The Union Printers' Home, a Monument To Organized Labor, at Colorado Springs

One minute of his working time every day is what every union printer in North America gives as his mite toward the maintenance of the Union Printers' Home at Colorado Springs, Colo. Every month every one of the 45,000 members of the International Typographical Union pays an assessment of 15 cents—half a cent a day, or less than the amount the average printer will earn in a minute's working time. It is a small sacrifice, but it is a small sacrifice, coming from every man, working in co-operation with his fellow laborers, which gives the Home an annual fund of $90,000 for maintenance and improvements.

The printers have built and maintained the home themselves—and they are proud of the fact. It is their home; every man has an equal share in it, an equal right to partake of the bounty if the time should come when old age or illness should make it necessary for him to retreat to the shelter in the rearing and maintaining of which he has done his small part.

In the beginning, George W. Childs and A. J. Drexel made a gift of $30,000 to the International Typographical Union. With this nucleus the Home fund was started. Since the foundations for the main building were laid in 1891, nearly $800,000 has been spent in buildings, furnishings, improvements and maintenance. Every cent of this, with the exception of the Childs-Drexel gift and the income from the Julia A. Ladd endowment of $1,000, has been contributed by the printers themselves.

What is Worth Knowing. Figures may tell a part of the story of the Union Printers' Home. But it is not sufficient to know that the property, which stands on a commanding eminence east of Colorado Springs, is to-day valued at $1,000,000, when twenty years ago this tract was barren prairie land which could have been bought up for a few dollars an acre; or to learn that there are now six buildings on the grounds; the main building, the tuberculosis sanitarium, the superintendent's cottage, the laundry, heating plant and barns, besides the tent colony and the $30,000 the beginning of which has just been authorized by the trustees. It is far more significant to learn how this home has been so managed that it has become indeed a sanitarium where the sick may sojourn for some time to build up, in Colorado's health-giving climate, their broken constitutions and restore lost strength and vitality, a haven where the aged and infirm may retreat to a peaceful closing of a life that has been spent in toil and battle in a world of labor and strife. Really to understand the work that is being done requires an inspection of the buildings and grounds and a few hours, random chat with the residents and an investigation of the methods and regulations enforced by the efficient management.

Many of the printers themselves scarcely comprehend the scope and importance of the home, and the annual convention has twice been held in Colorado Springs in order to give the membership at large a broader understanding of the great institution they are supporting.

Its Bounty Unpurchasable. Of the residents, some there are who are cripples; some are blind; many are old; and members have been "exiled" with a death sentence from tuberculosis, but are slowly building up the bodies that have been wasted by disease. And the hearts of all beat true to a thought of brotherhood which is placed in arching letters above the gateway to the grounds, in this legend: "The Union Printers' Home; Its Bounty Unpurchasable."

The printer, when he is admitted to the Home, is supposed to bring with him a certain amount of clothes. After that everything, even a weekly pension, is furnished him. Every cent is taken in securing a food supply that is the best. Milk and eggs are procured from the Home's own dairy and poultry farm. An excellent library provides reading matter. There are facilities for all kinds of sports, while there are many festive occasions such as the Fourth of July barbecue, the annual picnic in North Cheyenne Canon, the Christmas tree and monthly winter night entertainments.

In the tuberculosis sanitarium every precaution is taken to safeguard the patient and assure him the best of treatment. Regular habits and hours are required, and the drinking of intoxicants is strictly prohibited. All sanitary regulations are rigorously observed and the buildings are exceptionally well ventilated.

In addition to the home, the International Typographical Union has recently inaugurated an old age pension, by which any printer, sixty years of age, who has held twenty years' continuous membership in the union, is entitled to receive $4 a week. There are about 1,000 members on this list.

