Baltimore Doings

The Circus Went Up to the Tent to Watch the Large Fakir's Fringe.

And there I saw the Kungali, the Juggler, the Great Magician, the Great Fakir, the Great Tightrope Walker, the Great Acrobat. But it was the Great Fakir who attracted my attention, for he was walking on a tightrope with both his feet extended out, his hands holding on to the rope, and his head bent down to the ground. He was making his way across the room, his body swaying from side to side, as if he were about to fall. But he never did fall, for he managed to keep his balance and walk all the way across the room.

The next act I saw was the Great Tightrope Walker. He was walking on a rope that was stretched across the room. He was wearing a long, flowing robe, and his face was covered with a mask. He was making his way across the rope, his body swaying from side to side, as if he were about to fall. But he never did fall, for he managed to keep his balance and walk all the way across the rope.

The next act was the Great Acrobat. He was making his way across the room, his body swaying from side to side, as if he were about to fall. But he never did fall, for he managed to keep his balance and walk all the way across the room.

The last act I saw was the Great Magician. He was making his way across the room, his body swaying from side to side, as if he were about to fall. But he never did fall, for he managed to keep his balance and walk all the way across the room.

Finally, the Kungali and the Great Tightrope Walker and the Great Acrobat and the Great Magician all joined forces and made their way across the room, their bodies swaying from side to side, as if they were about to fall. But they never did fall, for they managed to keep their balance and walk all the way across the room.

It was a wonderful performance, and I was very impressed by the skill and dexterity of the performers. I would definitely go back to see the circus again.
NO FORGERIES, THESE

A BACHELOR OF AFFIDAVITS THAT WILL GIVE AN INSIGHT INTO THE METHODS OF THE VULNERABILITY OF CERTIFICATE IN EXTINGUISHING TO MAGISTRATES AND THEIR OWN PARTY IN THE PROTECTION OF ITS OWN

By Wm. R. B. Shaw, M.P., Leeds, N.

William R. B. Shaw, M.P., Leeds, is not unfamiliar with the singular fact that at a recent meeting of the Leeds Law Society, of which he is a member, the following resolutions were adopted:

"That the Government has not, &c., etc.,
and that the Secretary of the Law Society was instructed to send a copy of the resolution to the Attorney-General, advising him of its contents and asking for an explanation.

Mr. Shaw then continued: "I have been informed by legal friends that there are many cases of forgeries committed:

New York Socialist Publishing Company, in
association with

348 West 23rd Street, New York.

that the Clerk of the Court of New York
has a large number of such cases on file,
and that the only satisfactory course is to send a copy of the resolution to the Attorney-General, advising him of its contents and asking for an explanation.

Mr. Shaw then stated: "I have been informed by legal friends that there are
many cases of forgeries committed:

New York Socialist Publishing Company, in
association with

348 West 23rd Street, New York.

that the Clerk of the Court of New York
has a large number of such cases on file,
and that the only satisfactory course is to
send a copy of the resolution to the Attorney-General, advising him of its contents and asking for an explanation.

Mr. Shaw then stated: "I have been informed by legal friends that there are
many cases of forgeries committed:

New York Socialist Publishing Company, in
association with

348 West 23rd Street, New York.

that the Clerk of the Court of New York
has a large number of such cases on file,
and that the only satisfactory course is to
send a copy of the resolution to the Attorney-General, advising him of its contents and asking for an explanation.

Mr. Shaw then stated: "I have been informed by legal friends that there are
many cases of forgeries committed:

New York Socialist Publishing Company, in
association with

348 West 23rd Street, New York.

that the Clerk of the Court of New York
has a large number of such cases on file,
and that the only satisfactory course is to
send a copy of the resolution to the Attorney-General, advising him of its contents and asking for an explanation.

