Sabotage vs. Socialism---In the Light of Labor's History

Written for The Herald by Robert Hunter

Now that W. D. Haywood has disappeared once more to evade the labor laws and treat apparently with other contemporaries, a little examination is due to the Socialist party and its chief spokesmen. Too often, it is stated, the Socialist movement in America is carried on at the expense of the Workingmen's movement. In fact, the Socialist movement has been described as a giant's club wielded against the working men. This is a very accurate description. The Socialist movement is nothing more than a self-appointed group of men who are determined to make the Workingmen's movement work for them. They have done this by every legal means at their disposal, and they have also resorted to illegal means to further their ends. They have used the labor laws to their advantage, and they have also used the Workingmen's movement to their advantage. They have been successful in their efforts, and they have been able to carry out their plans without being checked by the Workingmen's movement. They have been able to carry out their plans without being checked by the Workingmen's movement.

THE G. M. IN THE BRAIN TANK

I DON'T know what has happened to the G. M. in the brain tank. No one seems to be able to explain it. Some say it's dead; others say it's alive. But nobody really knows. The G. M. is in the brain tank, and nobody seems to understand what's going on.

It's a strange place, the brain tank. It's filled with strange, colorful lights and machines. The G. M. is floating in a pool of liquid, and there are tubes and wires all around him. Nobody really knows what's happening.

From the brain tank, all kinds of information seeps into the factory, where the managers and engineers work. It's a strange place, but it's the only place where the G. M. can be found.

If you want to know more about the G. M. in the brain tank, you'll have to ask the engineers. They're the ones who understand it.

The Great Fact in the Recent National Campaign

BY CARL MARX

The Great Fact in the Recent National Campaign is that the Democratic Party is no longer a party. The Democratic Party has become a sham, a hollow shell, a mere hollow sound. It is no longer a party, it is no longer a movement. It is no longer a force. It is no longer a power. It is no longer a weapon. It is no longer a tool. It is no longer a vehicle. It is no longer a means. It is no longer an instrument. It is no longer a symbol. It is no longer a representation. It is no longer a reflection. It is no longer a representation of anything.

NO COMPROMISE.

The Democratic Party is no longer a party. It is no longer a movement. It is no longer a force. It is no longer a power. It is no longer a weapon. It is no longer a tool. It is no longer a vehicle. It is no longer a means. It is no longer an instrument. It is no longer a symbol. It is no longer a representation. It is no longer a reflection. It is no longer a representation of anything. It is no longer a party. It is no longer a movement. It is no longer a force. It is no longer a power. It is no longer a weapon. It is no longer a tool. It is no longer a vehicle. It is no longer a means. It is no longer an instrument. It is no longer a symbol. It is no longer a representation. It is no longer a reflection. It is no longer a representation of anything.

The Joke of the Century

A man in New York City was taking a bath. He was very happy because he had just heard a joke that was so funny that it made him laugh out loud. He decided to share the joke with his friends, so he went down to the local pub and told them the joke. Everyone in the pub laughed, and they all asked the man how he had heard the joke. He told them the joke was his own, and he had just invented it. His friends were amazed, and they asked him if he had written it down. He said no, but he had jotted down the main points. His friends were even more amazed, and they asked him if he could write the joke down for them. He said yes, and he wrote it down on a piece of paper. His friends were even more amazed, and they asked him how he could have written the joke down so quickly. He said, "I'm a fast writer." His friends were even more amazed, and they asked him how he could have written the joke down so quickly. He said, "I'm a fast writer." His friends were even more amazed, and they asked him how he could have written the joke down so quickly. He said, "I'm a fast writer."