History of the Home. Although the first proposition to establish a home was made in May, 1857, nothing definite came of the plan until 1882, when Messrs. Childs and Drexel made their $10,000 gift. It was the fund, the printers, on the birthdays of these two gentlemen, each contributed the amount received from setting 1,000 "ems" of type. Louis R. Ehrlich, of Colorado Springs, offered an 80-acre site, and this property was selected as the permanent location for the Home at the Denver convention of 1889, after a spirited contest until 1892, when the average number at any one time is 150, and that the average cost per resident, is only $30 a month.

It is far more significant to learn how this home has been so managed that it has become indeed a sanitarium where the sick may sojourn for some time to build up, in Colorado's health-giving climate, their broken constitutions and restore lost strength and vitality, a haven where the aged and infirm may retreat to a peaceful closing of a life that has been spent in toil and battle in a world of labor and strife.

War on "White Plague." The trustees have within the last few years devoted special attention to the treatment of tuberculosis, a disease to which printers are particularly subject because of the nature of their work. The methods employed at the Union Printers' Home in its successful battle against the "white plague" are attracting attention all over the country. At the International Congress on Tuberculosis, held in Washington last year, the printer's home was represented by a prize-winning exhibit and the model ten was presented, upon request, to the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, for display during the winter tour of the principal cities of the United States.

In 1904 ten tents were erected near the sanitarium building. They have proven a valuable acquisition to the hospital service and their efficiency has been so thoroughly and satisfactorily demonstrated that the number has recently been doubled. The experimental stage in the tent treatment of tuberculosis has long since passed; and officials of the union and the majority of the patients who have had the advantage of tent life have recovered health and strength and have been enabled again to resume their business duties. The average wage would be higher but for the fact that too many are not sent to Colorado until they are in the last stages of the disease.

The affairs of the Union Printers' Home are managed by a board of trustees, elected by a vote of the entire membership. As the union is not an incorporated body, they hold this property; and an agent is appointed as a check against any illegal use of the property. The members of the present board of trustees are: President J. M. Lynch, Syracuse, N. Y.; Vice President, Thomas McCafferty, Colorado Springs; Secretary, Treasurer, John B. Hayes, Minneapolis; L. V. Shepard, Grand Rapids; W. J. White, San Francisco; Thomas F. Crowley, Cincinnati; and T. D. Fennessy, Los Angeles. Since June 1, 1908, Charles W. Deacon has been superintendent of the Home. George Nichols, of Baltimore, is the agent.

Several thousand people crowded Grand Central Palace until early this morning at the ninth annual entertainment, reception and ball of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers' Union given last night, which was one of the most successful affairs ever held by this organization.

John J. Nolan's orchestra furnished the music and the long and unusually good vaudeville program was given under the direction of James L. Barry, business agent of the Actors' National Protective Union, Local No. 2. The program included Clark, the comedy juggler; the Bates Musical Trio; Whalen and West, in a comedy sketch; the Gotham Comedy Four; Ecker and Dupree, German comedians; Quilley Brothers, comedians; Jack and Gubby, in illustrated songs, and the Gubby-o-scope with the latest moving pictures. After this the dancing continued until the small hours.

The size of the crowd present makes sure that a big sum was raised for the sick and death benefit fund, which is one of the principal features of the organization. In addition to the officers of the deliverers, many well known trade unionists from other organizations were present. Great credit is due to Chairman J. J. Donovan of the arrangement committee and his willing cooperation, as well as to Frank P. Brennan, head of the reception committee, Paul Cella of the entertainment committee, Philip F. Bannon of the floor committee, Bartley J. Conroy of the public committee and their able assistants.

Ready to Face Death. Pouden thanked the Socialist press, the Socialist party and the workmen of this country for starting the fight that saved his life. He then thanked his lawyers, Herbert Parsons, Prof. I. A. Hourwich and Simon O. Pollock, who conducted the case without remuneration. He also thanked the American people and the press in general for their support.

"While in Russia," he said, "I belonged to the Lithuanian Branch of the Social Democratic Party. I faced death many a time. But if conditions would permit and require I would go back to Russia to-day and face death again. If I can not go I will remain in America and serve the Cause of Justice here."

