

SEEK CHINAMEN AS STRANGLERS

Two Orientals Suspected as Slay-ers of Young Woman Found Dead in Trunk.

GIRL VICTIM IDENTIFIED TO-DAY

Body Discovered Proved to Be That of Miss Sigel, Who Disappeared From Home.

Police of the West 47th street station and Detective Bureau sleuths are scouring every Chinese haunt in the city to-day for two Chinamen, William L. Leon, a former Sunday school worker in Philadelphia, and Chung...

The dead woman, perhaps twenty years old, was strangled to death with a soft cord which the murderer or murderers extended to her knees. They then had tied the head tightly to the knees and placed the body in the trunk.

Letters signed by "Elsie" were found in the room of the missing girl. They were addressed to a man with whom she had been seen at the Chinese theater. A silver-sprigged bracelet bearing the initials "E. C. S." was found in the dresser of the room with other things which convinced the authorities that the dead girl was none other than Miss Sigel.

Around the dead girl's neck was a gold-plated clasp pin, as near as the authorities could distinguish, the letters "P. C. S." or "E. C. S." Mrs. Paul Sigel, mother of Miss Sigel, identified the trinkets as that of her girl.

The police also found a pair of shoes and a lock which was strung about the girl's neck. It lay across the chin, tightened by its weight against the knees, and indicated that the victim met death in a terrific struggle. Captain Carey, of the Homestead Bureau, in charge of the case, said it looked to him as if the murder was committed by a man who wanted to keep the woman from leaving him and, having failed, resorted to the crime in the hope of escaping punishment for detaining her.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The local police, at the request of the New York police, will make an effort to locate the sender of the telegram, purporting to have come from Elsie Sigel, in Washington, on June 12, and received by her father in New York. Officials of the telegraph company refused to give any information regarding the telegram without specific authorization from the girl's father, but it is supposed this will be forthcoming.

Evening Call Investigation Reveals Terrible Conditions Existing in This Wealthiest City.

JOB BUREAUS BESIEGED BY DESPERATE MEN

Lack of Clothes and Money for Transportation Bars Many From Work—"Business" Exchange Silent.

The unemployed are still with us. In spite of the reports of a renewed industrial activity which the capitalists press prints in large type, in spite of the demand occasioned by the need of farm labor, this city has not rid itself of the large army of strong, energetic and skillful workmen who are wandering the streets in search of jobs, and are suffering hunger, humiliation and horrors occasioned by compulsory idleness.

The Evening Call wanted to know how far the reported "prosperity" has ameliorated the conditions of the unemployed, and has made an investigation of the situation as it is at present. A reporter visited the principal free employment bureaus and in interviews with managers disclosed the fact that there are to-day ten of thousands of people who are still waiting for something to "turn up."

The newest of the employment bureaus is at 44 Bowery conducted by the International Brotherhood Welfare Association of which J. Eads How is national chairman and Mrs. Cora Diehl Harvey is national secretary. The committee in charge consists of I. Henry Falk, R. Bruce Eglington and Alexander Law.

The place is a dismal, dark, dilapidated, narrow store, which had been discarded by a restaurant keeper for want of light and air. The store is about fifty feet long and is lighted by two small skylight windows through which a few kind, feeble rays struggle to dispel the prevailing darkness. In the fore part of the place there is a crude construction of boards that serves for an "office" and contains the man in charge and several applicants who come to look for work.

The rear part of the place, which is separated from the front by a faded curtain, is used for meetings which take place occasionally. In this place, it is the custom to feed the unemployed every Sunday. The committee thinks that the hungry job-hunters are entitled to some food once a week. So every Sunday a large can of coffee is made, bread is obtained and the hungry men are treated to a "feast." As a rule there are about three hundred people who participate in the "meal."

But not so to-morrow. The funds have been running short and this "luxury" will be denied to those who come to enjoy the customary cup of coffee and nibble at the weekly crust. J. Eads How is away in Europe and the International Brotherhood Association is now poorer than ever. When How is here he puts his hand in his pocket occasionally and pays for food and coffee. But he is away and to-morrow will be a dry Sunday at 44 Bowery.

Among the people who come to look for work are small boys who intend to spend their vacation in the harness working to help support the family. Keen looking, bright and energetic little boys mingle with the veteran unemployed, learning the lesson of compulsory idleness.

Hundreds Want Work. "About three hundred men come every day to look for work. The demand for help may amount to ten cases a day," said Mr. Falk when seen by the reporter of The Call. "The ten included farm laborers for whom there is a great need at this time of the year. Once in a while we get a call for a skillful mechanic but the majority of the help wanted are farm hands. The greatest difficulty at present is the cost of transportation which our men haven't got. One man had to forego the opportunity of getting a good job because he did not have the fare."

Such cases are of frequent occurrence and the few who could get employment are forced to remain here and stay idle. Farmers who are in need of help are willing to advance the transportation but they are mistrustful and fear to send the money. In some cases the man's baggage, if he has any, is sent to the farmer as security. But very few of these men who apply have anything to offer.
