What Happened in London.

We have had thus far, for a long time, the sad accounts of the recent events in London. The desire to have the events properly reflected has led to the issue of this statement in the newspapers.

The events of the last few days have shown that the British government is not prepared to deal with the crisis. The government has announced a state of emergency and has called for renewed efforts to bring about a peaceful solution.

The situation is grave, and it is essential that the British public remains calm and united. We must all work together to ensure the safety and security of our country.

A Labor Movement With Two Arms!

By Victor L. Berger.

The strike movement in Milwaukee, by referendum vote, has decided not to take part in the election.

There were various causes for this decision. The strike movement is a self-governing organization, and it is independent of any political party. To successfully resist a campaign requires a great deal of money, even though the strike movement has a large debt. We want to pay the debt first, before we consider any political activity.

In this election, therefore, we should be obliged to spend more individual, personal contributions than any other organization. This would be extremely difficult, and it would also involve the participation of the strike leaders, who have always been opposed to any interference with the strike movement.

While we are not entirely opposed to political activity, we feel that it is not in the best interests of the strike movement to become involved in politics.

On the other hand, we believe that it is important to support the causes of labor and to work towards a better society. We will continue to do this, even though we cannot take part in the election.

The strike movement is a powerful force, and we will continue to use it to advance the cause of the working class.
Municipal Ownership in Germany.

An article on Municipal Ownership in Germany appears in the Social-Democratic Herald. This form of government involves the establishment of public utilities and transport services under municipal ownership, aimed at ensuring better control and efficiency. The article highlights the benefits of this system, such as lower costs, better service, and increased local control. It contrasts this approach with that of private companies, which may prioritize profit over public welfare. The discussion is relevant to contemporary debates on public versus private ownership of essential services.
The Frank Confession of a Capitalist Drone!

A REMARKABLE ARTICLE FURNISHED TO MAGAZINE READERS BY THE MILLIONAIRES' SOCIALIST JOSEPH MEDELL PATTERSON.

(Republished by Request.)

The Independent has asked me a few questions about the capitalist system of business management. The answer can be obtained at any moment by looking at an actual business transaction and quoting the capitalist drone, the one who supervises the actual operation of the business. There is one small, but important point that should be clarified.

The capitalist drone is the one who has nothing at all but the business. He owns and operates the business. He is a great many things at once: he is the manager, owner, investor, foreman, and many other things. He may or may not be a skilled worker. He may or may not be a good business manager.

What Was Stafford Up To?

LOADING DOWN THE U.S. MAILS WITH TONS OF WORTHLESS, OUT-OF-DATE GOVERNMENT REPORTS, AT THE REGULAR DEPT. HEADQUARTERS

Now the Railroads Do Uncle Sam's Postal Dept. by Paddling the Mails.

It's Congressmen Stafford and railroads. Washington officials are asking the question, and it's obvious that the young florid man from the Republican side of the House has been singularly effective in helping to devote the railroads and the post office to the biggest tax on the people...

They have not been able to answer satisfactorily the charge that the railroads are shipping worthless reports. In fact, they have not been able to answer satisfactorily the charge that the railroads are shipping worthless reports.

The railroads have been shipping worthless reports. In fact, they have not been able to answer satisfactorily the charge that the railroads are shipping worthless reports.

This, of course, was the most serious charge. The character of the documents which are considered over the network is a matter of public interest and the public is entitled to have the government departments answer for the way in which they manage their business.

Then the railroads have been shipping worthless reports. In fact, they have not been able to answer satisfactorily the charge that the railroads are shipping worthless reports.
