Democrats Cannot Make Good, Says Berger

Ellis Island was established too late for capitalism's safety.
The Change in Government. No Change at All.

"There has been a change of government," President Wilson announced in his inaugural address. "Mr. Taft is here and Mr. Wilson is in." A Republican in the United States Senate has given way to a Democratic majority.

The nation's government is divided. The Democratic Party has gained possession of Congress, but the Republican Party still holds the executive branch of government.

There has been a change in the personnel, but there has been no change in the government. Mr. Wilson is the man who ran and lost the election, and who is now running and losing it. The country's affairs are left in the hands of the same men who have been in power. The policies of the old government are being continued.

The people of the United States are divided in their support of the new administration. Some are happy with the change, while others are unhappy.

By HENRY ASHTON

A few years ago, when the American Federation of Labor was just beginning to make itself felt, there was a great wave of enthusiasm over the new movement. People were eager to learn about the principles of socialism, and the lectures on the subject were well attended.

A Remarkable Book

Many people were impressed by the thought that socialism was a solution to the problems of society. The idea of a society where everyone worked for the common good was appealing.

The book "The Industrial Democracy" was published, and it quickly became a best-seller. The author, a socialist, argued that the only way to achieve a just society was through the complete control of the means of production.

The book was a great success, and it set the stage for the development of the socialist movement in America.

The bank will also have a number of other features, such as a library, a restaurant, and a community center. These will be open to the public and will offer a number of services, such as reading material, food, and events.

The bank will be located in the heart of the city, and it will be easily accessible to everyone. It will be a central location for people to come and do business, and it will also be a place for people to socialize and meet each other.

The bank will be open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and it will be staffed with qualified personnel. It will also have security measures in place to ensure the safety of the bank and its customers.
