Workers First to Hold Political Rally at University Auditorium.

The University Settlement is nothing if not fair. They are giving all hands a chance to display their colors in their auditorium at 144 Eldridge street.

Last night, the first night of those set aside for campaign purposes, was the Socialist's night. And from the crowd in the hall and the applause that greeted the speakers, it looked as though the chances for the other three parties were pretty slim, as far as the votes of the 12th Assembly District were concerned.

London said in part: "Admit that the Progressives can hand out all the things they have promised you in their platform. There still remains rent, and rent in our industrial centers takes a fourth of the worker's income."

BECKER CASE WITNESS FREE; OTHER CAPTURED

The police yesterday caught one of the three detained witnesses who escaped from the House of Detention on Sunday night, but he is not the one they would like the most to get.

REPORT PRISONER AS A FUGITIVE

West Side Police Court Described as Scene of Getaway by Alleged Swindler—Hushed Up at First.

According to a story circulated yesterday, a prisoner escaped from the West Side Police Court last Thursday, a few minutes before he was to be arraigned before Magistrate Freschi on a charge of petit larceny.

It is said that Clark got away as he was being led through the courtroom of the West Side Police Court and through a narrow hall to the complaint room.

SOCIALISTS ACTIVE ON EAST SIDE THIS WEEK

CZAR PLANS TO SWALLOW SCANDINAVIANS

Official Russia's Assaults on the Integrity of Finland Only the Prelude to a Colossal Grab That Would Imperil Civilization and Health of Western Europe.

By K. E. PRIMUS-NYMAN. In the current copy of the Contemporary Review there is an article that has not been paid due attention in the daily press.

"Russia, Finland and Scandinavia" is the heading of this brilliant article, in which Mr. V. Whitford points out the motives of Russia's attack on Finland.

Another set of motives has, however, been almost entirely overlooked, and still, this one concerns Great Britain far more closely.

And, according to Mr. Whitford, the principal motives for a proposed attack by Russia on the two Scandinavian countries in question are three—namely, Russia's general desire for imperial expansion, and, as the Russian aims received a severe check in the Far East, an expansion westward.

M'COMBS TESTIFIES IT COST $208,163 TO NAME WILSON

Cleveland H. Dodge, of New York, appears as the largest personal contributor to Wilson's fund. His personal contribution was $51,000. Other large contributions to Wilson's funds were: Henry Morgenthau, $20,000; William F. McCombs, $11,000; Frederick C. Perfield, $12,000; Abraham I. Elkus, $12,000; Harvey Thomas, $6,500; William G. McAdoo, about $6,000; Jacob H. Schiff, $2,500.

Colonel Lamont named to Judge Parker as the men who had participated in the conference the following: James H. Stillman, at that time president of the National City Bank; Edward H. Harriman, Robert Bacon, Charles F. Brooker, Daniel G. Reid and Henry C. Frick.

George F. Parker testified that he had several talks with Colonel Lamont and that he carried the message to Lamont from Judge Parker asking permission to make public the facts and names.

This was the first time that Judge Parker ever disclosed the source of his information on which he based his well known charges against Roosevelt in 1904.

It is probable that the committee will call all of the men named. Harriman is the only one who is dead. Daniel G. Reid is already under pledge to give his testimony.

MILL MEN WALK OUT TO AID MINERS

desirable in the eyes of a bureaucracy whose continuance in power is so dependent on a constant supply of funds, and which is beginning to experience difficulty in raising the foreign loans necessary for the successful crushing of the revolutionary movement.

From the reasons prompting Russian statements to cast eager eyes on northern Scandinavia, Mr. Whitford passes to a consideration of Russia's designs. He thinks that Russia's naval and military preparations can be explained on purely defensive grounds.

Mr. Whitford makes frequent quotations from articles in Hufvudstadsbladet, Nya Pressen, Növa Vremya and many Swedish and Norwegian papers, showing how the Russianification of Finland is menacing the integrity of Scandinavia.

