DUPED CIGARETTE MAKERS.

MORE REVELATIONS ON THE LATE FACTS ABOUT THE IDLEMAN PLOT PUTTED UP.

A Member of the Cabinet Holds the Sack of the Arsenals-Four Men at Large and Tense It Unluckily. But

Who Is The "Volunteer" of February 15? the answer to which its leaders are now sorely wanting, was revealed this week at the bar of the Court of Chancery, where the late Mr. W. S. Harvey, counsel for the Continent of Pirates, brought in a libel action against the editor of the "Society of Free Thinkers" for a libelous attack on his client. The defendant, Mr. A. G. Smith, was found guilty, and the plaintiff was granted damages of $500.

In connection with the libel suit, Mr. Harvey stated that the "Volunteer" of February 15 was a literary periodical published in New York, which was owned and controlled by a certain Mr. J. E. B. Duke.

The plaintiff, Mr. Harvey, said that he had been compelled to sue the defendant because of the libelous character of the articles published in the "Volunteer".

The defendant, Mr. Smith, denied the charges and said that he had no connection with the publication of the periodical.

The case is now before the Court of Appeals, where a decision is expected in the near future.

ELEPHANT-COSSUS.

It Causes a Quantum Leap in the History of Art With His EDINBURGH WORKERS.

Everybody has noticed the recent increase in the number of elephants that have recently been seen in Edinburgh. This is due to the fact that the city has been the scene of a new fashion in art, one that is rapidly spreading throughout the world.

The new fashion is known as "Elephant-Crossus," and it has been introduced into the art world by a young artist from the United States, Mr. J. H. Smith.

Mr. Smith, who has been living in Edinburgh for several years, is a pupil of the famous painter, Mr. D. G. Hunter. He has been working on a new series of pictures, and the first one of the series is now on exhibition in the Royal Scottish Academy.

The picture, which is entitled "The Elephants," shows a group of elephants in the midst of a modern city, and the artist has used his characteristic style to give it a peculiarly convincing effect.

Mr. Smith's pictures have been very successful in Edinburgh, and he is now planning to exhibit them in other cities.

WHERE THE OCCASION SCULPTURED.

A Pilgrim, Workman Casts Off for the White Star Line's "Caledonian."

The ship was expected to leave Edinburgh for America today, and the workmen were very much excited at the thought of the long journey ahead.

The ship, the "Caledonian," is one of the most comfortable and well-equipped vessels afloat, and the workmen were glad to have the opportunity to make the trip. They were also glad to have the chance to see some of the great cities of the United States.

The ship left Edinburgh at 10 o'clock this morning, and the workmen were on board immediately after breakfast.

The ship was expected to reach New York in about a week, and the workmen were looking forward to the trip with great anticipation.

"Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., and EDINBURGH.

In connection with the Edinburgh branch of the Independent Labour party, Mr. Keir Hardie, the former Member of Parliament for the West of Scotland, has been invited to address the local branch.

Mr. Hardie is expected to arrive in Edinburgh tomorrow, and he will speak at a meeting of the local branch on the following day.

The meeting will be held in the Free Church Hall, and the public is invited to attend.

"The Daily People," the official organ of the Edinburgh branch of the Independent Labour party, has published a banner advertisement announcing the meeting.

The banner, which is printed in red and white, reads: "Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., to Address Meeting of Local Branch of Indep. Labour Party."

WELL DONE, CARNEGIE!

Andrew Carnegie has won in time to the Supreme Court of the United States the right to make a fortune at his leisure. The Steel Company of America, with the Standard Loan Company as its head, have formed a new corporation, the Carnegie Steel Company, to make steel and to do business in connection with the Carnegie Steel Company. The company was organized in accordance with the law of the State of Pennsylvania, and is capitalized at $25,000,000. The directors are Andrew Carnegie, Henry Clay Frick, and Charles M. Schwab.

The new corporation will own and operate the Carnegie Steel Company, the Edgar Thomson Steel Works, the Homestead Steel Works, the Carnegie Iron and Steel Company, and the Homestead Iron and Steel Company. The company will also own and operate the Carnegie Steel Company of England, the Carnegie Steel Company of Canada, and the Carnegie Steel Company of Australia.

The new corporation will be able to produce steel and iron at a cost of $1.00 per ton, and will be able to produce steel at a cost of $1.25 per ton.

ANGELORS STATISTIACALLY DEMOLISHED.

While the Senate of the American Revolution was convening, the House of Representatives was busy with the consideration of the bill to extend the franchise to women. The bill was introduced by Mr. John W. Davis, and was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor. The committee reported favorably on the bill, and it was passed by the House.

The bill provides that women shall be entitled to vote in all elections for public office, and shall have the same rights and privileges as men.

GRAPES OF WRATH.

The report of the recent grape-growing season in California is now available. The season was a very successful one, and the growers report a good harvest. The grapes were grown in all parts of the state, from the San Joaquin Valley to the coast.

The report states that the yield of grapes was 10,000,000 tons, and that the price per ton was $1.50.

WHEREAS, The National Agricultural Council of America, in the expectation of the coming harvest season, having been advised by reliable authorities that the season will be one of unusual fertility, do hereby resolve:

That the Congress of the United States be requested to appropriate $1,000,000 for the purpose of purchasing and distributing free to the people of the United States a quantity of grapes sufficient to provide a supply for one year.

This resolution was adopted by the National Agricultural Council of America, and was sent to the President of the United States.
