ALL OF THEM "PLAYING POLITICS"

EDWARD L. LARABEE, the great German Social-Democratic agitator and orator, once said it is optional to try to be a great thing—that it is said to "play politics" in great things.

But everybody is trying to be in Washington—everybody.

Our Insurance, or "Progressives," as they like to call themselves, are just now trying to be—protesting public opinion—on the matter of a state movement in Kansas—Squatters' rights. But the Insurance men say they are playing politics.

But, it is a very bad idea. The Insurance men think this very bad idea.

We'll call on the insurance companies.

Mr. La Follette and the Insurance companies had for a time the high tariffs on the workmen—and incidentally also show that "we are all in it together.

La Follette and the Insurance companies had a high tariff policy for the workmen—and improvements are of great importance.

But why was the tariff policy of great importance? And so, like the old story about the garden, the whole tariff policy is now being exercised.

It is playing politics, says a vengeance. But it is a good policy for a man who has at least had to lose.

because he had always been one of the Republicans—and justly so.

Yet, for the record, it is a very bad idea to be playing politics.

In other words, the record is not good at all.

It is a very bad idea to be playing politics.

And we'll call on the insurance companies.

A Thinker in Congress

T. S. Sair, a thinker in the House of Representatives, made a brilliantly logical speech in Congress on the subject of "Richness" in the field of charity. He said that, in the world of today, where everything is done in a "Richness" of the Second Class of society, the ancy of the middle class is becoming a real handicap, and the "Richness" of the upper class is becoming the butt of the world. The speech was enthusiastically received by the audience, and was the talk of the day.

They began by discussing the weather, noting that it had been a warm and sunny day.

Then they turned to the business of the store, talking about the latest cigar offerings and the popularity of various brands.

One of the men mentioned the recent change in city government, and they both expressed their opinions on the new administration.

They continued to converse, covering a range of topics including local politics, business, and social events.

Finally, they wrapped up their discussion and headed off, each back to their respective tasks.

Shameful Work in the McNamara Case

By Patrick Decombe

Los Angeles, Cal., July 1-The Industrial Workers of the World has been left with a second separable of the strike over the last days on account of its failure to organize the workers of the McNamara shop. As a result, they have been left to face the situation unaided by any significant labor movement.

The workers of the McNamara shop have been left without the protection of a powerful labor organization. The strike has been called, not to gain recognition for the union, but to force the management to accept its demands.

Mr. McNamara, the owner of the shop, has refused to answer the charges made against him. He has told the workers that they are welcome to continue their strike, but that they will not be paid any wages during the strike.

Mrs. McNamara, the wife of the owner, has refused to answer questions put to her by the workers. She has told them that they will not be paid any wages during the strike.

The strike has been called to force the management to accept the demands of the workers. The workers have been left without the protection of a powerful labor organization. The strike has been called, not to gain recognition for the union, but to force the management to accept its demands.

The Governor Was Stampeded

The Governor of the State has been accused of stampeding his legislative successors in a manner which is calculated to bring about the downfall of the entire State. The House of Representatives has passed an resolutions which, if accepted by the Governor, will result in the recall of the legislature.

The governor's phraseology is similar to that used by other state executives in similar cases. He stated that his predecessor had made a "farce of the government," and that he would not be responsible for any further legislation until "the people" were "satisfied with the management of their business."

The resolutions in question, if accepted by the Governor, will result in the recall of the entire legislature, which has been in session for several years without the benefit of any constructive legislation. The Governor has not been able to hold his followers in check, and the legislation which has been passed since his predecessor's administration has been of a character which is highly unsatisfactory to the people at large.

The resolutions propose the reappointment of a commission, which is to be given the task of determining the cause of the recall, and the Governor has already appointed a commission to make similar recommendations.

The Governor has stated that he will not be responsible for any further legislation until the commission makes its report, which will probably be some time in the future. He has also stated that the commission will be given the task of determining the cause of the recall, and that it will be up to the Governor to decide whether or not he will accept the recommendations of the commission.

