STEEL MEN STRIKE.

TALK AND FACTS.

A Night in a Tenement.

A Visit to the Homes of the Tenants of a Working-Class Tenement.

In compliance with Shaft's demands, the present strike began July 1.

The Strike.

In the last number of the "Labourer," the subject of the International Association of American Metal Workers was discussed, and the conclusions drawn therefrom were clearly expressed.

The conclusion of the present strike will be the decision of the majority.

The strike, however, is not a mere fight for the rights of the workers, but a battle for the future of the American metal industry.

The wages of the workers have been reduced by 25 per cent, and the hours of work have been extended.

The strike is a protest against the conditions under which the workers are compelled to work.

The workers are determined to fight for their rights, and to demand a just wage and a reasonable working day.

The strike is a step in the direction of establishing a just and equitable wage scale throughout the metal industry.

DARK FIGURES.

Mr. John Hay, brought the rays of the \textit{New York Times} to the attention of the public, and the world, by his recent article on the subject of 'The Panama Purchase'. He pointed out the drawbacks and shortcomings of the transaction, and the lack of foresight and understanding which had led to it. The article was widely read and discussed, and the public became more aware of the issues involved.

The following passage is from an article about the Panama Purchase:

"The government has done its work in a way that inspires confidence. It has led the way to a solution of the problem of the Panama Canal. It has shown a clear understanding of the situation, and has taken steps to assure the future of the canal. It is a great achievement, and one that will be remembered for many years to come."

THE AMERICAN SCIENTIST.

Mr. Charles Darwin, the famous naturalist, has published a new work on the subject of natural selection. The book, entitled \textit{The Origin of Species}, has been widely read and discussed, and has had a profound influence on the field of biology. Darwin's theories of evolution have been widely accepted, and his work has been cited in many scientific papers and articles.

The following passage is from an excerpt of the book:

"The idea of a species being changed by slow, steady, and cumulative processes, is one that is difficult to accept. But it is a fact that the changes that occur in nature are gradual and subtle, and that they accumulate over long periods of time."

---

THE FUTURE OF THE LABOR MOVEMENT.

Mr. Samuel Gompers, the leader of the American Federation of Labor, has been a strong advocate of the labor movement. He has been a vocal supporter of workers' rights and has fought for better wages and working conditions. His work has been instrumental in the growth of the labor movement, and he has been widely respected for his contributions.

The following passage is from an interview with Mr. Gompers:

"The labor movement is struggling to improve the lives of workers, and to secure fair wages and working conditions. It is a fight that we will not give up until we have won."

---

THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. James Madison, one of the founders of the United States, has written a new constitution for the country. The document, entitled \textit{The Constitution of the United States}, has been widely discussed and debated, and has had a lasting impact on the nation's political system.

The following passage is from an article about the Constitution:

"The Constitution is a document that has stood the test of time. It has been a source of stability and prosperity for the country, and has provided a framework for the government's operations."

Pep and Singe Win.

To the People:

The only city that is really lively during the first week of July is the Independence Day celebration. The pep and spirit of the people is evident everywhere. The streets are crowded with throngs of people, and the colors of the patriotic display add to the festivity of the occasion. The parade is a grand spectacle, and the floats are beautifully decorated. The band plays stirring music, and the whole atmosphere is one of joy and excitement. It is a day to be remembered, and the people of this city take great pride in their celebration.

W. J. S.

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my gratitude for the hospitality and kindness shown to me during my recent visit to the city. The people were warm and welcoming, and the facilities were excellent. I had a wonderful time and hope to return soon.

Yours truly,

NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMITTEE

May 20, 1901.

The news from the Field of Labor for the week ending Saturday, June 20, is not very encouraging to the labor movement. The strike at the United States Steel Corporation, which was expected to be settled early in the week, has dragged on, and there is no indication that a settlement will be reached soon.

In the coal fields of Pennsylvania, the strike at the American United Mine management is still continuing. The miners have been without work for several weeks and their situation is becoming critical. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the miners are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

On the West Coast, the strike at the International Harvester Company continues. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the miners are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

In the textile mills of New England, the strike at the American Textile Workers Union is still continuing. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the workers are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

In the steel mills of Ohio, the strike at the United States Steel Corporation is still continuing. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the workers are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

In the rubber mills of the South, the strike at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company is still continuing. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the workers are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

In the amusement parks of New York City, the strike at the Luna Park management is still continuing. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the workers are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

In the canneries of California, the strike at the Campbell Soup Company is still continuing. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the workers are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

In the fruit packing houses of California, the strike at the Sunkist Packing Company is still continuing. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the workers are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.

In the canneries of Illinois, the strike at the Swift and Company is still continuing. The company has offered to return to work on the same terms as before the strike, but the workers are determined to demand better wages and working conditions.
