RESENT PROFFERS OF THE RICH

Best Kitchens Not Needed if People Are Given Employment at Decent Wages—Why starve?

Calling for a committee to investigate the conditions brought to light by the recent campaign of publicity concerning the poorly fed school children...

"Every day we see on the front page of the newspapers the story of the terrible conditions that are existing on the East Side and extending to the West Side."

"Let these benefactors and benefactresses take the food out of the warehouses, do something in this matter, and let us have employment at decent wages."

"Now, I have been collecting facts and data and it seems to me that it is time that the working people themselves do something in this matter."

Delegates Agree. The Lithographer Helper's Union, followed with the statement that it was a shame that the children should be fed after a fashion while the mothers who bear them are compelled to starve or accept humiliating aid.

Schultz Agency Unfair. The action of the Executive Board in placing the local agency of the Schultz Brewing Company of Milwaukee upon the unfair list was endorsed in the C. F. U. after the delegate of Beer Drivers' Union No. 27 had spoken.

Waft Hears Protest. The action of the executive board in sending a letter of query concerning the antagonistic attitude of the War Department regarding the painting of a number of Panama vessels employed by the government in running to the Panama Canal was endorsed.

ANTI-RACETRACK BILL IS DOOMED TO DEFEAT

From all the present indications on the horizon, the legislative weather is not conducive to the passage of the anti-racetrack bill at the special session.

The special session will be resumed to-night, and this will permit the introduction of the Agnew-Hart bill so that it will come up in the regular order of business on Thursday, the day set for the adjournment of the special session.

The question of adjourning the special session until next September and resuming the discussion of the racetrack bill at that time is not regarded seriously in informed circles.

THE CALL ITS ORGAN

So Declares Central Labor Union of Brooklyn.

IT IS UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSED

Members Highly Pleased With the Issues of the Initial Week and Recommend It to All Union Men.

After listening attentively to an eloquent address by J. Gerber, of the Sheet Metal Workers, the Central Labor Union of Brooklyn officially endorsed The Call as its official organ and instructed delegates to notify their secretaries to send all official notices to The Call.

The motion to adopt The Call was made by Delegate Royle, of the Bookkeepers and Accountants' Union. In seconding the motion Delegate Raphael, of the Cigar-makers' Union, commented upon the first week's issues of The Call, and recommended not only that the union adopt it, but that the delegates advise every member of their organizations to read it.

"Up to this time, he said, we were isolated from the means by which public opinion was moulded, the press. The Call would fill a long felt want. For the press had always been against the union and by standing beside the only paper that had taken the side against the capitalistic press, the union would be able to present its side to the people."

"The Call will do for us what other papers are doing for the Manufacturers' Association," he declared. Several other delegates echoed his views and reported the treatment they had received upon various occasions from the capitalist press of the city.

Delegate Boyce's motion was then put to a vote and was unanimously endorsed. The Call was unanimously endorsed by the delegates from the various unions.

The following organizations attended in a body: Carpenters' Union, No. 309, 378 and 532; Bricklayers' Union, Nos. 11 and 35; Machinists' Union, No. 335; Cigar-makers' Union, No. 90; Bakers' Union, Nos. 1 and 164; Brewers' Union, No. 1; Butchers' Union, No. 174, and the Educational Club of the Sheet Metal Workers' Union and the New York branches of the Workers' Sick and Death Benefit Society.