The meeting was held to celebrate Pouden's freedom and also for the purpose of starting a movement for the abrogation of the treaty with Russia. Resolutions were adopted, urging the necessity of such steps, copies of which were ordered to be sent to the press and to the principal cities of the country.

Mr. William English Walling, author of "Russia's Message," who had spent three years studying the conditions under which Pouden and his comrades fought, was chairman. In opening his remarks he said: "I do not intend to rehearse the details of this case, but I want to say this: Last year, when Russia was struggling for freedom and needed the help of democratic countries, most of America forgot the Russian revolution and gave a decision in favor of extraditing Pouden, a decision that was to allow the czar to hunt down revolutionists in this country."

Thanks Socialist Press. "It was then left for the Russians themselves, those who came here for protection, to form a strong organization and oppose the power that the czar had in this country. They were assisted by three Socialist papers, the Volkszeitung, the Chicago Daily Socialist and the New York Evening Call; they were assisted by the Socialist party, whose members had jumped from 25,000 to 85,000, and a movement was then started to remind the American people of their traditions of political asylum.

The American people owe a gratitude to the Russian refugees; were it not for them the principles of sympathy for freedom and the traditions of which every one of us is proud would have been forgotten and the principles of the American people would have been the most reactionary forces in Europe."

Mr. Walling said that the reason for the liberation of Pouden was that the American people would not permit Washington to fear that his release would establish a precedent which would aid the Mexican revolutionists who are now fighting in the United States courts.

REMEMBRANCE TO CHEER POUREN

Impressive Celebration of His Release. Wife Breaks Down Abrogation of Treaty Demanded.

A happy and enthusiastic crowd gathered last Saturday night at Grand Central Palace to greet Jan Janoff Pouden at a reception tendered him by the Pouden Conference on the occasion of his release from the Tombs prison where he had been confined for fifteen months on charges brought against him by the Russian Government.

The meeting was impressive and the audience gave unrestricted expression of joy at seeing the revolutionist once more a free man, saved from the clutches of the czar. His appearance was the signal for cheers and shouts of welcome. Again and again did they applaud when he took the stand to speak, and the enthusiastic reception he received unnerved him.

While Pouden spoke his wife, who was on the platform, gave vent to tears. Her husband's suffering while in prison, the constant fear of his death, the hardships of the journey to the gallows and the enthusiastic reception were too much for the poor woman and she broke down.

Ready to Face Death. Pouden thanked the Socialist press, the Socialist party and the workmen of this country for starting the fight that saved his life.

The meeting was held to celebrate Pouden's freedom and also for the purpose of starting a movement for the abrogation of the treaty with Russia. Resolutions were adopted, urging the necessity of such steps, copies of which were ordered to be sent to the press and to the principal cities of the country.

FACTS ABOUT MORGAN

(Continued from page 1.) Army. and was for the sum of $53,550. The other twenty-five hundred rifles, the court said, had also been received by General Fremont.

Government Cheated Out. Was the transaction fully carried out? It was. The court held that when Fremont had agreed to buy the rifles, he had entered into a contract, and THAT A CONTRACT WAS A CONTRACT.

It did not mention the fact that the rifles had been represented as NEW. THE COURT SAID THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAD BEEN CHEATED OUT OF MONEY. It gave Stevens a judgment against the Government for $53,575.

It was this decision which opened the way for the owners of what were then cynically called "DEADHORSE" CLAIMS to get paid, and also for those contractors who had furnished other worthless arms and supplies of SHODDY CLOTHING, ROTTEN TENTS AND BLANKETS, PASTEBOARD SHOES, ADULTERATED FOOD and other goods to the Government at exorbitant prices. A FINE BEGINNING FOR THE GREAT J. PIERPONT MORGAN. WAS IT NOT? This is a very different story from the romances of the whole corps of sympathetic writers, but it is the true one. You can see up the official volumes mentioned and consult the facts for yourself.

And it was ONLY THE BEGINNING of a long career full of many more similar acts of "patriotism" down to the present time, all of which acts are duly and specifically set forth in the writers' forthcoming "History of the Great American Fortunes."

