TOBINISM MORE BROOKLYN SHOE WORKERS STRIKE

AGAINST JOINING B. & S. W. U. Tobin's Agent Furnishing Scabs to Man ufacturers-Repeating Tacțics Tried at Lynn Last Year-Strikers' Statement and Resolutions.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, of which John F. Tobin is president, and which unsuccessfully tried to break the strike of the Lynn, Mass., shoe workers last year by furnishing scabs to the manufacturers, is again attempting the same tactics-this time in Brooklyn.

As readers of The People know, the B. & S. W. U. agrees with any manu-facturer to take the shop as it is, no matter what the wages, hours of labor, or working conditions are, and if any dispute arises to arbitrate it, which ns that anything the bosses wish means that anything the bosses wish will be forced upon the workers by the officers of the union, as was done in St. Louis last winter.

Being just the kind of a "union" that it wanted, as it only benefited the bosses and the paid officers of the organization, S. Weil & Co., shoe manufac turer, at Steuben street and De Kalb avenue, Brooklyn, attempted to force their 140 employees to desert their union -the United Shoe Workers'-and join the Tobin affair.

the shoe workers refused and went on strike. They have issued the following: STRIKERS' STATEMENT.

The long expected trouble between the various shoe workers' unions has at last broken out in the factory of S. Weil & Co., Stephen street and De Kalb avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., between the United Shoe Workers' Union, an independent organization, and the locals of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, which bids fair to be a repetition of the trouble experienced by the shoe workers of Lynn and Haverhill.

S. Weil & Co.'s factory has been nized as a union concern for the past twelve years, and through the efforts of organization this firm pays the highest wages, the best of conditions have prevailed, and it is the only factory in this vicinity which has granted the half holiday the whole year. In fact, the employees have gained such conces sions from the firm, that the different employers in this vicinity have, in private conversation, repeatedly condemned the firm for allowing such conditions to prevail, as they thought it established a bad precedent and would have the effect of causing the employees of other factories to rebel. But owing to this fact the firm was enabled to gather together as fine a body of mechanics as could be found in any shoe factory in the country. This crew was among the first to always respond to an appeal for aid from any other shop when in trouble, and was always foremost in pushing the work of organization.

For eleven years these workers stood as a unit, jealously guarding their rights, and insisting upon a thorough investigation when any of their number was being discriminated against.

The first dissatisfaction occurred in the factory of S. Weil & Co., endeavored to show them the advisability of joining the Boot and Shoe Workers', and when he saw that he could make no headway remarked: "Well, it will not be long before the matter will be settled without your consent as we have an understanding with the firm by which they will sign an agreement to employ none but members of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union," also adding that within three weeks every person not a member of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union would be handed a proposition, and would have to fill it out or lose their positions. On June 1st the regular meeting of the shop crew was held and the statement of Silva was reported to the crew, and after considering the matter carefully it was decided to demand the discharge of Tony Cocczello, he being the cause of all the dissension of late. The firm refused to comply with the demand and the strike was ordered with only one opposing vote, that one being Mr. Jas. Lawson, chairman of the grievance committee, but the firm was so disgusted with him that when he applied for his position on Friday morning, stating that he had thrown the organization over, the firm members ordered him from the factory as they had no use for one of his kind. The agent of the Boot and Shoe Workers' was then sent for, and after a conference General Organizer McMorrow was summoned.

'On Saturday, June 4th, the officials of the Boot and Shoe Workers' confered with the firm, and it was agreed, so the firm states, to sign the agreement after one clause was modified, and the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union was to fill the shop. Since this agreement with the firm, two conferences have been held between the executive members of the two organizations-the United Shoe Workers' and the Boot and Shoe Workers'. At the first nothing was said of the understanding the Boot and Shoe Workers' had with the firm, and they gave the United Shoe Workers' to understand that they would not send any of their members in to work.

The strikers, upon hearing this, felt ery much encouraged, but on learning later from the pickets that members of the Boot and Shoe Workers' were applying for positions under instruction of their business agent, Silva, their indignation knew no bounds. Daniel Hogan, chairman of the executive committee of the Lasters and Turnmens' local, B. & S. W. U., said there must be some mistake and addressed the strikers and requested them to not pass judgment until after he had conferred with his executive officers. On Monday night, the report being confirmed, Mr. Hogan tendered his resignation as a member of the organization, as he would not continue to affiliate with an organization that would be guilty of such

The firm has now had six days to fill the shop with the aid of the officials of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, but have made very little progress. To the credit of the great majority of shoe workers of this district, whether members of an organization or not, be it said the lasting department, when the pullers they have condemned the actions of the B. & S. Pueble, Colo., May 31 .- The strike was miled on Sept. 1st to enforce an eight hour day in the mills. The demands were presented to the mine managers, with a proposition to reduce wages if their demands were conceded to. The mine managers refused to treat with them at all. The strikers then opened for their own benefit a supply store, a restaurant and two lodging houses. They also compelled all the gambling houses and saloons to close all day Sundays, and at 12 o'clock nights. This was done as precautionary measure so that the strikers would not be around the saloons and get into altercations. Conditions were absolutely peaceful at all times on the part of the miners. The only difficulty that occurred at any time was when the deputy sheriffs assaulted the miners in searching them for guns, and driving them off of the public road. The situation continued the same for ome time. The mine managers attempted to secure men to take the places of the strikers, but were unable to do so. About three months after the strike was called the militia arrived. Immediately upon the arrival of the militia, Buckley Wells, manager of the Smuggler Union mine, took a squad of soldiers, went through the street of Telluride and into some of the houses, and pointed out the men whom he wanted arrested as vagrants. They were accordingly arrested and brought before the police magistrate, found guilty and were com pelled to work out a fine of $25 and costs on the streets of Telluride under a military guard, or they were given the option of working two days in the nines, when their fines would be remitted: this had no effect, as not even one man went to work. In the meantime emissaries of the mine owners had been sent into Joplin, Mo., Michigan, etc., for the purpose of securing strike breakers. Most of the men who were secured were brought under the representation that there was no strike in Telluride, and when they arrived and refused to scab they were threatened with arrest. On January 3, absolute martial law was declared in Telluride, and eight men, who they termed leaders, were deported to Ouray, about 45 miles distant. After the declaration of martial law, the criminal law of vagrancy was again enforced or rather invoked, and of 35 men who were arrested 27 were found guilty and fined $25 and costs, and go to jail or go to work for the mine managers, and their fines would be remitted. Not one of the sentenced men went to work, and on the next morning

