Abolish the Senate
Give Us the Referendum

By Victor L. Berger.

If it is a state of the campaign to have a number of the United States Senators, a successor to John C. Spooner, resigned, or elected in a way that would give the state of the United States Senate — the American House of Lords, if you please — the attention it is supposed to get, it is a subject that is variously called. We have something to say at this time about the candidates. I will only mention the one candidate — the man who significantly enough is the great exception — Mr. Robert M. LaFollette. Mr. Isaac M. Stephenson, a millionaire, and the editor of one of the chief organs of Wisconsin politics, the latter very properly could be a position in that august body. I might add that Mr. LaFollette has the reputation of a very clean, fair, and independent-minded man. He has quit his place in the Republican party and put one of his allies in the Senate of the United States. This is not the place for a lengthened discussion of this subject, but it is a subject that is very worth considering. Before we get to the place of the state of the United States Senate, we must get to the place of the state of the Civil Government. This is not the place for a lengthened discussion of this subject, but it is a subject that is very worth considering. The Principles of International Cooperation as set forth in the National Platform of the Social-Democratic Party of the U.S.A.

We, the Social-Democratic Party, in common with the American people as a whole, consider that the most urgent and pressing issues with which our country has to deal are the production of wealth, the division of the product, and the distribution of the wealth produced. We believe that in order to secure a just and equitable distribution of wealth, it is necessary to have a system of international cooperation.

We are in favor of a just and equitable distribution of wealth, and believe that the best way to secure this is to have a system of international cooperation. We believe that the best way to secure a just and equitable distribution of wealth is to have a system of international cooperation. ORGANIZED LABOR

CANNON IS CANNED!

No Bleeding of the City Treasury Through Unbalanced Budget to Be Permitted.

Cannon has had his Waterloo on the financial front, appearing before the committee with a budget that is sure to bleed the city treasury. Cannon knows that the city treasurer has been instructed by the city budget committee to make the best of a bad situation.

It is understood that Cannon's budget is an underestimate among the city's financial officers, who demand of the present mayor that he show them the work of the city in its present financial condition. They claim that the budget is out of balance and that the mayor should be called to account for the city's financial affairs.

The members of the Interassociation of Taxpayers have declared that they will not agree to a budget that will bleed the city treasury. They threaten to force Cannon to make concessions in his budget.

A State of Things at the Waupaca Veterans’ Home

Wausau, April 8—the long delayed investigation of the Waupaca Veterans’ Home—that is, the recent investigation—seems to be the subject of a great deal of interest. The investigation was conducted by a committee of the legislature, with the assistance of a police detective, and the findings of the investigation are now under the consideration of the legislature.

The management of the home is now in the hands of the state, and the state has taken over the responsibility of caring for the veterans. The home has been reorganized, and the present management is now working hard to improve the conditions at the home.

The veteran’s home is now under the care of a new committee, and the committee is working hard to improve the conditions at the home. The veteran’s home is now under the care of a new committee, and the committee is working hard to improve the conditions at the home.