IMPORTANT MEETING.

A special meeting of the Workingmen's Co-operative Publishing Association will be held on Wednesday, April 21, at P. M., Pearl Hall, 475 Pearl Street, Manhattan.

Among others on the order of business is the election of a member of the board of management in place of Fred E. Martin, who resigned. The board of management has very important matters to report, including reorganization of the departments of The Call.

The co-operation of all the members of the association and the comrades in general is necessary and desired and their presence at this meeting is solicited.

Come, comrades, let us pull together and make The Call a success. Board of Management, W. C. P. A. AMY W. DESSAQUE, President. J. GERBER, Secretary.

Refugees Not Safe.

The fact that Pouden is free does not prove that our victory is complete," he said. "Rudowitz and Pouden were released because they proved that they were revolutionists. Fortunately it was possible for us to prove that a revolution existed in the Baltic provinces at the times the crimes with which they were charged were committed."

Mr. Hourwich then cited examples of daring political deeds which have been committed at a time when no technical evidence to show that the revolutionists were in a position to be produced. He showed that Maria Sprodoyna, had she fled to this country, would, under the conditions of the terms of the treaty, have to be extradited. He cited several other cases of well known revolutionists who committed acts of violence when their country was not technically in a revolutionary state, and who would therefore have to be delivered to the czar.

WITH THE SUB-GETTERS.

By Albert E. Cull. WORK FOR A PRIZE. Ten thousand new subscribers to The Call are needed. We want YOU to help to secure them. It is vital. With them The Call will be placed on a self-supporting basis.

THE URGENCY OF THE SITUATION HAS PROMPTED A CASH CONTEST. The contest closes on May 30—the first anniversary of The Call. You may enter any time, but don't delay. TWO HUNDRED AND THIRTY DOLLARS will be given to the thirty-three locals or individuals sending us the largest amount in cash subscriptions.

THE PRIZES ARE: To the individual or local sending us the largest amount in cash subscriptions, we will give a Cash Bonus of $75. To the individual or local coming second, a Cash Bonus of $50. To the individual or local coming third, a Cash Bonus of $25. To the next TEN individuals or locals, each a Cash Bonus of $5.

THE REASON FOR THE CONTEST. We are not philanthropists. All departments of The Call were carefully analyzed. It became apparent that the future of the paper depends on subscriptions. It is right that this should be so. Mail subscriptions grow. A subscription brings a renewal. A renewal brings other subscriptions. It is an endless chain system.

THE NEWSDEALER OR THE CALL? When you purchase The Call from the newsstand instead of subscribing by mail, it means that the newsdealer gets the profits and The Call sustains a loss. It should make little difference how intimate a friend with you the newsdealer may be. That does not enter into the question. The problem before you is HOW CAN YOU BEST SERVE THE CALL?

THE IMPORTANT WORK. In the eleven Eastern states—to which The Call must look for its main support—there were cast during the last election 106,040 Socialist votes. Can you realize for a moment what it would mean if all of these Socialist voters were subscribers? Yet not more than 7 per cent of them subscribe to The Call by mail.

"The Gay Life," Harrison Grey Flagg's production, Roy L. McCardell's comedy, will begin an engagement at Daly's Theater to-day.

The final week of the German Theater season at the Irving Place Theater will be devoted to a farce called "Der Weg zur Holle" (The Path to Perdition).

"The Servant in the House," in its Swedish version, translated by Miss Hilda Englund, achieved its first European production at the Svenska Theater, Stockholm, on Wednesday evening last.

The success of Mr. Mantell at the Academy of Music last week has stimulated his manager, William A. Brady, to further efforts in giving the patrons of this theater scenic productions of the highest order.

With its circus, spectacle and ballet the Hippodrome is presenting its greatest show. The arena performance at present is the strongest ever shown.

At Keith and Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theater this week Julius Steger and his company will head the bill in a new dramatic sketch called "The Way to the Heart."

THE FRENCH EXPERIENCE.