With the beginning of the early spring nonths we also had our bunch of pure and simple "craft struggle" strikes, consisting of the meat cutters, carpenters, bricklayers, and painters. The structural ironworkers have been on strike since last Fall, losing out completely in their fight against Graniger & Company, who have the contract to build the new Seelback Hotel at Fourth and Walnut street. Graniger is the present Democratic mayor of Louisville (whom the "labor fakirs" heralded as a "labor mayor" prior to his election). The "labor mayor" brutally told the committee of ironworkers (who called on him to ask his AID in behalf of h'organized labor) to go to h-l, and that $1.50 per day was a fine salary for any ironworkmittee is desirious of making this affair The bricklayers and carpenters still "out" at the time of writing, and the "aristocrats" of labor, the "printers," will have plenty of time to think over their superiority over the common craftsmen, or else accept the "open shop." which is the ultimatum given them by the big printing firms of J. P. Morton & Company, Courier Journal Job Printing Company, Nunemaiher & Company, and Bradley and Gilbert Company. At the first mentioned company, one of our comrades was employed as janitor. but; upon seeing the printers leave, he also promptly quit his job, thereby proving the S. L. P. spirit of class solidarity. This action of our comrade is a doubly moral slap in the face of pure and simpledom, for the comrade is the very man whom the local "labor fakirs" several days of deliberation this notorious fakir gave the miners a "throwdown," declaring that the "conference" he had with the operators convinced him that the demands of the miners were unreasonable and unjust to the mine owner. This is "nobly waging the class struggle," according , to our deluded friends of the "Socialist" party, with a vengeance. May Day, Section Louisville held a public meeting, which ought to have filled Beck's Hall, considering the labor situation. However, either the times are as yet not hard enough for the majority of our wage workers, or the rank and file of the unions are so cowed and bullied by the fakirs, that they lack the moral courage to attend our meetings, for the meeting was but poorly attended, although those present enjoyed the splendid addresses by Comrades Doyle and Giffey.

Two weeks ago Section Louisville received an invitation from the local of the Socialist" party, through one J. H. Arnold (ex-S. L. P. member, whom we expelled last year), to attend their meeting and discuss with them the "Socialist attitude towards trades unionism."

Now, as is well known, the Socialist Labor Party has repeatedly challenged the "Socialist" party to debate this question, as well as various others. However, the local freaks never accepted the challenge. It now appears that the recent avful throw-down which the "So cialist" party received at the hands of the fakirs at Boston, and the still more recent silencing of the class conscious minority at the Chicago convention, has had a bracing effect on that element within the "Socialist" party that wants the truth to triumph. They are eager for the Socialist Labor Party message, which the "intellectuals" and fake So cialists (just like their pure and simple fakir brothers) have kept from them, by crying "S. L. P. bossism" and "Union wreckers."

Four comrades of the Socialist Labor Party were accordingly present at this meeting to deliver the Socialist Labor Party message, and it is no boast to say that at the conclusion it was not the Socialist Labor Party that regretted the meeting.

Before the discussion was well under way, it could be noticed that several of the "Socialist" party men were already supporters of the Socialist Labor Party's trade union policy, while several more were "on the fence" to use a popular phrase. The only strong supporters of the pure and simple trade unions were those members of the "Socialist" party who hold offices in the pure and simple bodies locally, as if to emphasize their office holding proclivities they seem also to hold all the offices in the "Socialist" party. As none of these, however, were con sidered strong cards against the Socialist Labor Party, they had present, of course, "accidentally" (?) the great and only Dobbs, formerly employed by the Evening Times, but now with the "Millionaire Socialist" (whatever that may be), Wilshire of New York. The Socialist Labor Party men used to consider Dobbs fairly straight while in Louisville after hearing him that Sunday, however, lauding the pure and simplers to the skies, we are convinced that the present material conditions surrounding Dobbs are not of the purest kind. Considering that he is also a close friend of M. Hilkowitz, from whom he draws his inspirations and who is the right bower and lawyer of the Volkszeitung Corporation of private property worshipping Socialists, (?) Dobb's drift toward fakirdom seems inevitable. In his ardor for pure and simpledom, Dobbs rashly stated "that neither the 'Socialist' party nor the Socialist Labor Party amount to anything whatsoever, but that the A. F. of L. represented the only visible expression of the class strugple.'

Oh, how could he do such a thing to Miss Darlington, that vile wretch Seymour! How could he do it? Oh, he could have omitted to do so "that vile wretch Seymour," but in that case Mr. Bacon, sterling scion of sturdy Puritan stock, owner of "ye old colonial shop," might have penned a missive, something like this: "I feel constrained, much to my regret, to dispense with your services after date," and added this little communication to Mr. Seymour's salary on pay day.

And there is the men's furnishing clerk, who sells cotton collars and cuffs for linen, shoddy and cotton-mixed underwear for "best Australian wool," "any old thing" in scarlet undergarment for "genuine medicated"; there is the shoe clerk, who sells "solid leather" shoes the soles of which are made of papier-mache, and there is the jewelry salesman who sells polished brass for 14 karat plate.

Must I go further? Now, wherefore, by virtue of the power vested in me as attorney of outraged humanity, I do hereby accuse capitalism-through the agency of the profit-system-of the willful corruption of man's moral faculties, of the diversion from their rightful channels of man's mental gifts, by the Damocles-sword of a permanent menace of starvation, want and misery held over the heads of the wage slaves. And I further accuse capitalism of the responsibility for the outbreaks of anarchism and barbarism of to-day and of its promotion of the same by ever lowering the moral standard of man, thus guiding humanity towards chaos, away from the light of Socialism, the only hope of mankind. Have I proven my case? "Mr. Foreman and gentlemen of the

THAT PLATFORM

The State convention of the Socialist | (1) party of the State of Washington met at 10 o'clock Sunday, May 29, in nter's Hall, Scattle. The temporchairman was C. E. Cline, a very chairman, of populist antecedents whose adroitness kept the "lid on the ives" through fourteen hours and twenty minutes of useless humdrum ocracy," which squashed the report of the committee on resolutions, which was favorable to a party-owned press. (Consequently, a score was made by the parasite editors of whom there were wenty in the Chicago convention), and med over, without action on them, two full pledged constitutions, to the ndum. On nearly every call for mything, nominations had to be cut off by motion

Humdrum "Democracy" (?) is nuisance, with no guarantee of safety in It is a thing for the suspicious ak" to play with, while the grafters are getting in their fine work. The first battle of the "lid on the exsives" was caused by the introduction of "Comrade" Lund, delegate to the Chicago National Convention, which it an emphatic protest from the floor that "Comrade Lund was not a gate to the national convention." chairman said: "Well, he was there, anyway; so he will be able to tell us about it." Then three or four "comles" indignantly arose from their seats and left the floor.

"Comrade Lund," who says he is a "class conscious Socialist," who has twelve wage slaves working for him, was not very favorably impressed by that crowd in Chicago, until he was moved to tears by Professor Herron's reading of that "wonderful platform." Then, Dr. H. F. Titus was called on. He explained that he and "Comrade Dalwho used to belong to Section Seattle, S. L. P.," (an expelled S. L. P. eman), tried to have that "wonderplatform" given to the referendum. But it was opposed by the old S. L. P. ibers (Kangaroos), and the old cial Democratic members (freaks), who want to run things in regular Soialist Labor Party style from the top own." (Right here, after a dispassi consultation of Webster's unabridged onary, I wish to kindly, gently, coniderately, and deliberately tell Dr. litus that whenever he asserts, hints or even allows the impression "that the ialist Labor Party is run from the op" to go unchallenged in his presence is a "D--- liar.")

The world's progress, in what ever irection, has always had to fight to a finish the following seven detestable

First : the Kangaroo (with apology to he animal of that name), which means the "plunger" into things he does not nd: a "knocker" and disrupter of organized constructive effort, whose eds are always anarchistic and invariably dishonest.

Second : the "freak," which means the individual who attaches himself to anything that comes along without taking the trouble to find out, or caring in the least whether it is right or wrong.

Third: the grafter, who attaches himself to any aggregation of humanity that offers an opportunity for exploitation in his own interest.