Mr. Shaw then stated: "I have been informed by legal friends that there are
many cases of forgeries committed:

New York Socialist Publishing Company, in
association with

348 West 23rd Street, New York.

that the Clerk of the Court of New York
has a large number of such cases on file,
and that the only satisfactory course is to
send a copy of the resolution to the Attorney-General, advising him of its contents and asking for an explanation.
WOMAN UNDER SOCIALISM

By AUGUST BEBEL

Translated from the Original German of the Thirty-Third Edition

By DANIEL DE LEON

Copyright, 1903, by the NEW YORK LABOR NEWS CORPORATION

There is an age of great social education, that every day makes further progress. A growing powerful intellectual and material wealth, a growing desire for equality and justice, a growing tendency to work together. But there is also a growing number of social problems and social questions that are now being more and more discussed, more and more studied, more and more thought about.

The question of women under socialism is a question of great importance. It is a question that concerns every socialist. It is a question that concerns the working class as a whole. It is a question that concerns the socialist movement as a whole.

The socialist movement believes in the equality of all people, regardless of sex or race. It believes in the right of all people to participate in the decision-making processes of society. It believes in the right of all people to have a voice in the shaping of their own society.

Therefore, the question of women under socialism is a question that must be discussed and debated. It is a question that must be answered.

There are many different opinions about women under socialism. Some believe that women should be given equal rights with men. Others believe that women should be given special rights. Still others believe that women should be given no rights at all.

But the socialist movement believes that women should be given equal rights with men. It believes that women should have the same opportunities as men to participate in the decision-making processes of society. It believes that women should be able to work freely and fairly, and that they should not be discriminated against because of their sex.

The socialist movement believes in the right of all people to participate in the shaping of their own society. It believes in the right of all people to have a say in the future of their society. And it believes that women should be given the same opportunities as men to participate in this process.

Therefore, the socialist movement believes that women under socialism should be given equal rights with men.
SOCIALIST VOTE IN THE UNITED NATIONS

Published every Saturday by the NATIONAL SCIENTIFIC AND SOCIALIST PARTY, 341 Franklin St, New York City.

Single copy, 10 cents. 100 copies, 75 cents. 50 copies, 30 cents.

An editorial page of the New York Socialists' weekly, highlighting the socialist vote in the United Nations. The issue is dated Saturday, May 20, 1939.

UNCLE SAM AND BROTHER JOSIAH

Brother Jonathan—There are some things I don't like in Socialist.

J. O. — Is there any comparison on the Republican side?

B. J. — I don't think so. The Republicans are not "in," the same way they weren't "out" ten years ago. President Roosevelt is not "out," either. It's all a matter of public opinion. The average Republican is not paying much attention to politics. They're too busy with their daily work.

B. J. — No, that's not it. I mean, is there any comparison on the Republican side with what you're talking about?

J. O. — Well, there's the fact that the Republican party is not so popular as it used to be. In the past, they were more popular than today.

B. J. — Right. And now they're not so popular. But there's something else I want to ask you. What do you think of the Republican party today?

J. O. — Well, I think they're still a powerful force in American politics. They have a lot of influence, but they're not as powerful as they used to be. They've lost some ground, but they're still a major player in the political landscape.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?

J. O. — Well, it's hard to say. But I think they might. They have a lot of resources, and they could attract new voters if they change their policies.

B. J. — That's true. But do you think they'll ever come back to their old strength?
Correspondence.

Correspondence and letters are received at the office of the Evening Post, and are answered on the same day if possible. The heading of the letter constitutes an irrevocable consent to its publication.

New Hall Raggety, Stand Up!

To The Daily and Weekly People—

What is the reason that the sightseers and tourists who visit New Hall Raggety are not entertained with the choicest of the plays of the ancient Greek dramatists? The answer is simple: there is no such drama company in existence. New Hall Raggety is a place that has never existed in the history of the world, and its legend is one of the most popular and enduring in the annals of American literature.

LEAVING THE PARTY.

William F. Whyte, of the Boston Post, has returned from a visit to the Boston World's Fair. He tells us that the fair has been a great success and that he has enjoyed himself thoroughly.

NEW YORK CITY.

The New York Stock Exchange has been opened for business today. The market is quite active and prices are firm.

LETTER BOX.

On the subject of the recent storm in the Middle West, we have received the following letter from a correspondent in Chicago:

"The wind was so fierce that it knocked down trees and utility poles, and caused widespread damage. It was a very frightening experience."

A. B. Dyer, correspondent in Chicago.

PREVIOUSLY.

