Time was when politics were considered a luxury. That time has passed. The modern man or woman must feel that there is no way in which he can get along without an understanding of the forces that move in the world and through them and around them. There Should Be No "Politics Played" In This Matter

By Victor L. Berger

HERE we are, and we have got to be careful. The modern man or woman must feel that there is no way in which he can get along without understanding of the forces that move in the world and through them and around them.

Parks are a necessity, because they afford a place for recreation and amusements for young and old—although that is also of importance. Parks are essential for the health and safety of the community. Parks are the places where the city by the sea is built.

The children who go to the sea for their health and safety need the parks. They need parks that are safe, and where they can play and swim without fear of accidents.

And last but not least among the reasons why it would not run. And since the park project is over-grown anyway—many of the options could not have been done for the same price.

The city would therefore have to pay a much higher price, or lose the park project.

Parks form a part of the Social-Democratic program and the party was elected on that platform.

We must see that last November which was practically as an endorsement of the city administration and of its program, and the people's mandate in office. The socialists are in power, and they are making a new social democracy. The people who are running the city are the people who are running the parks.

And as for the average German small business shop-boy—that is a good reason why we should be happy about the parks. Because German small business is so important to the city, that is a good reason why we should be happy.

That United States Constitution
It Was Drafted to Please the Pierpont Morgans of Early Days—The Truth About the Boston Tea Party

By Stanley
W. M. Kimball

Karo Historical Truth Not Found In Our Public School History

Our public school history that is taught to students in our public school system is not always the truth. Often, it is a watered-down version of events to make history more palatable to today's students. The truth about the Boston Tea Party is that it was not just about taxation without representation, but also about the influence of wealthy individuals, like the Pierpont Morgans, who had a hand in shaping history.

The Pierpont Morgans were a family of bankers and business magnates who played a significant role in American history. They were influential in the drafting of the Constitution and were associated with the Federalist Party, which advocated for a strong central government. The Pierpont Morgans were also involved in the ownership of the Boston Tea Party ships, which were used to dump tea into the harbor to protest the Stamp Act.

The Pierpont Morgans were not alone in their influence. Other wealthy families, such as the Astors and the Trumans, also had a say in the drafting of the Constitution. Their influence was felt throughout the document, from the creation of a strong central government to the protection of property rights.

A (From the Herald)

A REVOLUTION has broken out in the southern Russian republic. A big battle was fought last night in the vicinity of St. Petersburg. The forces were almost evenly matched, but the revolutionists gained the upper hand. The battle was fought on the outskirts of the city, near the railway station. There were reports of heavy losses on both sides. The railway was damaged, and the telegraph lines were cut. The battle continued for several hours, and the outcome is still uncertain. It is feared that the situation may become critical.

Socialism Made Plain. All-Union Central Council of Workers' Delegates Met. Special message received by the Socialist Democratic party headquarters from the Central Council of Workers' Delegates in St. Petersburg. The meeting was held last night under the presidency of Comrade Stalin. The delegates were unanimous in their support of the government's policy of suppressing the recent disturbances. Comrade Stalin declared that the government would not yield to any pressure from abroad or from domestic bolshevik elements. Comrade Stalin also spoke of the need for a strong central government, capable of commanding the loyalty of the working class.

The Constructive Program of Socialism. By Comrade Stalin. The program is given in six main points, the first of which is the establishment of a Social Democratic state. The second point is the nationalization of the means of production. The third point is the establishment of a Social Democratic government. The fourth point is the establishment of a Social Democratic educational system. The fifth point is the establishment of a Social Democratic justice system. The sixth point is the establishment of a Social Democratic cultural system. The program is to be carried out in stages, with the first stage to be completed within the next five years.

The Fruits of Labor. By Comrade Stalin. The labor of the working class is the foundation of Socialism. It is through the toil of the working class that Socialism is achieved. The working class must be organized and united. The working class must be educated and disciplined. The working class must be guided by a strong leadership. The working class must be protected by a Social Democratic government.

Paul Singer

Through his lifetime, Singer worked on his own projects, until he eventually became a member of the Federal Reserve Board. In 1963, he published a book, entitled "The Federal Reserve Board," which is one of the earliest analytical studies of the Federal Reserve's economic, legal, and political aspects. Singer's work has been widely praised by historians and policymakers alike, and his contributions to the Federal Reserve System continue to be studied and debated today.

The Federal Reserve System, founded in 1913, is an independent central banking system that serves as the central bank of the United States. It is composed of twelve regional Federal Reserve Banks, which are supervised by the Federal Reserve System. The Federal Reserve Board, which is composed of seven members, is responsible for the overall management of the Federal Reserve System.

City Aldermen Hold An Animated Session

MADISON—At the meeting of the Common Council Tuesday evening, the session lasted for nearly five hours. The meeting was held in the Council Chamber, the usual place for meetings of the council, and was attended by all members of the council.

The meeting was called to order by the President of the Council, who read the minutes of the last meeting. The roll was called, and the presence of all members of the council was noted.

The first order of business was the approval of the minutes of the last meeting. The minutes were read and approved, and the President then called for any reports or communications from the Mayor or other officers of the city.

The Mayor then reported that the city had been receiving a great deal of attention from the state government, and that a large sum of money had been allotted for the improvement of the city.

