Organized Labor Is Enthusiastic

Organized labor is also enthusiastic in the movement. The Milwaukee Federation of Trades and Labor Unions, which represents a membership of over 50,000, has a large contingent at the meeting. The Federation has been active in the movement for labor rights for many years, and it is particularly interested in the efforts to bring about an end to child labor.

The Federation has been working closely with the Wisconsin Labor Council, which is actively involved in the movement. The Council has been promoting the bill that would ban child labor, and it has been working to ensure that the bill is passed.

The Federation has also been involved in other efforts to improve the lives of workers. It has been working to ensure that workers are paid a living wage, and it has been working to ensure that workers have the right to form unions and negotiate contracts.

The Federation is committed to the idea that workers should be treated with respect and dignity, and it is committed to working towards a better future for all workers.

Count Me Out on Senators

Senator J. J. Boland (Dem., Mass.) has given his word to his constituents that he will not vote for the nomination of the late Senator Baker for the Senate. Paul Rogers (Dem., Ohio) is the only other Senator who is expected to vote for the late Senator's nomination.

Theodore Roosevelt's Return

Senator William H. Taft (Rep., Ohio) is expected to return to Washington on Tuesday. He will not be in the capital long, however, as he will leave on Wednesday morning to take a trip to the South. He is expected to bring with him some of his old friends, and to make a speech in the Senate chamber on the subject of the progressive movement.

Agricultural Program

The Senate Agriculture Committee on Wednesday morning will hold hearings on the farm bill. Senators are expected to discuss the bill at length, and the committee is expected to pass it on to the House.

Teeth Extracted

The teeth of the late Senator Baker (Rep., Ill.) were extracted Thursday by Dr. A. H. Baker (Rep., Ill.) at the request of the Senate.

The father of the late Senator Baker, who was a member of the late Senator's family, is expected to arrive in Washington on Wednesday morning to attend the funeral.

Details of the Victory

Details of the victory of the late Senator Baker over the late Senator Baker (Rep., Ill.) are expected to be given in the Senate chamber on Wednesday morning. The late Senator Baker is expected to make a speech in the Senate chamber on the subject of the progressive movement.

The late Senator Baker was a member of the late Senator's family, and is expected to attend the funeral.

A more detailed report of the funeral will be given in the Senate chamber on Wednesday morning.
The Builders' Column

Wonder Workers of the Age

You builders for new buildings are the most im- portant section of the army of Socialism. Your work may be considered as the element that is the most important in the fabric of society. To this end, you are to be regarded as the wonder workers of the age.

If you could all do the work of the Federal government and the army, and if you could do it as the Federal government and the army do, you would be the wonder workers of the age.

Here are extracts from letters which are a little out of the ordinary, but which give you some idea of how the circulation of the Herald is increasing.

Georges Alexis of Real City, states:-

"Enclosed find check for $2 for my subscription for the Social-Democratic Herald. How do you make your living?" We can't make our living, but we can make your living. We send you the Social-Democratic Herald, and you work for us. You have the power to make your living, but we have the power to make your living.

J. J. Jacobs, state secretary of Iowa, about a week since, ordered two years' subscription subscriptions to all the state committee newspapers. Two weeks later he ordered more.

This week the following letter reached the office. It needs letters and content.

Dr. Moses, Inz., Inc., Social-Democratic Herald—Three Comrades. Please send me one additional Social-Democratic copy.

We don't seem to know any more than we did when we started. The comrades are sending more than twice as many of the Herald as they did in any other paper we are handling. We will soon have the apparatus in the office. Personally yours, J. Jacobs, secretary of the party of Iowa.

Go to it, comrades. Hundreds of thousands of helpful and able men and women in every city and town.

By 9 a.m. Thursday, we had 3,000 people in the office.

FREDERICK HEATH VICTORI BURGER
The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company, as it is today, is the result of many years of persevering and ambitious effort on the part of its founders and the men with whom it has grown.

These men have had thorough education in the scientific and technical requirements of their particular field. They have had long practical experience. It is to this group, they have given the closest study to the conditions in Milwaukee and the needs and possibilities peculiar to this field.

The object which they have constantly borne in mind throughout all the difficulties to which they have been subjected is to build and operate the best possible light and power service for the white city of Milwaukee that is possible under the conditions with which they have to do.

The result of all their labor is not at all times appreciated fully by the public. Only the company can know all of the efforts of its work and all of the difficulties with which it has to contend. The people are only impressed by the results, and judge the company by these results alone.

Modern street railway service in Milwaukee had its beginning with the writing together of the several deeded lines of various companies, each of which provided limited transportation to a certain part of the city. In 1900, these lines were united into a single company for the benefit of the people.

This was merely a beginning. With the consolidation of these independently operated lines, the company entered upon a local and comprehensive plan of development.

The raising of this plan was made in the unwarped street railway service of one line, under management and with uniform methods of operation.

The purpose of unification has been a fixed point for the guidance of the men who are doing the Consolidated Electric Car Company's work. Every important step in the way forward was met with a feeling that the company could respond to the public's demand. The public knew that the company would meet the public's demand. The public knew that the company would meet the public's demand.

GROWTH AND PROGRESS OF TRAD Unions

The American Federation of Labor, United Association, of Ironworkers, and Builders' Workers

MILWAUKEE Chapter

Harold T. Hambly, President

New York, N.Y.—About one year ago the Federated Trades Council of Milwaukee, with a membership of over 3,000, signed a new agreement with the American Federation of Labor, which is expected to increase the number of organized laborers in Wisconsin to over 30,000. This agreement is considered to be a milestone in the history of labor in Wisconsin, as it is the first time that the Federated Trades Council has taken on the responsibility of organizing labor in the State.

The Federated Trades Council is composed of all the trade unions in the city, and its membership is made up of workers in all parts of the city. The council has been active in the city for many years, and it has been successful in organizing workers in the various industries in the city. The council is composed of representatives of all the unions in the city, and it has been successful in organizing workers in the various industries in the city.

Notbohm Whitewashed

The performance of Notbohm Whitewash in the horse race last week at Chicago was a disappointment to many who had high hopes for his victory. The horse had been well trained and was expected to do well, but unfortunately for his owners and fans, he did not perform up to expectations. The reason for his failure is not clear, but it could be due to various factors such as the track conditions or the rider's handling of the horse. Regardless of the outcome, it is a reminder that horse racing is a sport with its share of ups and downs.

A Debts Lecture

The lecture on debts took place last night at the town hall. The speaker, a well-known financial expert, discussed the importance of managing debts responsibly. He urged the audience to carefully consider their financial obligations and to seek professional advice if necessary. The lecture was well-received by the attendees, who found the information presented to be both informative and practical.

The Mills Lectures

The first lecture in the series of the Mills Lectures took place yesterday afternoon. The topic of the lecture was the history of textile mills in the United States. The speaker, a historian, provided a detailed overview of the development of the industry, highlighting the challenges faced by mill workers and the innovations that led to its growth. The lecture was followed by a Q&A session, where the audience had the opportunity to ask questions and engage in a discussion.

Big Racine Walkout

The racine walkout, which started after a strike, resulted in the shutdown of the Racine Steel plant. The workers were demanding better wages and working conditions, and their strike has paralyzed the operations of the plant. The management is expected to negotiate with the workers to reach a compromise, but the outcome is uncertain. The walkout has also impacted the local economy, as the steel plant is a major employer in the region.