Fourth: the fakir, one who undertakes deal with and handle affairs that he does not understand or even knows any-

Fifth: the vote-catcher, whose business it is to get himself or "a friend of and to office

ed them that 'the "wonderful platform' was not all right from a working class standpoint Then "Comrade McDevitt" undertook to show that it was a "retreat from the class struggle" of which he evidently has some knowledge. He said: "We could not advance too far on the side of revolution." He brought out the fact that intellectuals put more dependence on platforms than on the common interest of an organization's constituents. To hear him one would think that he was really going to advance, but when he got a little ways ahead, he could see nothing but the Socialist Labor Party, and as that is a mystery to him, as it must be to all "freaks," he turned and joined the "retreat" by saying that he would stand by it, if it was adopted by the referendum, which it will be. There is a story of a country girl, who said she would "rip and tear, too," because she heard a man say that he would "retire," when going to his room. So, in imitation of the working class position of the Socialist Labor Party the bogus Socialist freaks curry after the "laboring man," as the following incidents will show:

When the committee on credentials made their report it was moved that every member give his occupation on roll call. It was a long way down the list before any one said that he was a "laborer," and they tried to start an applause for him. They have freaked it from asking John D. Rockefeller to help the poor working class, with his wealth and telling that the "ministers of the gospel were going to bring Soto mouthing the words "class cialism" struggle." Finding that they have neither cap italists or preachers among them they want the "laboring man" awful bad. Again when Dr. Angus was nominated for some office he declined on the ground that he wanted a "ticket composed entirely of workingmen." Dry Titus also wanted a ticket of workingmen" for the purpose of catching workingmen's votes, in the very same sense that he is a "borer from within." Labor fakirism, as shown by the nominations he made at the Seattle city convention, where he emphasized the trades unionism of the nominees. Such antics are in keeping with the logic of bogus Socialism, which was started in direct opposition to the Socialist Labor Party, which is A PO-LITICAL ORGANIZATION ON THE PROLETARIAN SIDE OF THE CLASS STRUGGLE, in which a member's race, creed, sex, occupation or economic condition, cut no figure, so long as he has no affiliations with any political organization or any official activity in any economic organization whose position and action are detrimental to the interests of the working class. It is not a case of who or what you are. It is a case of what you do in and for the party and how you do it. When men are united in a common purpose, it is a simple case of fitness for the position and not a case of the occupation of the nominee. Besides, honest workingmen are not in the Socialist movement to chase after office, and they particularly object to being used as vote catchers.

Another incident typical of freakdom came out in the election of nominees for governor and lieutenant governor: For governor there were four nominees, including Burgess and Cline. Burgess was elected. Cline was among the nominces for lieutenant governor. He de- from the table. Motion lost. Mr. Titus derful platform." But let us hear Titus. He says they worked four or five days on it. They had all the other platforms from Rochester to Omaha, before them. They argued that it contained all that the others did. He and Berger complained that it did not contain the materialist conception of history. Hanford liked to have it long because people could not understand what short platforms meant as they were not explicit enough. Hilquit (?) wanted two, a large one and a short Personally, Titus did not care. one. He said it addressed itself along the lines of American tradition to the American people. The Socialist Labor Party had a similar appeal to American tradition. It was in keeping with the American Declaration of Independence and the spirit of liberty. American liberty of the past instead of the slavery of the present. He could not stand against the German, French and old American Socialism. Mailly said it marked a new era in Socialist progress. Titus said further that it was constructed with the utmost care and was abreast of the progress (2) of their party, which is undoubtedly correct. He wished to correct one or two mis-statements in regard to the platform made by someone, that Titus expressed the fear, in a recent lecture, that 'it might become too "revolutionary." He did say that the "trades unions would become too anarchistic, as Marx explained to Backounin for years" and cited Colorado as an example; and in that sense he believed in "Appealing to the American people instead of the working class." and at the same time he is advising workingmen to join the anarchistic bogus unions of their "craft," which he did, of, course, in the interest of his editorial graft. The lecture referred to was on the evolution of the Socialist (?) party, (revolution of the merry-go-round), in which Titus showed up the antics of the middle class freaks in by-gone | days;

how the last remnants of them caucused and schemed "on the sidewalk in Chicago, to control the convention, and how they were beat three to one by the "workingmen" (?) who carried the party up to the revolutionary position of the Socialist Labor Party "which is now dead." (Now! what do you think of that?) Taken in connection with that "wonderful platform" and the "reason" for its production, it is about as neat a piece of productivity,-no matter from what working class" flim-flam as ever happened ! I am told that Titus is a good doctor.

If that is so, he had better attend to his profession, because as a Socialist he is nothing but a shyster.

The committee on resolutions came in with majority and minority reports, which succeeded in squashing each other by getting laid on the stable and the committee discharged. On its face this seemed to be nothing, but a common parliamentary jumble, but there was a rood sized volcano underneath it. Lund said he saw a scheme in the effort to take the resolutions from the table. Angus said that it was too bad that local Seattle had to keep up a quarrel among themselves, that the country "comrades" were getting tired of it. Hutchinson retorted that the country "comrades" created their share of trouble, particularly east of the mountains, and he wanted to fight the whole business outright there on the floor. Lund wanted an apology. Hutchinson wanted to bring on the fight, and moved to take the minority report

On page 74 the first proposition speaks The above results into four distinct of a general rise in the rate of profit, prices of commodities not being affected, differences between the commodity labor-power and all other commodities in broadly speaking.

I, for one, can not imagine such general rise in the rate of wages at the present time and think such a rise impossible without first having captured the political power of government, and employed the unemployed army.

Then a revolutionary organization like the S. T. and L. A. might strike, leading up to the sympathetic strike, thus relegating the craft strike to oblivion and replacing it with the class strike in both the economic and political fields simultaneously.

Since the Kangaroo quoted Value, I take it that was what was meant there.

Section Union County-no report. A. J. Boland, delegate to the S. T. and L. A., reported three new members admitted to Jersey City Local and the organization of a Local of 15 members at Elizabeth. At the Dodge & Blin strike in Jersey City involving 250 mill workers and box makers, the Alliance had played a prominent part. There were two unions of the strikers, mill workers and carpenters, besides a Parry "no dues" union. The S. T. and L. A. held three meetings urging the strikers to make the fight on class lines instead of craft lines. The men were awakening to a sense of what is meant by the solidarity of labor when the employers sent a hurry call for the leaders of the other unions. They came and as a result the strike was submitted to arbitration, a Jersey City preacher being one of the arbitrators. The men had demanded $2 per week increase in wages with two hours less work per week. They got their demands in full. The scheme was to defeat the Alliance agitation, but the men are beginning to realize that it was that agitation that won them the strike. Never before had the Dodge & Blin workers won such a victory. Comrade Frank C. Burgholz, whose address is 200 Orange street, Newark, was elected temporary Financial Secretary of the S. E. C. in place of August Schroeder, whose expulsion from the Party was reported by Section Hoboken.

After disposing of general routine business, meeting adjourned. Secretary.