The President then called for any reports or communications from the various committees of the council.

The committee on Finance reported that the city's financial situation was in a satisfactory condition, and that all outstanding bills had been paid in full.

The committee on Public Works reported that the construction of the new city hall was progressing according to schedule.

The President then called for any questions or comments from the council members.

Alderman X called for a report on the progress of the sewerage system in the city. The report was given by the Engineer of the city, who stated that the work was progressing satisfactorily, and that the system would be completed within the next two years.

Alderman Y then called for a report on the progress of the water system in the city. The report was given by the Engineer of the city, who stated that the work was progressing satisfactorily, and that the system would be completed within the next two years.

The President then adjourned the meeting until the next Tuesday evening, when the council will meet again to continue the discussion of the various matters that were brought up at the meeting.

The meeting lasted for nearly five hours, and the council members were all very active and enthusiastic in their discussions.

For County Sanatorium

The new county sanatorium is expected to be finished within the next two years. The sanatorium is being built on a site just outside the city limits, and will accommodate a large number of patients.

The plans for the sanatorium were drawn up by a prominent architect, and the work is being done by a reputable contractor.

The sanatorium will be equipped with the latest medical appliances, and will be staffed by a team of experienced doctors and nurses.

The cost of the sanatorium is estimated to be $500,000, and the county is financing the project through a series of bond issues.

The sanatorium will be open to patients of all ages, and will accommodate both men and women.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company

Way and Light Company has lines extending for long distances in all directions from the central part of the city.

To make the service of the greatest value to the public, each line must be a useful member of the system of which it is a part and each in itself must be so operated that it will accommodate the greatest number of people practicable.

Business economy, as well as the requirements of the service, demands that the routing of the lines be so arranged as to distribute the travel most evenly, not only among the different lines, but throughout the different parts of the city and to the different sections of the city.

Beginning twenty years ago with five street railway properties that had been operated separately, and in some instances with more than one line in the same territory, this Company has found it necessary to make many changes in the routing of its lines.

The object in each case has been to provide the most direct transportation practicable between those parts of the city which have most demand in common with one another, and at the same time to strengthen and make more comprehensive, the system as a whole.

Merrid, Minn.—The employees of the mine that has been operated by the Typka Consolidated and which has been closed for the past 12 months have been notified that the mine is to be reopened. The miners and their families will be permitted to return to work and begin work on the 1st of July. The company has agreed to pay all wages due the miners for the past 12 months.

The employment of the mine on the 1st of July is expected to be completed. The mine is a major employer in the area and the reopening is expected to provide employment for many families. The company has agreed to pay all wages due the miners for the past 12 months, which is expected to provide some financial relief to the miners and their families.

Meager Pay for Working Girls
In a recent survey of working girls, it was found that the average weekly wage earned by working girls was $25. This is a significant increase from the previous year, when the average weekly wage was $20. The survey also found that the majority of working girls work in textile mills and garment factories.

The survey was conducted by the Department of Labor and is expected to provide valuable information for the development of labor policies. The survey also found that the majority of working girls work in textile mills and garment factories.

More Electric Power to Factories Every Month
No better evidence could be offered of the growing consumption of electric energy than the increased usage by manufacturers. The demand for electric energy is steadily increasing, and manufacturers are seeking new sources of power to meet their needs. The increase in demand is due to the increased use of electric energy in manufacturing processes.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company has been providing electric energy to factories in the city for the past 10 years. The company has been able to meet the increasing demand for electric energy by increasing its capacity and expanding its facilities.

Railway Lobbyist Busy at Madison

Opposes the Kiefer Bill from "Moral Reasons," Senator Gaylord's Impression

Madison, Wis. (AP) — The recent entrance of railroad

engineers in the field of national politics brings wide attention to the activities of senators from railway interests. Senator Gaylord (R-Wis.)

has been particular in this respect, and his opposition to the Kiefer Bill is due to "moral reasons," as he states in a message to the Senate.

The Kiefer Bill, introduced by Senator

Kiefer (R-Wis.), proposes a consolidation of the railroad systems in the state. Senator Gaylord sees

no advantage in such a consolidation, and believes that the present system of management is the best for his state.

The Conservation Bills

The Belts of Wisconsin

Senator Gaylord's opposition

is based on the idea that the Kiefer Bill is not the best solution for Wisconsin's problems. He believes that the state should continue to manage its own railroads,

and that the federal government should not interfere.

The Kiefer Bill would give the federal government control over the railroads, which Senator Gaylord feels would be detrimental to the state's interests.

Holds Railway Responsible for a Human Life

One of the most intelligent judges of Froedtert's Orth, the attention of the Superior Court of the Eastern District of Wisconsin, has been called to the recent case of J.J.B. v. Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company, and the decision is expected to have a significant impact on the railroads.

The case involved a passenger who was injured on the train. The passenger claimed that the company was negligent, but the company argued that the passenger was negligent themselves.

The judge's decision

is expected to clarify

the responsibilities of both parties in such incidents.

Do the Newspapers Play Politics?

The question of whether newspapers engage in political journalism is a complex one. Many newspapers strive to remain impartial, but

others may have strong

political leanings.

The Ethics of the Media

The role of the media in politics is an important debate. Some argue that the media's impact is

minimal, while others

believe it has a significant influence. The debate

continues to evolve.
