WHAT MALLONEY SAYS:

The Trust is dead. It cannot be smashed. As will smash the locomotive, destroy the railroad lines, and go back to the old stage coach of our grandfather's day, in an attempt to smash the trust and back to the price competition of our ancestors. The Trust has grown as naturally as the forest of the highest and best examples of the development of the tool of production. To smash the trust is to smash the best tool of the people. We cannot help it. It will go on.

MAINTAINING THE BALANCE

THE TRUST MUST BE SMASHED

THE TRUSTS MUST BE SMASHED

WHAT REMMEL SAYS!

The Trust cannot be smashed. If the Republican and Democratic politicians in the nation know that truth, and know it is their duty, they must smash the trusts. The great advantage over our party is its control of the trusts. We are marshalling the great American working classes into an army of competition that will drive the public powers in the name of our class. And when we win we will make the trust the enemy of all the people, and thus lift the rack of the higher social plan.

We cannot make the trusts our friends. The Trust would not be smashed. The Trust should be abolished. The Trust shall be abolished by the people.