The prepaid sub. cards can be used to great advantage at open-air meetings. Send in your orders now so as to have a supply of them on hand. At the end of three months, these persons are looked up and asked to renew. More subscriptions are secured in the Thirtyfourth A. Other comrades sending in five or more are as follows: R. Berdan, Paterson, N. J., ten; Frank Bohmbach, Boston, Mass., eight; J. D. Goerke, Cleveland, O.I eight; G. A. Jenning, East St. Louis, Ill., seven; William Andreas, Belleville, Ill., six; James Trainor, Syracuse, N. Y., five; J. A. Leach, Tucson, Ariz., five; C. H. Chase, Milwaukee, Wis., five; C. M. Sample copies of the Weekly People of June 11, containing the "Neidermeir matter" and the reply of the editor of the "Brauer-Zeitung" to the brewer articles that appeared in the Weekly People recently, were sent to all of the brewery workers' unions. The issue is now exhausted.

Six thousand copies of the DAILY , PEOPLE were taken by the independent shoe-workers' unions of this city during three days last week, for distribution among the shoe-workers. The number of unionists who are finding the DAILY PEOPLE the friend of true unionism and the foe of unionism in the interest of the capitalist class, is growing daily. Don't fail to send in bundle orders for "De Leon's lecture on "The Burning Question of Trades Unionism." Just the thing for trade union distribution.

Both from the camp of Labor and the camp of Carital considerable astonisht is being shown at the conduct of the "Law and Order" element round about Cripple Creek in deposing public officials. Marshalls, sheriffs, justices of the peace, judges, even assistant district attorneys, as the latest despatches describe circumstantially, are given the option of resigning or hanging. Of course, they prefer resigning. These officials were all either elected or appointed in due form, in legal form. Neither the law nor the constitution of Colorado recognizes the fell form of "hang or re-sign" as a means of removal from office. Nevertheless the capitalist self-appointed "Law and Order" vigilantes have adopted the form. Probably the bizares of the idea of "Law and Order" being worshiped by such high-handed measures is the cause of the surprise that the measures arouse with the Republican and Democratic press; no doubt, on the other hand, the brutality of the measures is the cause of the indignation that they are causing in the camp of Labor. And yet, the question comes, Why surprise, why indignation 1 Buffalo is not so far away from this city; nor is a certain occurrence that place in Buffalo any many hundred years gone by. It was in Buffalo, in the year of grace 1892, when the switchmen struck to en force the 10-hour law that the railroad magnates were violating in defiance, not of the statute only, but of humanity The strikers were succeeding. The rail-road magnates needed quick and sharp action to break the morale of the strik ers. George Gould went to the Sheriff and demanded of him that he apply to the Governor for militia. The Sherin refused, saying there was no need of asure. The strikers were orderly, and he was quite able to keep order. Thereupon George Gould shook his fist under the nose of the Sheriff and threatened him with the loss of his office if he did not comply. The further events of that strike which culminated with the murder of a boy, Broderick, by the militia, and the loss of the strike need not here be rehearsed. The scene between the "Law and Order" George Gould and the Sheriff is all that is

SEVENTH EPISTLE AT THE LAM-

BERTIANS. In our last epistle at our beloved Lambertians we promised to demolish Father Lambert's second fortification-in his attack upon Socialism published in the April 16 issue of the "Freeman's Journal and Catholic Register"-upon a different plan from that pursued in the demolition of his other fortifications. The plan of attack in this instance is to pick the important bricks and knock them out brick by brick. One of these leading bricks was knocked out last week. Here goes the next:

Father Lambert is of the opinion that ader the Socialist Republic the ballot I be as futile as it is now in ressing wrong. We should not deprive Father's dialectics of their own as and shall quote the passage literal-This is his reasoning:

"If the use of that ballot can not protect the people from the wrongdoings of their public servants now, how can it do it then [under the Socialist regime], since the means' of protection is the same in both cases ?"

The story is told of an Eastern Pasha. who, learning that one of his subalterns had a sword with which, at one stroke, he could cut off a bull's head, ordered the subaltern to forthwith send him the sword. The subaltern obeyed, but the Pasha, unnerved and worn out with wine and women, do what he might, could not cut off a bull's head with the sword at even a score of strokes, let alone a single one. Enraged, he ordered the subaltern to be brought before him and ordered him to strangle himself for having disobeyed orders. "I ordered you." screamed the Pasha, "to send me the sword with which you cut off a bull's head at one stroke, and you disobeyed: the sword you sent me does not cut!" "You ordered me to send you the sword." humbly expostulated the subaltern, "BUT NOT THE ARM THAT WIELD-ED IT. I sent you the sword!"

The story goes no further, and need not for our purpose. It illustrates that in point of reasoning faculty, the Lambertian's is just abreast of the Pasha's in the story and not an inch higher or further. Just as the Pasha had no thought but for the sword to accomplish a result, Father Lambert has no thought but for the ballot. One can distinctly hear the Pasha in Father Lambert's reasoning and vice versa-"Since the means of protection is the ballot under Capitalism and would be the ballot under Socialism, THEREFORE the people who wield that weapon will not be better off," argues Father Lambert, and the Pasha argues: "Since the means of felling an ox is the sword, THEREFORE I can do the same thing if I but have the same weapon." As the Pasha blundered in overlooking the fact that it needed a robust arm to wield the sword effectively, and that a weak arm could not do the work, so does Father Lambert blunder in overlooking the fact that it, requires a capitalist-professors-politicians-and-fakirs-besotted people to so miserably wield the weapon of the ballot as to wield it in their plunderers' behalf; and inversely, as the same sword, which in the Pasha's nerveless hand was ineffective, proved powerful in the powerful grip of the subaltern, so will the weapon of the ballot, that to-day the in ignorance artificially kept people can not use effectively, make short work of any form of oppression or chicanery so soon as it is in the hands of an eco-arrested without cause and sentenced to justify the division of the forces of labor pay a fine of $25 and long im-prisonment with the alternation that they work two days in the mines; while the alternative clearly shows that the arrests were false and were only resorted to for the purpose of dragooning the miners to work against their will; while, the writ of habeas corpus being applied to and ob tained in favor of the thus sentenced men, not one of whom accepted the "alternative", the militia refused to obey the order of the court and declared: "To hell with the constitution": while such acts failing in their purpose the capitalists of Cripple Creek have resorted to dynamite plots-while all that was and is going on, these Republican and Democratic papers have the audacity, the criminal impudence of charging the miners with riot!

And yet it is natural. The conduct of Adj. Gen. Bell, himself an employee of a mining company, shows that he and his paymasters are desperate for dividends and salaries. The striking miners refuse to go back to work under them; they refuse to accept the alternative of two days in the mines to longer days in the lock-up; they have resisted all provocation to riot, and by their firm and cool conduct have driven the capitalist brigands to expose themselves, and thereby to establish such a state of things that not even would-be scabs can be attracted. Readers of The People are familiar with Adj. Gen. Sherman Bell, the traveller on passes; they have been familiar with his more recent acts of awlessness. His present conduct of assaulting and shooting miners on the pretext that these are rioting shows that Sherman Bell and his mine-owning paymasters have passed the stage of desperation, and have become blindly revengeful, proportionally more criminal also. They feel beaten; they feel that irreparable injury has been done to their revenues; and now, murder, brutal, deliberate rage-inspired murder, is their revengeful tack. Sherman Bell and his mine owners are running amuck; the Republican and Democratic press are beating time for him and his associates. ANOTHER DIFFERENCE.