It is true that Norway's integrity has been guaranteed by the Treaty of November 2, 1903, but neither Sweden nor Denmark are included in this treaty, and, on the other hand, Russia has seldom been known to respect her promises.

Finally, claiming that Russia's aim with her suppressing policy in Finland at least is a port on the Atlantic, Mr. Whitford asks:

"Does Great Britain desire to see Russia provided with a powerful naval base on the Atlantic, a perpetual menace to her shores? Does she desire to have still further anxiety for her food supply in time of war, and for the safety of her commerce? Does she want to increase enormously a naval budget which is already colossal? Does she want eventually to see the entire balance of power in northern Europe transformed? Does she want Copenhagen in other hands and the Baltic to be a Russian lake?"

Think of the Finnish Pilot Service! As long as this was a Finnish institution the Finnish pilots were considered the best pilots in the world.

Lamont's refusal to allow the use of his name which prevented Parker from giving details in the 1904 campaign.

Lieutenant Governor Nichols denied indignantly the oft repeated charge that his candidate, Governor Harmon, was aided by J. P. Morgan or the Standard Oil Company.

The list of contributors to Governor Harmon's campaign fund afforded an interesting study to the politicians. For example, Colonel Robert M. Thompson, a Republican, gave $5,000. Representative Francis Burton Harrison, of New York, appears as a contributor to the Harmon fund to the amount of $5,000.

Several New York men were contributors to the campaign of Representative Underwood. Thomas F. Ryan, whose contribution has been referred to heretofore, gave the largest amount, $55,000.

MILL MEN WALK OUT TO AID MINERS

Smelter Men Strike When They Are Asked to Handle Nonunion Ore From Bingham.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 14.—The strike of the copper miners, which has crippled the mining industry around here, assumed another aspect today when several thousand mill hands and smelter men at Garfield refused to handle nonunion ore from Bingham, where the strike is on.

The authorities are aroused over the situation and, though there was no disorder, they are planning to swear in deputies to maintain "order" in the mill district.

Russia provided with a powerful naval base on the Atlantic, a perpetual menace to her shores? Does she desire to have still further anxiety for her food supply in time of war, and for the safety of her commerce? Does she want to increase enormously a naval budget which is already colossal? Does she want eventually to see the entire balance of power in northern Europe transformed? Does she want Copenhagen in other hands and the Baltic to be a Russian lake?

As the only answer to all these questions only can be a firm "No." Mr. Whitford holds that it is the duty of British diplomats to "secure without delay the cessation forever of Russia's present policy in Finland, which is only the first step toward the Russianization of the whole Scandinavian Peninsula.

Mr. Whitford has told us that there are two sets of motives for Russia's aggressive policy in Finland. But he, again, has left out a third set—a set that ought to appeal not only to Great Britain, but to the whole of Western Europe.

For, apart from the intellectual darkness that would spread over the whole of Northeast Europe if this came under Russian influence (in Finland less than one per cent. of the people are illiterate, whilst the corresponding figure for Russia is 85 per cent), many other things and institutions would be endangered under Russian misrule.

Think of the Finnish Pilot Service! As long as this was a Finnish institution the Finnish pilots were considered the best pilots in the world.

Or, let us think of a still worse danger, Cholera is again reported to have broken out in St. Petersburg. Russia is the home of this dangerous disease. But it is always stopped at the Finnish frontier, thanks to the excellent sanitary arrangements in Finland. Bring every Finnish institution under Russian misrule, and Europe shall see what a great bar it has lost.

JUDGE LOVETT SAYS CALL SPOKE OF WRONG CASE

Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the board of the Harriman Lines, yesterday replied to Joseph H. Call, attorney of Los Angeles, who has called Judge Lovett's testimony before the Senate Campaign Fund Investigating Committee regarding the dismissal of government suits against Harriman companies in the merger cases, "wholly unwarranted by the facts and untrue."

