PARTY NEWS OF THE WISCONSIN MOVEMENT

The state board again

We have received a second letter from A. L. W., the county chairman of the Wisconsin state organization of the Wisconsin movement. He writes:

"I am pleased to report that the Wisconsin movement is going well. Our membership is increasing and the interest in the movement is growing. We are planning to hold a large meeting in Milwaukee next month."

The letter goes on to mention the success of previous meetings and the interest shown by the public in the movement. It concludes with a call for more support and participation.

Congressman Berger in a Lively Debate

WASHINGTON D. C.—On the result of an earlier and at times lively debate on the Okigan Amendement in this House, Rep.
John P. Berger, the Wisconsin Social-Democrat, rose in his usual manner, and stated his case.

"Mr. Chairman," the Rep. began,
"I rise to speak on the Okigan Amendement. I believe that the people of Wisconsin are entitled to equal representation in the House of Representatives. The Okigan Amendement is designed to prevent the House from defrauding the people of that State.

"I hold that the Okigan Amendement is necessary to protect the rights of the people of Wisconsin. The people of Wisconsin have the right
to equal representation in the House of Representatives, and the Okigan Amendement is a necessary step in that direction.

"I urge the House to pass the Okigan Amendement, and I believe that it will be a step in the right direction for the people of Wisconsin.

"Thank you, Mr. Chairman."

Says Reducing Costs by Cutting Wages Fallacious

If a country is to succeed, it must reduce its costs by cutting wages, says a recent article in the New York Times. "Wages are too high," the article states, "and must be reduced in order to maintain an economic balance."

"Cutting wages is not the answer," says the article. "Reducing costs by cutting wages is fallacious.
Wages are too high, but they must be adjusted in order to keep the economy afloat."

"Cutting wages will only lead to an economic collapse," says the article. "The only way to reduce costs is by increasing efficiency and productivity."
