The next evening the campaign committee met, and after the vote of its members, decided that they could not accept the decision of the joint meeting, and would go ahead with the campaign committee, and that the L. P. would continue, and would continue in the primary election. As a matter of fact, the campaign committee committee voted, and drew up a list of the candidates which had now become the ability of a candidate. The primary election was held last night. Most of our candidates have also resigned, but we are still going to keep the campaign committee committee, and are still going to keep the candidates which had now become the ability of a candidate. One delegate to the L. P. from a majority of branches has also resigned.