Judge Lovett said that in his testimony before the committee regarding the dismissal of the merger suits he had given the time to the best of his recollection as being about the time of the Pullman strikes in Chicago, which were around 1904.

This suit, No. 66, which Judge Lovett had in mind in his testimony, is evidently one of the suits the Attorney General speaks of. He refers to these as Nos. 11121 and 11181 against the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, respectively, which were ordered to be dismissed by Acting Attorney General Day in 1905.

5,000 WAIST MAKERS FILL FOUR HALLS

Vigorously Applaud Mention of Proposed General Strike to Involve 30,000.

More than 5,000 ladies' waist and dressmakers met simultaneously in four halls in Greater New York last night under the auspices of the Ladies' Waist and Dress Makers' Union, Local 25.

The meetings were called for the purpose of discussing the advisability of a general strike in the industry, which, if it is called, will involve 30,000 workers.

The meetings in Manhattan were held in Arlington Hall, 23 St. Marks place, and at Terrace Hall, 240 East 104th street, in Brooklyn, the meetings were held at Independence Hall, Osborn street and Pitkin avenue, and at New Plaza Hall, Havemeyer street and Grand avenue.

Enthusiasm ran rampant at the meeting in Arlington Hall, at which Abraham Lipnow, manager of the Cloak Makers' Union, was chairman.

Addresses were delivered by R. Weinstein, of the United Hebrew Trades; Abraham Barof, organizer of the Ladies' Waist and Dress Makers; Hugh Frayne, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor; Morris Winchelsky, secretary of the Ladies' Waist and Dress Makers; Edward Hanna and Jacob Pashko.

S. Spevak was the chairman of the meeting in Independence Hall. Addresses were delivered by Nathan Stuppiker, business agent of the union; Barney Wolf, Socialist candidate for Congress in the 16th District; Charles Vanderpoort, Socialist candidate for Assembly in the 23d District, and Jacob Pauke.

At the other Brooklyn meeting, Sol Metz, Nathan Stuppiker and B. Feigenbaum spoke. Sol Seidman was chairman.

At Terrace Hall, B. Weinstein, M. Zametkin, A. Rosenberg and Jess Cohen spoke.

Unless the employers recognize the wisdom of conceding to the demands of the union, say the union officials, a general strike will probably be called for the latter part of next month.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SCIENCE OPENS SEASON SOON IN BOSTON

(Correspondence to The Call.)

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—The Boston School of Social Science will begin its third year next week with a course of Sunday afternoon lectures by George Willis Cooke on "How I Became a Socialist."

These lectures will be given in the Laughton Studio, Pierce Building, Copley Square, at 3:30 p.m. They are free to all who may wish to attend, though a basket at the door will receive the contributions of any persons who may wish to contribute toward the expenses.

The purpose and plan of the lectures are stated by the lecturer in these words:

"The lectures of this (third) season will be in some degree autobiographical; but they will be especially devoted to a survey of the industrial, economic, political and religious changes which have taken place during the last half-century. They will review the various reform and political movements which have arisen since the close of the Civil War, the causes which gave them origin, and why they failed. Such parties as the Liberals, Greenback, Independent or Mugwump, Populist or People's Party, Free Silver, and others, will be considered."

"Such movements as Nationalism, Single Tax, Peace, Profit-sharing, the A. P. A., the Grangers, anarchism, Knights of Labor, Trade Unionism, Co-operation, Suffrage for Women, as well as the various agitators and prophets which have arisen as indications of a growing unrest, will receive attention."

WYOMING MINERS ORGANIZING FAST

Have Powerful Union and Are Strong for Socialist Party.

By J. L. ENGDALH. (Correspondence to The Call.)

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Oct. 7.—Nature saw to it that coal was brought into existence, way down underground in the hills and mountains of Wyoming.

Some of the best of the coal in the State is to be found along Fitter Creek, near the southern border, about half way between the eastern and western boundaries.

Here the Union Pacific Railroad crosses Fitter Creek and here is located Rock Springs, third city of the State, boasting about as many nationalities among its inhabitants as does Chicago.