The Governor has been criticized by many of his followers for his handling of the situation. They have charged that he has failed to take steps to prevent the recall, and that he has allowed the situation to get out of hand.

The House of Representatives is expected to act on the resolutions next week, and it is probable that the Governor will be forced to accept the recommendations of the commission. The future of the State government is in doubt, and the situation is likely to become more critical as time goes on.

Milwaukee Labor Mourns the Death of Gustav Richter

From a group photograph taken at the funeral of Gustav Richter of Milwaukee, August 14, 1911.

The late Gustav Richter, a prominent member of the Social-Democratic party, died August 10 at the age of 46. His death is a great loss to the labor movement in Milwaukee and throughout the country. Richter was a tireless worker for the cause of socialism and a devoted friend of the workers. His death leaves a void that can never be filled.

Maurer Praises Milwaukee

James H. Maurer, a Social-Democratic leader, paid tribute to Richter in his home city of Milwaukee. Maurer praised Richter's dedication to the labor movement and his contributions to the Social-Democratic party. He described Richter as a true friend of the workers and a dedicated leader. Maurer's words are a fitting tribute to Richter's legacy.

Parks and Places to Play

For Chester W. Wright

If we could get to the park and see all the beautiful things there, we would be better off.

Two of the finest features of a city park are the opportunity for the children to play and the opportunity for the adults to relax and enjoy the beauty of nature. The parks offer a chance to escape the hustle and bustle of city life and to enjoy the fresh air and the beauty of nature. They are a great source of joy and relaxation for all ages.

War: What For?

By George R. Kirkpatrick

Price per copy $1.20 postpaid. Club of 3 copies at 80 cents each.

The Social-Democratic party, as a result of the war, has suffered great losses. It has been a time of great stress and strain for all of us, and the Social-Democratic party has been no exception. The war has taken a toll on the party, and it has been a difficult time for all of us. But we must remember that the Social-Democratic party is fighting for the rights of the working class, and we must continue to support it in its fight for justice and peace.
Three Cunning Tricks

Three cunning tricks were played on the unsuspecting people of the past two weeks. In a devious, misunderstood way, they were forced to us as to create a twist in the plot.

One of these tricks was a straight-out falsehood. It was reported that a main leader in the city had been shot by a rival group. The people were made to believe this for weeks, but in the end it was revealed to be a hoax.

Another was a bit more sneaky, a twist in the tale. It was reported that a newly discovered archaeological site contained the remains of ancient Civilizations. The public was excited but in the end it was revealed to be nothing more than a marketing ploy.

The third was a more subtle trick, a misdirection. It was reported that a major book release was coming soon. The release date was then changed, causing confusion and delay in the release of the book.

Number One
City councils are being bribed and certain officials of the city will be indicted for bribery.

Number Two
Mayor Seidel says in New York speech, "Aid will be needed next time. Of course, we are afraid we will lose." —Lake Huron.

Admirable truth. Mixed with a brine of soda and formaldehyde, human pelvis, helmet of an intellectual rat, twisted fact. The word "affair" and the word "drama" were not used by Seidel. Did not say "Are we afraid we will lose."

Number Three
"The Socialistic administration has hopefully broken down under this ceiling of oppression in all departments."

Good specimen of an office-burdener reformer's misstatement.

The laws of today absolutely prevent any administration from employing anyone in all departments. —Leslie Everts, Charles A. Mullen and John E. Commons, all engaged by the Socialist Democrats, are all experts.

An Observation
The best administration Milwaukee has ever had and the candidly recorded only attempt at reform administration was recorded earlier than this.

It is heard that Leslie Everts, afterwards newspaperman and newspaper editor, was also newspaper editor and newspaperman in a previous administration.

If it is revealed that in some of these memos, he is shown to be or helps others to be in the middle of a canning, deliberate lie.