The Philadelphia Inquirer has published an interesting article on the history of the city. It is well worth reading.

The Commissaries in Philadelphia.

The commissaries in Philadelphia are doing a good business. They have a wide variety of goods available and the prices are reasonable.

The Manufacturers' Rights and Shaping Stars.

The manufacturers in Perry have been working hard to improve their production. They have introduced new technologies and are expanding their operations.

SMITH, May 31.

The Contradictions of Capitalism.

The contradictions of capitalism are well known. On one hand, it promotes economic growth and prosperity, but on the other hand, it leads to exploitation and inequality.

SMITH, May 31.

The Party Must Form Its Own Host.

The following letter was received by the editor of the Daily and Weekly People:

"The party must form its own host. I believe that the time has come for us to take control of our own destinies and not rely on outside forces to guide us."

AUTHORIZED AGENTS FOR THE MILWAUKEE MILITARY DISTRICT.

A. M. W. Sturges, Milwaukee, Wis., is an authorized agent for the Milwaukee Military District. He is available to assist with any military matters.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Seymour, Conn., May 31.

The following notice was published in the local newspaper:

"Attention all residents of Seymour. The annual town meeting will be held next Saturday at 10:00 a.m. All registered voters are encouraged to attend."

N. A. Grant, Mayor, Seymour, Conn.

The Milwaukee "Social Democratic" heralds its first issue today. It will be published weekly.

DEATHS.

Seymour, Conn., May 31.

The following notice was published in the local newspaper:

"Orrin H. Johnson, a long-time resident of Seymour, died yesterday at the age of 78. He will be missed by all who knew him."

N. A. Grant, Mayor, Seymour, Conn.

The Daily and Weekly People are pleased to announce the appointment of the following agents:

A. M. W. Sturges, Milwaukee, Wis.

A. F. Davis, Chicago, Ill.

A. D. Smith, St. Louis, Mo.

A. E. Brown, New York City.

A. L. Thompson, San Francisco, Calif.

A. W. Jones, Boston, Mass.

A. J. Green, New York City.

A. E. Brown, St. Louis, Mo.

A. D. Smith, Chicago, Ill.

A. W. Jones, San Francisco, Calif.

A. J. Green, New York City.
COMRADES TO WORK!

An Address by the New York State Executive Committee, Socialist Labor Party

To the members of the Socialist Labor Party:

[Address text]

A communication was received from Daniel C. Sullivan, Lockport, N. Y., asking application be made for a permit to conduct a meeting in the State of New York. He said he had a local committee organized, having obtained the necessary charter and by-laws, and that the committee desired the State party to assist them in the organization of local branches throughout the State. He asked that the permit be granted, or, if not, that the local committee be furnished with the necessary information to enable them to proceed with their work.

[Address continues]

The State party has always been ready to assist its local organizations in any way possible. In this case, however, it is necessary that the local committee should be organized in accordance with the by-laws of the State party. A committee will be appointed to consider this matter and report to the next meeting of the Executive Committee.

By special arrangement with the International Library Publishing Co., we are enabled to offer a cloth bound copy of

The Silver Cross; or, The Carpenter of Nazareth

A Translation from the French of Eugene Sue, at

35 CENTS A VOLUME

HEREFORD RETAILING AT 80 CENTS

The phlegmatic story, told in a masterly manner by the master of French romantic fiction. Mr. Sue has written it. The story is one of true romance, and it is reprinted in the form of a novel.

[Additional text]

[Address continues]

The purchase of this book will assist in the support of the Socialist Labor Party in its work of education and propaganda.

By special arrangement with the International Library Publishing Co., we are enabled to offer a cloth bound copy of

The Silver Cross; or, The Carpenter of Nazareth

A Translation from the French of Eugene Sue, at

35 CENTS A VOLUME

HEREFORD RETAILING AT 80 CENTS

The phlegmatic story, told in a masterly manner by the master of French romantic fiction. Mr. Sue has written it. The story is one of true romance, and it is reprinted in the form of a novel.

[Additional text]

[Address continues]

The purchase of this book will assist in the support of the Socialist Labor Party in its work of education and propaganda.