The coal mines and the railroad caused the building of the city, and toilers came of were lured here by Union Pacific agents.

The coal miners are given credit for being about as class conscious a set of workers as any. The Union Pacific has been their enemy here, and they have fought it.

That the miners are not getting the worst of it is shown by the fact that every miner in Rock Springs belongs to the United Mine Workers of America.

This doesn't mean that they are all Socialists—not yet. There are union miners on the Socialist ticket this year, several of them, but the wily politicians have contrived to get union miners on their tickets, too, and where the nationalities number forty-three, it is a big struggle to mold their political activities in one direction for their own emancipation.

The Union Pacific Railroad thought it had solved the labor problem on its railroads and its coal mines way back in 1875, when it brought seven carloads of Chinese and seven carloads of troops into Rock Springs.

And now, after thirty-seven years, it is the United Mine Workers of America, with its Socialist declamations, demonstrations in its organization men from every nation that Europe knows, that has unloosed the Union Pacific coal mines and compelled for the Oriental worker the same standard of living as the other workers enjoy.

Here in Rock Springs they tell you that the Union Pacific doesn't want the Oriental worker at the same wages as the others get, and so this corporation is casting the yellow worker aside.

Here, as elsewhere in mining districts, the operators have their company stores. Here it is "The Union Pacific Coal Company's Store." But Rock Springs has another establishment called the "Workers' Commercial Company." It is a co-operative store owned and controlled mostly by Scandinavians and Finns. The Socialist Finnish local here has more members than the English local.

The growth of predatory wealth, corporate combinations, trusts, unemployment, poverty, strikes, insanity and crime, and the attempts to control them, will be passed in review.

"The lectures will also include personal reminiscences of Emerson, Walt Whitman, Matthew Arnold, Wendell Phillips, Robert G. Ingersoll, Henry Demarest Lloyd, William Dean Howells, George de Forest Bruns, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, John Ward Howe, Mary A. Livermore, Mary Baker Glover Eddy and others."

"In a word, these lectures will give a 'History of Our Own Times,' as these events have been watched by an interested and attentive observer, who will indicate the impressions that have made upon him as the panorama of present-day life in America has unfolded itself before him. How he studied this procession of events and gradually passed from an ardent individualist to a convinced Socialist, the lecturer will demonstrate. They are not planned primarily as propaganda, but for education. It is hoped they will be of interest to all students of social problems, whether sociologists, reformers or Socialists."

The subjects and dates of the lectures are as follows: October 20, "Socialism as Outcome of Social Progress"; October 27, "Training in Individualism"; November 3, "Reforming the World by Preaching"; November 10, "Socialism as a Sustaining Power"; November 17, "Reform and Reformers"; November 24, "Sociology and the Philosophy of Society"; December 1, "How Light of Socialism Dawned on Me"; December 8, "Utopian Feeling My Way"; December 15, "The Full Light of Socialism"; December 22, "Religion as Revolutionized by Socialism"; December 29, "The State as Reconstructed by Socialism."

A Chance for Branch 3 Members.

Organizer Max Kaufman of Branch 3 has issued the following appeal to all members and sympathizers of the Branch:

"The emancipation of the working class must be accomplished by the workers themselves. Do you believe that this is true? If you do, what are you doing toward freeing the working class? There is work for every one who is willing to work, addressing envelopes and carrying out literature to the enrolled voters. Don't forget this is our year."

Branch 7 Members, Notice!

Branch 7 intends to make a personal distribution of literature, consisting mainly of a letter of acceptance by Nicholas Aleinikoff, candidate for Congress, to all registered voters in the district. But it is necessary to have the names of the voters, and they can be obtained only by being copied from the registration books at the polls. Comrades who have time to devote to this work during this week, day or evening, are requested to come to the headquarters, 143 East 103d street, any night. The work is very important, as it is expected that this leaflet will produce better results than any other in print. Come any night this week, and perform some very important work for Socialism.