Facts sufficient have come into court

to establish the maxim that either the political must dominate the economic, or the economic is bound to dominate the political movement of Labor; and the naxim implies that if the political domnates the economic movement of Labor, hen the elevation which the broad political spirit imparts to the otherwise narrow trade interests will raise the lat-ter and free it from the corruption that t is otherwise prone to: whereas, if the conomic dominates the political move ment, then the narrowness and selfish ness of the trade interests will drag the latter down, and the two will insensibly roll down into the corruption that the former naturally tends to. The late naional convention of the so-called Socialist, alias Social Democratic party is furnishing the latest illustration of this pregnant truth

Dominated as the convention was by the pets of Gompers' A. F. of L., the resolution introduced by the unsophisticated delegate Ott of Wyoming, and which condemned the Civic Federation, was brushed aside. Delegate Ott's resolution was as follows:

"The Socialist Party also wishes to denounce before the workers of this land the treacherous, deceitful work of the conglomeration betweer several labor leaders, so-called, and the captains of industry, such as the National Civic Federation, and other like institutions, and brand these combinations as instruments of the capitalist class to perpetuate the system of to-day, and to use organized labor as tools for that purpose."

WEEKLY PEOPLE, SATURDAY, JUNE 18,1904.

on the industrial field."

The resolution was framed by a committee composed almost entirely of those Socialists who are known as "borers from within." The complexion of the committee was the result of slate making and lobbying on the part of these same "borers." The debate on the resolution was bitter at times and the opponents of the committee attempted to point out that the passage of such a resolution was un-Socialistic, since it was a covert indorsement of one kind of unionism and a covert stab at another. It was further attempted, in the limited time allowed for debate to show, that the New Trades Unionism was born of necessity, to meet changed industrial conditions and that it was in keeping with the purposes of Socialism, since by organizing the workers industrially it was equipping them for when the time became ripe for the change. It was also argued that the trade autonomy plan of unionism was only a stalking horse for capitalism, since it split the workers into a thousand and one divisions each one making its own agreement and taking its own beating all by itself at the hands of the master class. It was further shown that in addition to keeping the workers divided industrially it was also dividing them politically. The men who spoke in support of the resolution from Ben Hanford to Hilquit did not attempt to reply to these arguments. They kept up a constant reiteration of the charges that those who opposed the resolution are opposed to trades unions, which was a thousand miles from the truth, the facts being that the opposition was not to trades union indorsement, but to the kind of trades unionism it was sought to indorse. As it stands the Socialist Party is committed to scab herding, organization of dual unions, misleading of the working class, the expenditure of union funds to defeat Socialist candidates, the segregation of the working class into craft units which are powerless to accomplish anything and it has been committed to this because a few ambitious eastern comrades were anxidus to make things pleasant for themselves in the "pure and simple" "unions." A referendum by paragraphs should be demanded on the trade union resolution.

Aye! Aye! As stated above, "The Socialist Papty is committed to scabherding" and "it has been committed to this because a few ambitious comrades are anxious to make things pleasant for themselves in the pure and simple unions"-in other words, the corruption of their scabbery dominated their political conduct.

The S. P. is a tail to the Gompers' scab-herders' kite, together with the latter's private Volkszeitung corporation that only recently sold out the brewery workers for advertisements. The S. I P., on the contrary, is run by no scabherding concern, and it ruthlessly, heresy-huntingly, drives out whatever member of the pack it finds in its campthat's one of the differences between the two.

IN FULL BLAST

'Elsewhere in this issue will be found an account from Colorado of the manner in which the authorities are conducting themselves towards the striking miners. Accidentally, in the way that accidents happen, the report arrives at a time when the Republican and Democrafic papers are running over with the story of a dynamite explosion. The two stories, put together, admirably supplement each other, and the dynamite affair lands naturally upon the shoulders of the capitalists themselves. Our Colorado reporter tells a very structing the fair, apparently are, now that it is not proving a money-maker, willing to let "Uncle Sam" step in and bear the loss. It would not be the first time that capitalists have made a milch cow of "Uncle Sam," or used him to advance their own interests.

The forty-fourth annual convention of the Boss Brewers, at St. Louis, adopted resolutions pledging its members to elevate the trade. One of the means of this end will, no doubt, be the making of more contracts like those recently adopted in New York city, with the connivance of the labor fakirs in control of the brewery workers' union, by which hours will be increased and the breweries run as the employers see fit, the employees having no privileges that the unions are bound to enforce. In other words, by the phrase "to elevate the trade," the boss brewers mean "to line our own pockets" with the labor fakir's aid, at the brewery workers' expense.

Secretary Shaw's statement that wages have increased more than prices, is the height of reckless and audacious assertion-or bluffing misstatement, to put it more accurately. According to the figures of the Department of Labor and Commerce, wages, during recent years, increased 16 per cent. On the other hand, according to the figures of Dun's and Bradstreet's commercial agencies. prices, during the past seven years, increased 41 per cent. Again, according to press accounts; wages, during the past year, have been reduced from 5 to 50 per cent, while, during the same period, according to Dun's, prices have increased 4 per cent. The experience of every workingman during recent years confirms these figures, and refutes Secretary Shaw's bluffing misstatement.

Secretary Shaw's statement that workmen have constant employment is on a par with his misstatement regarding the greater increase of wages over prices. What of the 75,000 railroad men recently "laid off"-have they constant employment? What of the 50,000 textile operatives in New England on two-third time, or the 66,000 carpet workers in Philadelphia, on no time at all-have they constant employment? What of the armies of men stranded in all parts of the country by lying reports of "labor needed"-have they constant employment? What of the curtailments and shut-downs on all sides-do they denote constant employment. Secretary Shaw had better tell his constant employment yarn to the marines. No in telligent workingman will be stuffed with it.

Despite the fact that during the past year prices have increased, while wages have gone down from 5 to 50 per cent the capitalists continue to claim that high prices are caused by high wages.

Judge Gaynor is again demouncing "the lawlessness of the police." There are many persons straining their ears to hear him denounce the lawlessness of the Colorado State authorities. They are likely to injure their ear drums in the effort, without hearing the desired sound! His honor is perfectly safe in denouncing "the lawlessness" that is dertimental to certain questionable forms of capitalism, but he would cross the danger line if he denounced the lawlessness detrimental to all the efforts of the working class to secure better conditions. Gaynor knows what's what in capitalist society, even if he does live in Brooklyn, INDUSTRIAL BRIGHT SPOTS. The bad industrial conditions at present prevailing in this country, is causing the financial reviewers of a daily evening paper some worry. They wish them ended, and are anxiously looking about for signs of improvement this summer. They claim to have found them in certain "bright spots." These "bright spots" are enumerated as follows:

"(I.) Our people as a whole are rich, especially in the West and South, from the profits of half a dozen past years. (2.) The great farming communities are out of debt, and are a sustaining force against financial reaction, instead of being, as in 1892, a drag on the rest of the country. (3.) Our bankers have paid off their floating debt to Europe, which for two or three years has hung like a mill-stone about the market's neck. (4.) If we produce, this year, a fullsized cotton crop, the United States will hold the key to the markets for international exchange, for the outside world will be compelled to buy whatever we can spare." There is no doubt that, with men out of work committing suicide and women and children starving, an improvement in present conditions is much to be desired: but it is misleading to expect it from these "bright spots." They have been used before and found wanting In an editorial on the reaction (sic) against industrial pessimism appearing in Bradstreet's of December 5, the conditions embodied in points one and two, were referred to as conditions so powerful in their influence for good as to offset any depression that may then have existed. Despite this positive assurance the depression was not only not offset, but it continues with us in a worse form than then. As for point three, a financial reviewer, at the beginning of the present year, tecalled the fact that at the close of 1000 the bankers of this country had a balance abroad of $100,000,000, yet in less than one year's time, this condition was reversed, with bewildering suddenness, placing the bankers of this country $300,000,000 in debt to the capitalists abroad. This helped on the present depression. Thus, instead of point three proving assuring, it is apt to prove the very reverse. As for the cotton crop, that, too, was expected to do much. along with wheat and corn, but it petered out ignobly. Is history going to repeat itself again in cotton? In the phraseology of the capitalist the present depression is due to "the lack of foreign markets," "the restriction of home demand," and "the tendency of production to increase faster than consumption." In the language of the Socialist, the present depression is due to the robbery of the working class, whose members receive in wages less than they produce, and are thus rendered unable to buy back all that they have produced. Despite the efforts of the capitalists to dissipate in wasteful luxuries the wealth stolen from labor, or to reinvest it in more industrial enterprises, "undercon-sumption," "overproduction" and crisis ensue. They continue until the surplus products of labor are disposed of, by sale or otherwise

Such is the present condition of affairs. The depression is running its course. It will continue until demand is nore in accord with supply, when capitalism will repeat itself and bring on another crisis-unless the working class puts an end to the robbery which causes crises, by inaugurating Socialism. Then, and only then, will the industrial bright spots be truly bright and indicative of improvement and progress. An end to crisis! On to Socialism!

B. I .-- I'll tell you. There are thousands upon thousands of people, nay hundreds of thousands who are content with their lot, and submissive to the existing order of things. I don't say they are as happy as I'd like to see them. But they are happy now with their lot. Down comes Socialism upon them, stirs the discontent, and turns their happiness into unhappiness. I say that such a thing is perverse.

U. S .- Let's see. You can't fly. You are perfectly happy with your legs for locomotion; down comes somebody upon you and descants upon the great pleasures that you could enjoy if you only had wings, besides legs, and could fiy; and he prevails upon you so much and he impresses you to such an extent with his arguments about the pleasures you are foregoing for want of wings that you cease to enjoy your legs and actually grow miserable. B. J .- Bravo, well put!

U. S .- And your understanding of the ffect of Socialist agitation is of the nature of such agitation for wings? B. I .- Exactly! Now is not that perverse?

U. S.-Yes; THAT would indeed be perverse; but such is not Social..t agita-

B. J.-What else is it?

U. S .- Now let's suppose this state of things: You imagine you are in goods health, and are happy in that; nevertheless it is only appearance; there is death gnawing at your ivtals; you have a tapeworm inside of you sucking up the substance of your nourishment and undermining your health; at times you feel a sense of lassitude, but you get over that your recuperative powers not yet having lost their elasticity, and you preserve your happiness. for my own good. What he tells me makes me take measures to rid myself of the parasite within me, and to become positively happy.

U. S .-- And that is good?

B. J.-Certainly! U. S .- And such is the case with Socialism: and that is what it does for those who enjoy the happiness of stupor, are disturbed therein, and aroused to rid themselves of a danger not understood by them, but sure to undo them if not overthrown.

Was there any substantial different between the conduct of George Gould in Buffalo in 1892 and that of the gentleman's latter day Colorado doubles ly none! Law and Order were both and they were defied, as in Colorado to-day, in the interest of crime, the crime of violating a law that was enacted in the interest of humanity. And yet, did either the capitalist class or Mr. Gompers of the A. F. of L express any surprise or indignation thereat? Not in the least. The capitalist class aid: "Bravo!"; and as to Mr. Gompers, in the very fall of that year he end Mr. Jacob Cantor, a then candidate for the Senate in this State, and applauder of Gov. Flower, who obeyed the Goulds' lemand for soldiers,-endorsed him as "a friend of Labor"!

Can it be that Labor is shaking itself loose from the scabby mental claws of the Gomperses and that, as a result, the Republican - Democratic press feels skittish? If that is not the case, the present surprise and indignation are

The large amount of space given in the newspapers to the scandals involving is and adventuresses, compared to the insignificant space given to the removal of working class wrongs, should leave no doubt in the minds of the members of the working class, that the cap-italist press tends to degrade rather than protect them, materially, as well as mornomically free and therefore intelligent Obviously the "sameness" of the weapon, the ballot, under Socialism and Capitalism, is the falsest of premises to clude from. Obviously the real question is, Who is to wield the ballot ! Nor can there be any question that the ballot of an economically free people would be a sword very different from that which the nerveless arm of the Pasha wielded: it is the trenchant falchion that would give but short shrift to the bull's neck political wrong.

And therewith another brick drops on the Lambertian head. More will fol-

RUNNING AMUCK.

Recovered from their first surprise at the news of how the Colorado militia went about deposing legally elected public officers, and no doubt yanked back into "sense" by their Colorado mines and other such stockholders, the Metropolitan Republican and Democratic press has resumed its natural attitude and regular trade-the attitude of pretending to uphold law and order while in fact

Iding lawlessness, brigandage and rapine, and the trade of retailing false

While the Union miners have been uniformly orderly; while their very orderliness has been an aggravation to the mine owners; while the mine owners sent for the militia in the hope of intimidating the strikers and failing in this

This was a test, and the convention went under before it. As stated last week in these columns by the S. L. P. men who witnessed the convention and saw the performance, delegate Ott's resolution went down under speeches that virtually declared that "If the S. P. ever dares to attack the labor fakir it will be ruined"-and in the fitness of things. Ben Hanford, who is recognized as a fakir by the rank and file of his own trades union, and who is the party's nominee for Vice-President, led in those speeches.

Nor is that all. The trades unior esolution that was adopted in lieu of delegate Ott's, emphasized and emphasizes the point, nor would we here emphasize that emphasis better than by here reproducing literally the article on the subject from the "American Labor Union Journal" of last May 26:

THE TRADE UNION RESOLUTION Does the concluding paragraph of the trades union resolution adopted by the Chicago convention of the Socialist Party reflect the sentiment of the organization on this now important question?

The paragraph referred to contains the circumstantial story. From it it appears that not the militia only, but the Courts also and in a peculiar way, are engaged in the work of dragooning men into the mines. The account of how strikers are arrested, fined $25 and then offered freedom if they went to work but two days in the mines, has the odor, not of canitalist perfidy, but of feudal brutality. These occurrences are a twentieth century rehabilitation of feudalism. They are reminders of where the modern prole tariat started from, and the dynamite explosion with which these feudal reminiscences come so nicely accompanied, tell the story of where the working class winds up in under class rule. Cap italist perfidy, no less homicidal than its feudal forerunner, succeeds upon feudal brutality.

There is a rumor afloat that Uncle Sam may take and "run the show," i. e., the St. Louis Fair. "Uncle Sam," i. e., the government, has loaned the corporation running the fair $4,600,000. To insure the promised monthly payments on this amount, the government is authorized to step in and take the receipts until the money is paid. And, according to the rumor, this is just what "Uncle Sam" contemplates doing. This rumor looks like one of two things. Either it is a big "ady." for the "show," or it is the preliminary to a skillful dodge on the timidating the strikers and failing in this following significant sentence, "neither part of the capitalists interested. They, crease, and not, increated themselves rioted; while miners were political nor other differences of opinion having reaped enormous profits in con-

the city of sleep, nocturnal and eternal.