The success of the Paris postal employees' strike pretty well disposes of the argument against Socialism so often used among labor unionists...

The French workingmen, in ever larger numbers, are carrying on their struggle on the political field and the industrial field at the same time...

France has a far larger proportion of public employees than has the United States. But, so far from being helpless servants of the state, these public employees are even stronger and more successful unionists than the workers in private employ.

The French experience demonstrates that there is no necessary antagonism, but rather a natural harmony, between the work of the Socialist party and that of the Labor unions...

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

One of our readers, in a letter printed in The Call a few days ago, declared that he could not see what the city could do, if it owned the subways...

We are not so sure about that. There is room for a difference of opinion among laymen, since experts express contradictory views. This much is certain. So long as the subways continue to be controlled by a private corporation...

But it is not only a question of the number of cars to be run in the existing subways. It is a question of more subways. If the majority of New Yorkers were not such individualistic, spineless and gullible Easy Marks...

They have lacked that courage, solidarity and self-reliance. They have shuffled along, growing and complaining, distrusting themselves and each other, and permitting the Ryans and Belmonts to exploit their needs to the limit and insult them into the bargain.

'VORWAERTS' TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD.

In celebration of its twenty-fifth anniversary the Berlin Vorwaerts, the official central organ of the Social-Democratic party of Germany, has issued a 'Jubilee Number'...

German Social-Democratic leaders, contributes a splendid appreciation of Liebknecht and others who founded the paper in a short review entitled 'The Father of the Vorwaerts'...

Altogether, this is one of the most satisfactory jubilee editions of a Socialist paper that ever appeared anywhere. Socialists would do well to send for a copy to preserve. It is worth while.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Charles Mineshenk.—There is no such thing as a license for showmen under United States laws. The matter is regulated by the laws of the several states and the ordinances or police regulations of the several cities.

CONTEMPT GALORE.

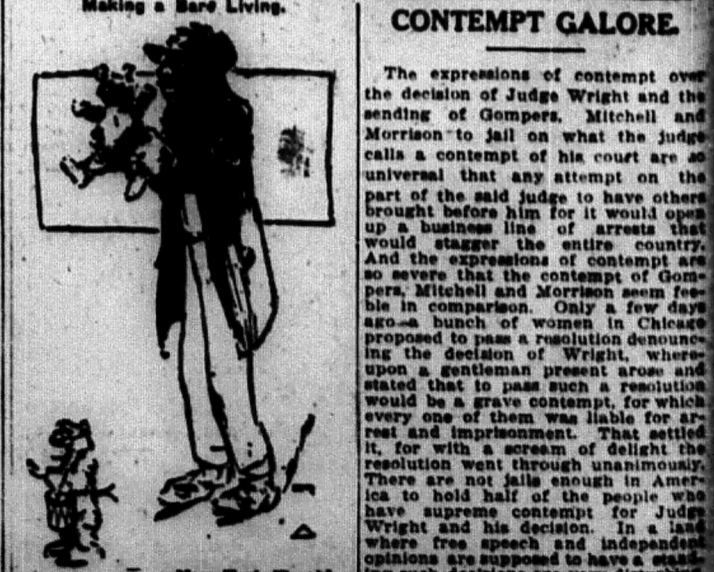

The expressions of contempt over the decision of Judge Wright and the sending of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison to jail on what the judge calls a contempt of his court are so universal that any attempt on the part of the said judge to have others brought before him for it would open up a business line of arrests that would stagger the entire country.

'VOTES FOR WOMEN.'

By Joseph E. Cohen. It would seem that the agitation in favor of woman suffrage is 'losing ground.' At least that is what they tell us. 'They,' in the case, are the Massachusetts Association Opposed to the Further Extension of the Suffrage to Women.

GOVERNMENTAL COLLECTIVISM IN THE CANAL ZONE.

There is a little country from which I have just returned, some two thousand miles to the south of New York city, where everything is done in new and wonderful ways, writes W. J. Ghent in a letter to the New York Sun.
