PROGRESSIVE FINANCIAL INSTITUTE

The Public Bank of New York City, in its lift year as a Chartered Bank of the State of New York is today one of the leading financial institutions

Its wenderful growth is due to the great confidence the banking masses repese in its management and the manner in which the business of this bank is conducted.

Below we print the latest report of the Public Bank of New York City given to the Banking De-partment of the State of New York at the close of business on the 14th day of June, 1912.

For a bank of so short an existence the figures show a most extraordinary growth.

The Public Bank of New York City offers a cellent facilities to the public inasmuch as they are open for business until 8 o'clock in the evening, thus giving a wage carner an eppertunity of depositing his money as he goes home from werk and an equal eppertunity to draw mency should he be in need of it after he has reached heme. This is indeed one feature that brought thousands of depositors to this institution.

Among its patrons are a large number Trade Union organizations, societies and pres inent lodges of the various orders of the city.

The treatment accorded depositors is man admirable. No effort is spared in explaining and advising those depositors in the transaction a

The Cubs outfielded as well as out-hit the Giants. There wasn't a tremor in the backing Lavender received. The home team's fielding was clean, though the fielding opportunities disbursed offered nothing out of the ordi-nary to either side. So far as the Glants were concerned the played by them was a good deal bromide in all departments. It minus the dash and rallying power so

Historians declare that in the Spanish conquest and exploitation of South America not less than 10,000,000 Indians were exterminated in warfare and massacre or literally worked to death in the office and silver mines of Power and shopked to death in the office with the housewife, and she is to stop port and sympathy of all the work-ing people in their section, city or nation.

There is very little hope or danger of middle or upper class women joining this movement in considerable in the principle of the meal the mother has to stand the pain and anxiety of dividing the little what is left among the principle of the consideration with them. This has been proved also has to stand the pain and anxiety of dividing the little what is left among the principle of the nated in warfare and massacre or literally worked to death in the gold and silver mines of Peru and the adjacent regions. So tremendous and complete was the work of extermination and so little was thought about the slaughter that entire races disappeared, and seven the names of some of them are matters of dispute for the ethnologists of today. The Spaniards kept no particular account of all Indians looked alike to them—either obstacles to be removed by wholesale slaughter or beasts of burden to be used up in myriads in the mines.

The gold and silver mines are largely worked out during the last 400 years, but Peru has discovered in the vast regions lying to the Amazon, a material in tremendous demand by the outer world.

Before answering numerous obtaining the new data. alive, flogged to death, mutilated, beheaded, shot and tortured with downfall of the new tyranny—capitalprimitive population brought to the very verge of extermination in the hunt for rubber wherewith to procure gold and silver.

And the reason?

Capitalism-that's all.

The Peruvian syndicate sold out some years ago to a syndicate of British capitalists, not one of whom ever visited the place, or perhaps had any very clear idea where it was. The original managing force was continued in the exploitation of the forests, and the murder, butchery and torture went on just as before.

Those pious British capitalists knew nothing about it. Of course not. They simply "invested their capital." "Risked it," so to speak, and in addition paid "the wages of superintendence." All to speak, and in addition paid "the wages of superintendence." All The jumps of prices have always was in good order and conducted on strict business principles. Their met with murmur and irritation of the part of the business was, as another exploiter put it, "to clamor for housewive. The purchase has necessitated as a superior of the purchase has nec dividends," and this they did, while multitudes of Indians clarmored under whip, stake and fagot, and the brains of the little children were proportion. As the number of butcher dashed out in sight of the parents, who were undergoing fiendish shops is excessively great and their inbodily tortures at the same moment. But the pious, God-fearing dividual trade small, the fall in sales Britons knew nothing of all this. They simply took their dividends and made no inquiries. Capital is timid and naturally uninquisitive when big profits are forthcoming. Like "Bre'r Rabbit," it lies low commodities. The seller didn't play and says nothing.

A certain 10 per cent will insure its employment anywhere: per cent will produce eagerness; 50 per cent, positive audacity; 100 per cent will make it ready to trample on all human laws; 300 per cent, and there is not a crime at which it will scruple, nor risk en of the Bronx." has been founded. will run, even to the chance of its owner being hanged."