The despatch from St. Petersburg, that the merchants of Moscow and other Russian cities, have secretly subscribed for the Japanese war loan, confirms once more the oft-confirmed truth that patriotism is a characteristic of capitalism as long as it is synonimous with the profit and pocketbook of the capitalist. When otherwise, capitalism follows the flag that pays.

The Brooklyn shoeworkers are now learning the truth of S. L. P. teaching that Tobinism is unionism in favor of shoe manufacturers. It will be an easy step now for them to learn that Gom persism is unionism in favor of all manufacturers.

It does a workingman good to see the way the strikers at Weil's shoe factory in Brooklyn refuse to join Tobin's first aid to shoe manufacturers. Their action in refusing to be imposed upon, even at the boss's wish, is encouraging! Markets, i. e., profits, are the only things influencing their thoughts on the outcome A perusal of the statement of the strikers at Weil's shoe factory, in conof the war. nection with the statements emanatig from Lynn, St. Louis and Chicago, de monstrate to a certainty the fact that donations from Wisconsin churches to Tobin's union is a union for the benefit missionary work in Cuba, is placing his of employers, and not employees. Destamp of approval upon "The Pearl of crease, and not, increase of wages is its the Antilles," as a place of profitable exploitation.

The high-handed lawlessness of the nilitia in Colorado continues unabated, yet no word of protest against it has been heard from Samuel Gompers, or the brood of so-called labor leaders, who acclaim him their directing genius. By withholding their condemnation of the outrageous acts now being committed gainst the organized workingmen of the Centennial State, Gompers and the gentry over whom he presides, are giving their tacit approval to them. It is time that the workingmen enrolled in the Gomper's organization awoke and deposed these "leaders," together with the false principle of the mutual identity of capital and labor, which makes such treacherous conduct possible. The time may come when the awakening will be a little too late.

B. J.-What danger?

U. S .- The danger of the existing of a capitalist system. More insidiously yet than the tapeworm undermines the constitution of an individual does the capitalist system undermine the health and, with it, the happiness of a nation. It renders the living of the working people, the masses, harder and harder; it gathers their substance into the hands of a small parasite class; and the day will surely arrive when it will knock them down for good and all, unless that day is prevented by the alarm signal given by Socialism.

B. J. looks contemplative.

U. S .- The only perverseness in this case is the conduct of the paid brood of politicians, pulpiteers and professors who seek to lull into security a nation that is now being sucked day by day by the tapeworm of capitalism which it ignorantly is carrying in its inside.

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES. To the Daily and Weekly People:-Here and there the capitalist press gives vent to the pent-up feelings of the individual capitalist, and, through him, of the capitalist class. Such expressions are always promptly recorded in our party organ by our national editor. Haverved this, I take the liberty to write of a conversation I had with the representative of a large paint factory, one who sells principally to large machine factories, and, therefore, is in a position to get acquainted with the true situation in the production of commodities in the machine line. I might add that this representative possesses the faculty of gaining the confidence of the managers of factories. This is what he said:

"I tell you, Mr. Goltz, we are at the threshold of uncertain times, and the capitalists or their directors have adopted the watchword, conservatism." He then went on to explain what he meant by conservatism: "The manufacturers have combined and agreed not to produce any surplus, that they may have control of the future. They expect material to go down, and in the meanwhile they will hang Bro. Labor on a nail to dry, that he may be easier handled."

Then he switched off from the third person and spoke in the second again, as follows:

"The unions are a lot of trouble to us, and we must control them, cost what it may. We must use what means are necessary to attain the end. Of course, we must avoid bloodshed, if possible. If it were not for the agitators the job would be easy, for the average union man is ignorant and easily handled; but it matters not, the agitators are corrupt and venal. It costs a little more, but we can handle them "

Here I interrupted, saying, "But, is it not a fact that this stagnated condition prevades the entire civilized world?"

"Yes," said he, in awe-stricken ac cents, "there is a terrible social unrest permeating every strata of society, but. my estimation, these conservative ds will lead the ship of society into quiet waters, and matters will be

"But," I again broke in, "can they be righted? There is a struggle of classes ose interests are diametrically opposed. The possessing class, which is a large minority, degrades and oppresses the non-possessing class, which is in a large majority. Does not history tell us that when such conditions continue any ingth of time, a change will be the ence?

ANOTHER BUBBLE PRICKED. To The Daily and Weekly People When the coal miners' strike in District ugurated, John Mitchell, and leaders of the U. M. W. of A. declared that they had an infallable method of bringing the coal operators to their knees. This consisted in sending the miners re-echo the fables told of condi tions in fields absolutely controlled by the union. Too many of the miners "have been there to see," and are not in a favorable frame of mind toward the men who put them through the mill, with a vengeance. I have talked to scores of the returned ones, and have heard from many others who are anxious to come back, and the tone of all is strikingly similar. "One or two days a week." "Can't make expenses," or when work was brisker, "Too many men," "Not enough cars," "Can't get work at all; too full." Thus it goes. What a horrible picture! I know that the men who told me of the conditions existing elsewhere, and those who write of them, are men as to whose ability and willingness to work there can be no question.

Thus another glittering bubble has been pricked, and once more has the trades-union policy of the S. L. P. been vindicated. The effort of the leaders of the U. M. W. of A. to evade responsibility for the present lamentable condition of affairs is as cowardly as it is futile. They say to those who propose a calling off of the strike: "Stop it as you started it," by which they would throw all responsibility onto the men's shoulders. True, on the face of things the rank and file called the strike, but beneath that is the fact that they were urged on by the leaders of the union, and those who led them into the slough seem to be unable to pull them out.

Florence, Col., June 5. ELECTION LAWS IN MINNESOTA

To the Daily and Weekly People:-Some "advanced ideas," 'so-called, have been established by the election laws in Minnesota. 1. No person can vote a straight party ticket by any single act. Each candidate must be voted for individually.

The theory is that this encourages the selection of good men. In a society where the social system established and the principles in practice were universally recognized to be correct, it would be true that good men in office were the only requirement for perfection. But, in a State divided into classes, the enforcement of the principles for the protection of each of whose interests is disastrous to the other class, such as the capitalist state is, and where the principles of each are championed by an organization deadly opposed to the other, the theory, as a reform, is a model of absurdity; as a piece of capitalist diplomacy it is fairly creditable.

2. With the filing of the nomination of each candidate for State office, a fee of $50 must be paid, and a smaller amount for each inferior office.

This law severely cripples a working class party, because every dollar paid as fees to a capitalist government is so much deducted from the amount it may spend for propaganda.

3. The use of the same word by two political parties in their respective names, is prohibited. While this principle may avoid con fusion, it is, nevertheless, premised upon the ignorance or disinterestedness of the voters.

