Comment on Passing Events.

New York

The political leaders of the Republican party loudly ballyhoo the relative efficiency of their party and the alleged deficiencies of the Democrats, while the actual program of the latter is little known.

It is significant of the times that the Republican party, which for so many years was the guarantor of health, vitality, and prosperity, should now be defining itself as the party of conservatism.

The professions of the Republican party are distinctly right in the sense that they are content with things as they are.

Socialism is the New Patriotism

Jolts for Both Sides—By Henry T. Jones

The Trust Question

The great question before the public today is whether or not we shall have a national bank. It is not only a personal and local question, but it is a question that involves the whole future of the country.

The Carnegie Way

In Carnegie's "Problems of Today," the subject of the Carnegie steel trust is mentioned. Carnegie's way is to divide the country into districts, each with its own trust. This way is not only wrong, but it is also illegal.

Plate Pipers Grafies

The question of whether or not there should be a national bank is one of the most important questions that have ever come before the country. If the national bank is not established, then the future of the country is at stake.

The Case of the Farmers

Perhaps the farmer has not been more fortunate, for being a producer, he has been at the mercy of those who are able to control the market. In this way, the farmer is forced to accept the prices set by the middlemen, who have monopoly power. If the farmer wants to sell his produce, he must do so at the price set by the middlemen. This puts the farmer in a weak position, and he is often forced to accept prices that are lower than the cost of production. To make matters worse, the farmer is often forced to pay for transportation and storage of his produce, which further reduces his profit margin.

A Bitter Harvest

With the onset of autumn, the farmers are preparing for the next planting season. However, the recent drought has taken a toll on the crops, and many farmers are facing a difficult harvest. The lack of rainfall has resulted in poor yields, and many farmers are struggling to make ends meet. In addition, the high cost of inputs such as fuel and fertilizer has added to the challenges faced by the farmers.

Everyone Uses Electric Light and every prospective user of electric light should acquaint himself or herself with the terms of the New Rate Schedule in effect September 1st, with a view to securing through the operation of a very low "energy" rate the most light for the least money.

NOTE: As soon as practicable, customers using the Company's electric service on yearly contracts will be given the benefit of any reduction that may be contained in the new rate schedule, to take effect from September 1st, 1910.

Special Officers and the Labor Movement

By Robert Hunter

Some time ago a special officer of a local Social Democratic party said to me: "I tell you frankly, my duty is not only to raise money. I must also work for the labor movement; I must raise a crowd of workmen to record the strike of the day against the capitalist and the employer." Some of the socialists in my party took this view also, and I was often told, "When I am chairman, I will not waste time in raising funds; I will command the Socialists to work for the labor movement." I have always been of the opinion that when we are in power, we shall make education and labor movements in general the duty of the socialists. If we have the power and the influence of the Social Democratic party, we shall not allow the labor movement to remain without a voice. If we can get the power, we shall use it for the benefit of the labor movement, and we shall make it the chief duty of the Social Democratic party to carry on the labor movement.

Milwaukee Should Fall in Line
About the Interurban Terminal—Indianapolis Demonstrates Its Value

Public Convenience makes it Popular; Commercial Interests are Benefited. The Opportunity to Spread Out and Avoid Congestion is Enhanced

The present situation is illustrated by the fact that the main streets of Indianapolis have almost become a vast parking lot, with the traffic jammed in such a way that it is difficult to move. The same situation is also true in Milwaukee, where the traffic is so congested that it is difficult to move even in the downtown area.

The development of our city’s transportation and commerce has been greatly retarded by the shortage of space for parking and the lack of room for expansion. Our city is growing rapidly and the need for more space is becoming more pressing every day.

In order to avoid this problem, our city must take steps to improve the situation. This can be done by reducing the number of cars on the street and increasing the number of parking spaces available. This will help to reduce traffic congestion and make it easier for people to get around.

In conclusion, the situation in Milwaukee is a serious one and we must take steps to improve it. We must reduce the number of cars on the street and increase the number of parking spaces available. This will help to reduce traffic congestion and make it easier for people to get around.

The capital building and the largest一层 in the city. The depot is used by all interurban trains and it is not only a public convenience, but the trains have been been met in the new depot.

In Milwaukee, the situation is similar, although it is owned and managed by a separate company. The depot is located on the city's main street, which is a major thoroughfare.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company

The most aggressive opposition to a public utility company can be traced, nearly always, to motives that are purely selfish.

One of the greatest difficulties with which the Company has had to contend is its efforts to extend its service. In order to do this, the Company has had to build new lines and substations, and to increase the capacity of its existing ones.

In one case, the Company had to build a new substation in order to supply power to a new development. However, when the Company went to request permission from the City Council to build the substation, they were told that they would have to pay for the entire cost of the project, including the land.

The Company was very disappointed by this ruling, as they had already invested a large sum of money in the new substation. However, they were forced to accept the decision and pay for the project.

In order to extend the service, the Company must also increase the capacity of its existing substations. This is a difficult task, as the substations are already operating at their maximum capacity. The Company has had to invest a great deal of money in new equipment in order to increase the capacity of the substations.

In conclusion, the Company has had to face many difficulties in its efforts to extend its service. However, they have been able to overcome these difficulties and provide power to new developments in the area.

Rabbi Hirshberg Says He Was Misquoted

Rabbi Hirshberg writes that the quotations attributed to him in a recent State Journal article are incorrect in two respects. First of all, he says, he never made any statement to the effect that the various trade union laws in the United States are either bad or that they are defeating the purpose of the labor movement, as stated in the article. Second, he says, he never made any statement as to whether or not he believed that the State Journal was a good paper and whether or not he would vote for the Socialist candidates in the November election. He wrote that he would vote for the Socialist candidates in the November election, but he did not make any statement as to whether or not he believed that the State Journal was a good paper. He also states that he would not vote for the Socialist candidates in the November election, but he did not make any statement as to whether or not he believed that the State Journal was a good paper.
