"No Benevolence In A Boss"

By a Worker Correspondent

My husband worked in the U. S. Pipe Factory for ten years. When I answered the boss's question about how I was doing my work and got a salary of $10 a week, he said: "You are doing your work well and you have been here a long time. I will give you $15 a week." We had to live off the $10 a week because we had to pay rent and all kinds of expenses. We were only able to buy one shirt a week.

He took in July 30, but continued his work until August 31. He was removed to the hospital on August 31 and died at 10 a.m. on the same day. He was never behind on his rent and always paid his bills on time. We want the people to know there is no benevolence in a boss.

Don't Be Yellow, Says Ala. Farmer

By a Farmer Correspondent

We are told of a cotton planter in Alabama who told his workers that he is not yellow and that he will not let the workers work in the fields. He said: "I am not yellow and I will not let the workers work in the fields. I will let them work here and they will make a lot of money."

WINTER IS COMING!

Fight Lynching

Lynching has become such a common crime that it is impossible to keep track of the places where it occurs. Lately, the press has been filled with accounts of lynchings in the South. There have been reports of lynchings in Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia. It is estimated that over 100 lynchings have occurred in the South this year alone. Lynching is a form of mob violence and is used by white supremacists to terrorize African Americans. It is a violation of human rights and should be condemned.

Marion Official In Lynching

CHICAGO, IL - Marion Johnson, a black official in the city of Marion, Tennessee, has been accused of involvement in a lynching that occurred earlier this month. Johnson has denied any involvement and is awaiting trial.

The Reds Say...

The Southern Worker, a newspaper, was founded in 1918 by the Communist Party of the United States. It was a weekly publication that distributed news and information about the labor movement, the fight against lynching, and the struggle for workers' rights.

Organize and Strike Now

In the midst of the Great Depression, the United Textile Workers of America (UTW) went on strike to demand better working conditions and higher wages. The strike lasted for several months and was eventually successful, with the workers winning many of their demands.

Birmingham and Chattanooga in Revolutionary Conditions

The Southern Worker often covered events in Birmingham and Chattanooga, which were known for their revolutionary conditions. The newspaper promoted workers' rights and the fight against lynching, and was a key source of information for the labor movement.

Unemployment grows as winter comes. The winter months are the worst time for unemployed workers. Without steady work, many families struggle to make ends meet. In this season of unemployment, we must come together to fight for a better future.