In 1902 the Socialist Labor Party filed its certificate of nominations, and the signation off and place theirs on the ballot. Most of our men looked at the law and were hopeless, but Comrade Anderson took the previous decision of the Supreme Court to the clerk showed him the question as he saw it and also brought it before the City Attorney, and they decided that, in view of the previous decision of the court, we were entitled to the name. 'The clerk therefore put us back on the ballot. The next step was that the S. P. took the law they had obtained from the capitalist politicians before the Supreme Court on appeal. Our case was presented by the State

Executive Committee and the decision of course, was that the Supreme Court decision of 1902 gave the S. L. P. the exclusive right to the word "Socialist" as a party designation upon the ballot; that he candidates of the "Socialist" party for Lieut.-Governor, etc., were erroneously and unlawfully allowed to be designated upon the ballot as "Socialist" in that election; that each adoption of the word was an infringement upon the rights of the S. L. P.; and consequently the vote they polled in that election could not acquire them any part of another party's name that they may have lawfully appropriated.

Yet, regardless of the extent of their failure, the collusion of the State organization of Minnesota of the "So cialist" Party with capitalist politicians again brands their party as corrupt. Chas. H. Chase. Fraternally,

T. J. T. KANSAS CITY, MO .- As to "The Epistles at the Lambertians," the undertaking of publishing them in pamphlet form falls to the department of the Labor News Co., which will surely do so if wanted to.

As to how it comes that so small a percentage of those whom The People is sent to on trial fail to renew their subscription, the matter has been recently answered by a correspondent in these columns. He said it was a proof not of The People's worthlessness, but of the backwardness of those readers. Know you not the parable of the sower who went out to sow, and the bulk of whose seed either "fell by the way side and the fowls came and devoured them up"; or "fell upon stony places where they had not much earth and forthwith they sprang up because they had no deepness of earth, and when the sun was up, they withered away"; or "fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up and choked them"? It is so with "Th People." And it is so in nature. Not one in the myriad of seeds scattered about takes. There is another way of getting at the answer. Look at the socalled Socialist, alias Social Democratic papers. They were all started against The People on the theory that The People was substantially wrong. They were to do it right and show it by their circulation. Now, then, not all of them put together have the circulation, to say nothing of the standing of The People. The only paper that would seem to be the exception, rather proves the case. It is the "Appeal to Reason." Its circulation is much larger. Will any intelligent man, even if he is not a Socialist, or any Socialist, even if his intelligence is not developed along the journalistic line, want The People to adopt "Appeal to Reason" methods? Surely not! No doubt The People can be improved. But the real improvement depends upon a larger personnel and funds. J. M. F., DUQUOIN, ILL.; N. D., NEW YORK; M. I., L. D., T. O. That was the theory, but how much different is the fact! Mitchell was asked how he would reconcile the position of sending men to other fields, from whence the coal they mined would be shipped into Colorado, with that of calling a rike here, and, of course, he was un able to answer the question satisfactorily. In a word, the plan of sending men to other fields has been a ghastly failure. They listened to the glowing stories told by the organizers sent out by John Mitchell, and, assured by that gentleman that this condition while or strike would be better than when at work, they voted for the strike, and they are sick of their bargain now. Some, utterly disgusted with the lies of those in whom they had trusted, have gone back to the mines, and all but a very few would hail with satisfaction a setent that would allow them to return to work.

Then the "Socialist" party sought to file its nominations under its own name, "Socialist" party attempted to steal our referred to, the court decided that the Socialist Labor Party had the exclusive right to the use of the word "Socialist" as a party designation.

Owing to the law as to the $50 fee. the S. L. P. filed the nomination of candidates for governor only.

Thereupon the "Socialist" party filed nominations of candidates for the offices of Lieut.-Governor, Secretary of State, and State Auditor, using "Socialist" as their party designation.

And thus the campaign of 1902 was carried on and the votes counted, with the result that the "Socialist" party polled more while the S. L. P. polled less than one per cent of the total vote.

A session of the Legislature of Minnesota was held in 1903. Still bent upon preventing the S. L. P. from using the party designation "Socialist Labor" the "Socialist" party brought enough influence to bear upon Republican Senator Smith to induce him to introduce "By Request" a bill providing that the party which at the next preceding election polled one per cent of the total vote should have the exclusive right to the words adopted for its party designation. It brought such influence to bear that the bill was passed in the Senate with the support of 32 Republicans and 3 Democrats, and

It is coming, it is coming; at our forges, in our mills, And wherever hardy workmen bend to toil with hearty wills; In the shop, the yard, the quarry; on the dock or in the mine The sounding of its' coming warms their bosoms like new wine. For it spreads the sound of Freedom where the starry banner waves O'er the land that freed its negroes while it made its white men slaves, And our people as they hear it, smile with faces thin and wan, For it seals the son of labor as an Equal and a Man.

It is coming, it is coming; we can hear it in the street. And the grimy throngs are gathering where fall its echoes sweet; 'Tis the gladsome call of Freedom, the peerless bugle note Of the later Revolution that thrills them to the throat. It is sounding, sounding, sounding, louder, stronger, deeper far Than the blatant brassy trumpets that inflame the tribes to war; Our hearts responsive greet it, our lips responsive cry; "Now, labor's sons, the hour has come to strike like men or die!"

See the capitalists are paling! see the tyrants tottering now, As they mark our seried columns rising o'er the mountain's brow Whence we view the land so fertile, which by birthright should be ours: With its myriad cornfields waving to the sunlight and the showers. Forward; forward! on the foeman! Pause you not to dream nor rest-We surround them like a river when the flood is at its best. No mercy have they meted us; no mercy may we give! / They must swim or sink and perish, that we and ours may live.

In the hot but bloodless battle waged from dawn till set of sun, What triumphs may be compassed, what victories may be won! With the Ballots for our bullets we can shower them thick as hail; Send volley after volley on our foes until they fail. We can storm the Legislatures, clear the courts and Congress, too; Rout the lobby and the bribers-that's what workingmen can do. If we stand a solid army with our Ballots in our hand, We can march and fight and conquer, till the worker rules the land.

A CALL The date of the National Convention of the Socialist Labor Party has been set for Saturday, July 2, and the gavel will fall at 9 a. m. of that day, calling the convention to order.

For the place of the convention Grand Central Palace has been chosen, the same locality where the conventions of 1896 and 1900 have been held.

Delegates coming from points west of St. Louis can save in cost of transportation by going via St. Louis, as fares from that point to New York and back again are apt to be lower because of extra rates introduced in view of the exposition.) Members of Section New York who are in a position to lodge one or more delegates and are willing to do so, will please send their names and addresses to the undersigned.

Our comrade, Schmidt, here said that although the Socialist Labor Party members had not yet received a copy of the resolution under discussion, yet he was convinced that it would be just as explicit as the "Kautsky" resolution, seeing that both were framed by "intellectuals" Dobbs here pulled out his watch and Gompers like, said he had to leave to catch the next train to New York. Robinson (S. P. pure and simpler) tried to defend Dobbs after his rapid exit, claiming that he meant the entire trade union movement including the Socialist Trade and Labor Alliance, and the American Labor Union, when he spoke of the class struggle. The Socialist Labor Party men, however, pointed out that only the A. F. of L. had been under discussion, Dobbs especially ignoring the American Labor Union and Socialist Trade and Labor Alliance altogether.

It was a good meeting for the S. L. P. and again demonstrated the superiority of our organization, for while our men 60 were a unit in all questions discussed, 2.50 the "Socialist" party were wrangling among themselves, no two men agreeing on anything. More anon.
