THE "CHINA QUESTION" AND THE AMERICAN WORKING CLASS.

Senator Frye Says That The American Capitalists Seek Markets in China to Prevent a Working Class Revolution at Home. Capitalism Must Expand or Burst.

B. F. Kelnard, Formerly Stenographer in the Employment of the American China Development Company, Exhaustrately Shows That American Capitalists Have Been After China For Years.

In China to-day history, evolution is written like pages broken. The world is moving into a new age. Within the past few years, the world has undergone a transformation. The capitalist system of production, distribution, and consumption is giving way to a new system. This is the result of several factors: the growth of the working class, the rise of the labor movement, and the spread of socialist ideas. The world is moving towards a new age.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION ON JULY 1

SOCIALIST LABOR PARTY.
Its Convention, Its Platform, and Its Presidential Candidate.

For some time the political situation has been intensely active in the Socialist Labor Party. The party has been engaged in the task of organizing its forces, and its platform has been adopted. The convention has met, and its platform has been adopted.

REPUBLICAN PARTY.
Its Convention, Its Platform, and Its Presidential Candidate.

The Republican Party has also been active in recent weeks. The convention has met, and its platform has been adopted. The party is divided on many issues, but it is generally agreed that the party will support the re-election of the incumbent president.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY.
Its Convention, Its Platform, and Its Presidential Candidate.

The Democratic Party has been busy in recent weeks as well. The convention has met, and its platform has been adopted. The party is divided on many issues, but it is generally agreed that the party will support the re-election of the incumbent president.

CHAPTER I

This is a tale of two cities. Debs and Columbus, two men who shared a common fate. Debs was known as the revolutionary, while Columbus was known as the conservative. Both men were leaders in their respective parties, but their approaches to politics were vastly different.

Debs was a leader of the Socialist Labor Party, while Columbus was a leader of the Democratic Party. Their ideologies were at odds, with Debs advocating for a more socialist approach to government and Columbus advocating for a more conservative approach.

The two men were brought together in 1900 when Debs was running for the presidency on the Socialist Labor Party ticket. Debs was running in Columbus, Ohio, where he was facing off against Columbus, the incumbent president. The two men were both in the city at the same time, and their campaigns were in direct opposition.

Debs's campaign was based on his socialist principles, while Columbus's campaign was based on his conservative principles. The two men had different visions for the country, and their campaigns were fought over the city of Columbus.

Debs was a charismatic leader, and his campaign drew a lot of attention. Columbus, on the other hand, was a more reserved leader, and his campaign was more muted.

Despite their differences, the two men were both popular in Columbus. Debs's campaign was strong, and he was able to draw a large crowd. Columbus's campaign was also strong, and he was able to hold his own.

The two men faced off in a debate, and the city was on edge. The debate was intense, and the two men were both determined to win.

In the end, Debs lost the election, but his campaign had been a resounding success. His platform had resonated with the people of Columbus, and he had shown the world that socialism was a viable political option.

Columbus, on the other hand, won the election, but his victory was not without controversy. Some people felt that his victory was a result of fraud, and the city was left in turmoil.

The election of 1900 was a turning point in the history of the Socialist Labor Party. Debs had shown the world that socialism was a viable political option, and his campaign had paved the way for future socialist leaders.

The election of 1900 was also a turning point in the history of the Democratic Party. Columbus's victory had shown the party that it was still a force to be reckoned with, and it had set the stage for future Democratic leaders.

The two cities of Debs and Columbus were forever linked, and their story is one that will be remembered for generations to come.
DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Mark has been said and written about the Declaration of Independence. It is one of the most famous documents in American history. It is a statement by the 13 American colonies that they were no longer subject to British rule. The declaration was signed on July 4, 1776, and it marked the begining of the United States of America.

HE WILL KNOW BETTER.

A few weeks ago, at the corner of the street, a group of people were seen to be talking to a man who was sitting on a bench. The man was wearing a suit and a tie. People were passing by and saying hello to each other. One person said, "Hello! How are you?"

The man replied, "Hello! I'm doing fine. How about you?"

The person asked, "What are you doing today?"

The man said, "I'm going to go to the movies. Do you want to come with me?"

The person thought for a moment and then said, "I'm not sure. I have a lot of work to do."

The man continued, "Well, if you change your mind, let me know."

The person said, "Okay, I'll see you later."

The man smiled and said, "See you later."

As the person walked away, the man began to laugh to himself. He thought to himself, "People really never seem to have any free time."

The people who were passing by continued on their way, talking and laughing. The man looked around and saw a group of children playing in the street. He thought to himself, "Children are so much fun."

He then turned his attention back to the street and continued to sit on the bench, enjoying the sights and sounds of the city.
