the world must learn that the success of the worker-revolution in Russia is not a孤立 fact, but is a general fact which applies to all countries.

The lesson of the failure of the Russian army to suppress the revolution is of especial importance to the working class of the world. The workers of the world must learn that the failure of the Russian army to suppress the revolution is not a孤立 fact, but is a general fact which applies to all countries.

THE WRONG WORKINGS OF OUR PRESENT SYSTEM, WHICH GLUTS THE FARMERS AND PAUPERIZES THE MAN.

Don't be greedy, small farmers; stick with both feet for the hills of fertility, the resources of the soil, the strength and the growth of the United States.

Don't wait for a good time to do your "sowin';" gather them in, secure them, plant them, and you will be very sorry; for you can't plant a grain of corn when there are "times".

The following letter was Presented by the President of the Federation of Labor to the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor in Milwaukee.

December 31, 1916

Dear Sirs,

The purpose of this letter is to present the results of the comprehensive investigation of the conditions of labor in the State of Wisconsin. The same has been the work of the President of the Federation of Labor for the past year, and it is now at the disposal of the State Federation of Labor.

The investigation was conducted in all parts of the State, and the results show that the conditions of labor in Wisconsin are generally favorable. The wages paid to the laborers are generally sufficient to maintain a decent standard of living, and the hours of work are generally limited to a reasonable amount. The working conditions are generally good, and the health of the laborers is generally good.

However, there are some areas in the State where the conditions of labor are not as favorable as they should be. In these areas, the wages paid are insufficient to maintain a decent standard of living, and the hours of work are excessive. The working conditions are generally poor, and the health of the laborers is generally poor.

The President of the Federation of Labor requests the State Federation of Labor to take steps to improve the conditions of labor in these areas. The State Federation of Labor is requested to take steps to secure a more adequate supply of laborers, to limit the hours of work, to improve the working conditions, and to improve the health of the laborers.

Yours truly,

[Signature]

William J. Norton, President of the Federation of Labor.
AN AWFUL FRAUD!!

That "Raise" for Street Car Employees a Delusion and a Snare!

TWO HUNDRED BENEFICIARIES A MYTH. - MR. BEGGS PLAYING THE PUBLIC FOR SUCKERS!

Just before the New York publication of the Milwaukee papers, a scheme was inaugurated here which promised to benefit a large number of the people of Milwaukee. It was at first thought to be a genuine benefit, but it has since been revealed as a fraud.

The scheme was known as the "TWO HUNDRED RAILWAY MEN'S BENEFIT SOCIETY," and it was conducted by a man named Beggs.

Knew nothing of the scheme, but at some point in his career, Beggs addressed the men, to the effect that the railway company was going out of business, and that the men's benefits would be cut off if they did not join the society.

The men were skeptical, but Beggs assured them that he had the backing of a large company, and that the benefits would be increased.

Beggs began to collect money, and within a short time, he had amassed a large sum.

It was only later that it was discovered that Beggs was a fraud, and that the money was being used for his personal gain.

Beggs was arrested and charged with fraud, and the matter is now pending in court.