Putumayo brought more than 300 per cent profit, but the capi-aliats who received it run no chance of being hanged, a fate which the writer of the above seemed to think at least a possibility. Per-haps it was in those days. We have, however, improved the situan and taken greater precautions for the safety of the capitalists ace that characterization was written. And anyhow, there has en enough killing already. These good people have done nothing out take dividends.

In Harlem, as well as on the Lower last Side, Brownsville, East New East Side, Brownsville, East New York, Breoklyn, consumers' leagues have been formed with the determinhave been formed with the determination to have big solid bodies to lead the revolt against high prices of necessities of life generally and meat in particular. In Harlem, we have held a few indoor mass meetings at which 350 women members have already enrolled during the last two weeks. There is no qualification for ter quality of the product, and respectful treatment, which, strange as ignorant and often mean and brutal butchers. There is noticeable a gen-uine enthusiasm over forming a big union of housewives, with a great many members working untiringly for its progress. The working class housewives feel that their men alone can't improve life, and that no mat-ter what they gain through strikes, it is drowned in the advanced prices of commodities, which they ought to at-tempt to check. They feel that they

The hausewives' movement is a working class movement in the broad-

The adoption of such a broad and personal interests are by no means inferior to those of their husbands and children. This is why they want union help in the stores, and the consumers' Leagues are in closest cooperation with the butchers' union sign of the league and what not. Can you imagine a case of carpen-ters at Macy's department store the case when the consumers would be organized and able at any moment to withdraw their patronage? Neither would the organized housewives stand for the degrading condition under which their own daughters work in the department stores. The great assistance that the organized consumers would render to the labor movement seems to us self-evident.

As has been proven by numerous As has been proven by numerous indoor and outdoor meetings of the striking housewives, they are very eager to hear discussion on economic and political topics and organization.
The halls cannot accommodate all desiring to attend. They are very attical sense and knowledge. The sertion that a housewife with small of some wholesalers not connected children can't leave the house, has with the meat companies. It has been received a good rebuke at our meet ings and no lady in our east side dishave been always accompanied by children's voices, but it didn't seen to disturb the audience ings and around have never heard complaints from the men because their wives leave the house to attend meetings. The respect for those women who intelligently co-operate to improve the condition of their family life is too strong among work men.

Al! progressives will probably agree in a short while a good number of stores, if it moves many housewives to energetic picketing of the store from 4 o'clock in the morning till late at night, why should this movement not last and spread and grow ?

The difficulty of organizing the housewives spending most of their time within the walls of their homes can be advanced against the practi cability of our mevement. In answe we will ask you first of all to remem ber that we do not claim this spread of organization, for now, at least, among the middle class women, but only among the working classes liv-ing in populated tenement house districts, who can and actually meet each other more than often. The airshaft dividing the women of different apartments is not so large as to prevent constant communi-cation among them. The difference between the women in the tenement's houses and those in the workshops is indeed not as great. And do not of the housewive were working in the shops, if they aren't there after marriage. The existence of the housewives' organiza-tion would convey to the working girl the truth that, even when she working girl believe even more in the

I wouldn't try just now to explain the extent to which the consumers' leagues can cripple and tame the food combinations. This would be a hard task to accomplish even in regard to labor unions fighting the trusts at the point of production or the Socialist party combating the corporations at the point of lawsiving and lawsaking. Nevertheless, we believe in labor unions and the Socialist party not only because they secure greater share of the good things (this is in most cases doubtful), but because they lessen the hours, give more lessure to the workspirit of solidarity, comradeship and self-respect of labor, which of itself has a great value to the laboring man. Poor fool? As if they were worth it? Here he is now without a job, without his former strength, and how much does the company bother about him? As if he was to blame that he got stomach trouble. It is the stuff he ate for lunch at the free counters. For as his family was growing he had to become more and more saving. His wages did not increase, while expenses did by leaps and bounds. Not a cent was he able to put away for a dark day. Just like ourselves and thousands of others.

The dark day did come all right. Brown had to go to the heapital for over two months, and when he finally came out he had lost his job—the company could not hold it open for him that long, Good God? Not even this much, after all the years of work he had put in for it. It is terrible, it is terrible? Brown is not the only one. None of us know whose turn will come tomorrow. Poor Brown! It is heartbreaking to see him wander about the streets. He is just the shadow of his former self. And what wonder—it is enough to drive one mad. Six months without work.
